AINSLIE,2018 Philosophy of the Practical Economic and Ethic Douglas Ainslie,2017-10-28 Excerpt from Philosophy of the Practical Economic and Ethic Translated the Italian of Benedetto Croce Practical will I think find that none of Bergson's explanations burdened as he says with geometry and as we may say with matter from the obsession of which he never seems to shake himself altogether free are comparable in depth or lucidity with the present treatise The spirit is described by Bergson as memory and matter as a succession of images How does the one communicate with the other The formula of the self creative life process seems hardly sufficient to explain this for if with Bergson we conceive of life as a torrent there must be some reason why it should flow rather in one channel than in another But life is supposed to create and to absorb matter in its progress and here we seem to have entered a vicious circle for the intuition presupposes it does not create its object As regards the will too the Bergsonian theory of the Ego as rarely sometimes never once in life fully manifesting itself and our minor actions as under the control of matter seems to lead to a deterministic conception and to be at variance with the thesis of the self creation of life About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Philosophy of the Practical Benedetto Croce,Douglas Ainslie,1913 The Ontological Foundation of Ethics, Politics, and Law Francesco Belfiore,2013-03-25 The revised edition of The Ontological Foundation of Ethics Politics and Law adds new concepts and discusses the views of additional thinkers The author refers to his basic ontological conception of the human mind or spirit as an evolving conscious triadic entity composed of intellect sensitivity and power each exerting a bidirectional selfish and moral activity Through this approach the notions of good morality society and law are derived from the structure and functioning of the mind It follows that the solutions presented are the results of a discovery and not the consequence of a choice Otherwise stated ethics politics and law are given an ontological foundation For each topic considered Belfiore shows how his thought can reinterpret the views of other philosophers This new edition enriched in concepts and quotations appears as an innovative and highly stimulating contribution to the philosophical branches of ethics politics and law and will be of interest to both graduate students and philosophy scholars
