Nollet,Amadeo R. Fernandez-Alba,2017-10-10 In the last decades the public concern on the pesticide residues content in foods have been steadily rising The global development of food trade implies that aliments from everywhere in the world can reach the consumer s table Therefore the identification of agricultural practices that employ different pesticides combinations and application rates to protect produce must be characterized as they left residues that could be noxious to human health. However, the possible number of pesticides and its metabolites of toxicological relevance to be found in a specific commodity is almost 1500 and the time needed to analyze them one by one makes this analytical strategy a unrealistic task. To overcome this problem, the concept of Multi Residue Methods (MRM) for the analysis of pesticide traces have been developed. The advent of new and highly sensitive instrumentation based in hyphenated chromatographic systems to coupled mass analyzers (GC-MS/MS or LC-MS/MS) permitted simultaneously the identification and the determination of up to hundreds of pesticide residues in a single chromatographic run. Multiresidue Methods for the Analysis of Pesticide Residues in Food presents the analytical procedures developed in the literature as well as those currently employed in the most advanced laboratories that perform routinely Pesticide Residue Analysis in foods. In addition to these points, the regulations, guidelines and recommendations from the most important regulatory agencies of the world on the topic will be commented and contrasted.

Pesticide Residues in Food 2007 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2007-01-01. The annual Joint Meeting of the FAO Panel of Experts on Pesticide Residues in Food and the Environment and the WHO Core Assessment Group on Pesticide Residues was held in Geneva, Switzerland from 18 to 27 September 2007. The Meeting was held in pursuance of recommendations made by previous meetings and accepted by the governing bodies of FAO and WHO that studies should be undertaken jointly by experts to evaluate possible hazards to humans arising from the occurrence of pesticide residues in foods. This report contains information on ADIs, ARfDs, maximum residue levels and general principles for the evaluation of pesticides. The recommendations of the Joint Meeting, including further research and information, are proposed for use by Member governments of the respective agencies and other interested parties.

Pesticide residues in food 2019 - Report 2019 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, World Health Organization, 2020-01-09. 2019 Joint Meeting of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations FAO Panel of experts on Pesticide Residues in Food and the Environment and the World Health Organization WHO Core assessment Group on Pesticide Residues JMPR was held in Geneva, Switzerland from 17 to 26 September 2019. The FAO Panel Members met in preparatory sessions from 12 to 16 September. The Meeting evaluated 30 pesticides, including eight new compounds and three compounds that were re-evaluated for toxicity or residues or both within the periodic review programme of the Codex Committee on Pesticide Residues (CCPR). The Meeting established ADIs and ARfDs, estimated maximum residue levels and recommended them for use by CCPR and estimated supervised trials median residue (STMR) and highest residue (HR) levels as a basis for estimating dietary exposures. The Meeting also estimated the dietary exposures both acute and long term to the pesticides reviewed and on this basis performed a dietary risk assessment in relation to the relevant ADI and where necessary the ARfD. Cases in which ADIs or ARfDs may be exceeded if they occur are clearly indicated in order to facilitate the decision making process by CCPR.
