Gender Camouflage Francine J.

D'Amico, Laurie L. Weinstein, 1999-03 Controversy about women in the military continues yet women's relations with the military go far beyond whether they serve in the ranks Gender Camouflage brings together a diverse array of authors to explore the controversy surrounding women's military service to examine the invisibility of civilian women who support the institution and to expose the military's efforts to camouflage their support and contributions Contributors first consider nurses servicewomen military academy students female veterans and lesbians The focus then shifts to military wives women employed by the DoD and female civilian military instructors whose work is less visible but no less essential to the institution The book also examines the experiences of women outside of the military such as comfort women near U.S. bases women engaged in peacework and women workers affected by military spending in the federal budget Analytic chapters are juxtaposed with first person narratives by women who have actually been there including a member of the first gender integrated class at West Point the first female civilian instructors at the U.S. Naval Academy and an African American Air Force Nurse Corps veteran Contributors include Connie Reeves Georgia Clark Sadler Gwyn Kirk and Joan Furey

M.K.

Gandhi, Media, Politics and Society Chandrika Kaul, 2020-12-10 This Palgrave Pivot showcases new research on M.K. Gandhi or Mahatma Gandhi and the press telegraphs broadcasting and popular culture Despite Gandhi being the subject of numerous books over the past century there are few that put media centre stage This edited collection explores both Gandhi's own approach to the press but also how different advocacy groups and the media within India and overseas engaged with Gandhi his ideology and methodology to further their own causes The timeframe of the book extends from the late nineteenth century up to the present and the case studies draw inspiration from a number of disciplinary approaches
