Paul Green Playwright Of The Real South:

Paul Green, Playwright of the Real South John Herbert Roper, 2003 Drawing on his complete access to Green's papers and on interviews with surviving family members John Herbert Roper covers all the important aspects of Green's life and career By word and deed Paul Green spread the faith of liberalism across the New South which he insistently called the Real South Long after literary fashion had left him behind he wrote daily and remained at the forefront of causes concerning race relations militarism women's and workers rights and capital punishment BOOK JACKET A Southern Life Laurence G. Avery, 2017-02-15 This exceptional collection provides new insight into the life of North Carolina writer and activist Paul Green 1894-1981 the first southern playwright to attract international acclaim for his socially conscious dramas Green who taught philosophy and drama at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill won the Pulitzer Prize in 1927 for In Abraham's Bosom an authentic drama of black life Among his other Broadway productions were Native Son and Johnny Johnson From the 1930s onward Green created fifteen outdoor historical productions known as symphonic dramas thereby inventing a distinctly American theater form These include The Lost Colony 1937 which is still performed today Laurence Avery has selected and annotated the 329 letters in this volume from over 9 000 existing pieces The letters to such figures as Sherwood Anderson Langston Hughes Richard Wright John Dos Passos Zora Neale Hurston and others interested in the arts and human rights in the South are alive with the intellect buoyant spirit and sensitivity to the human condition that made Green such an inspiring force in the emerging New South Avery's introduction and full bibliography of the playwright's works and first productions give readers a context for understanding Green's life and times The Federal Theatre Project in the American South Cecelia Moore, 2017-09-26 The Federal Theatre Project in the American South introduces the people and projects that shaped the regional identity of the Federal Theatre Project When college theatre director Hallie Flanagan became head of this New Deal era jobs program in 1935 she envisioned a national theatre comprised of a network of theatres across the country A regional approach was more than organizational it was a conceptual model for a national art Flanagan was part of the little theatre movement that had already developed a new American drama drawn from the distinctive heritage of each region and which they believed would collectively illustrate a national identity The Federal Theatre plan relied on a successful regional model the folk drama program at the University of North Carolina led by Frederick Koch and Paul Green Through a unique partnership of public university private philanthropy and community participation Koch had developed a successful playwriting program and extension service that built community theatres throughout the state North Carolina along with the rest of the Southern region seemed an unpromising place for government theatre Racial segregation and conservative politics limited the Federal Theatre's ability to experiment with new ideas in the region Yet in North Carolina the Project thrived Amateur drama units became vibrant community theatres where whites and African Americans worked together Project personnel launched The Lost Colony one of the first so called outdoor historical dramas that would become its own movement The Federal Theatre sent unemployed dramatists including future novelist Betty Smith to the university to work with Koch and Green They joined other playwrights including African American writer Zora Neale Hurston who came to North Carolina because of their own interest in folk drama Their experience told in this book is a backdrop for each successive generation s debates over government cultural expression art and identity in the American nation A Gambler's Instinct Milly S. Barranger,2010-07-01 Broadway producer Cheryl Crawford 1902 1986 declared in her 1977 autobiography The theatre has been my life Crawford was notoriously circumspect about her private life and only now with Milly S Barranger s insightful biography is her full story revealed A major Broadway producer in an era when women producers were exceedingly rare Crawford found unprecedented success with the plays of Tennessee Williams including The Rose Tattoo and Sweet Bird of Youth but her enduring legend is as a musical producer having brought Kurt Weill s One Touch of Venus Lerner and Loewe s Brigadoon and Paint Your Wagon to the stage Her commercial success though was balanced with the founding of studios that would enable actors to explore their art outside the strictures of commercial theater She cofounded the Group Theatre with Harold Clurman and Lee Strasberg the American Repertory Theatre with Margaret Webster and Eva Le Gallienne and the Actors Studio with Elia Kazan and Robert Lewis but her idealism was constantly frustrated by unfulfilled artistic promises from her male counterparts and by the chronic shortage of funding for the nonprofit enterprises As Barranger traces Crawford s career as an independent producer she tells the parallel story of American theater in the mid twentieth century making A Gambler s Instinct both an enjoyable and informative biography of a remarkable woman and an important addition to the literature of the modern theater Lost Attractions of Hampton

World War I and Southern Modernism David A. Davis, 2017-11-27 Winner of the 2018 Eudora Welty Prize When the United States entered World War I parts of the country had developed industries urban cultures and democratic political systems but the South lagged behind remaining an impoverished agriculture region Despite New South boosterism the culture of the early twentieth century South was comparatively artistically arid Yet southern writers dominated the literary marketplace by the 1920s and 1930s World War I brought southerners into contact with modernity before the South fully modernized This shortfall created an inherent tension between the region's existing agricultural social structure and the processes of modernization leading to distal modernism a form of writing that combines elements of modernism to depict non modern social structures Critics have struggled to formulate explanations for the eruption of modern southern literature sometimes called the Southern Renaissance Pinpointing World War I as the catalyst David A Davis argues southern modernism was not a self generating outburst of writing but a response to the disruptions modernity generated in the region In World War I and Southern Modernism Davis examines dozens of works of literature by writers including William Faulkner Ellen Glasgow and Claude McKay that depict the South during the war Topics explored in the book include contact between the North and the South southerners who served in combat and the developing southern economy Davis also provides a new lens for this argument taking a closer look at African Americans in the military and changing gender roles
