man was the long adventurous story of individuals and groups exerting personal will power and inborn characteristics to achieve both biological and spiritual success. It is an idea that still echoes today. Study of Osborn's thinking however has been obscured by the perception that racism influenced his theories. Brian Regal paints a different and more textured picture in this book. He shows that Osborn's views on race like his political ideas were motivated by his science itself grounded in religious doctrine. His belief in the Central Asian origins of man, his role as an activist for eugenic reform and immigration controls, his support for Nordicism, his place in the New versus Old biology debate, his role in the Christian Fundamentalist controversy, the Scopes Monkey trial and finally his construction of the Dawn Man hypothesis all stemmed from his desire to support his human evolution theory and point the way to salvation. This biography charts Osborn's intellectual development from its roots in the eclectic Christianity of his mother through his student days with Arnold Guyot, James McCosh and T H Huxley to his mature work at the American Museum. It examines his trials and tribulations, friendships and conflicts and the world in which he lived, all contributed to the construction of his theory. It is the dramatic story of a man holding onto ideas that for him represented the very meaning of life itself.

Recipes for Immortality Richard S Weiss, 2009-02-19. They do this, he shows, by offering affiliation to a timeless and pure community, the fantasy of a Tamil utopia and even the prospect of immortality.

Witchcraft, Magic & Alchemy Grilott de Givry, 1971-01-01. Prints, drawings, documents and text illuminate the development of the occult sciences to the nineteenth century.

Medieval Number Symbolism Vincent Foster Hopper, 2000-01-01. In this classic study a noted scholar reveals how deeply rooted in medieval thought was the consciousness of numbers, not as mathematical tools nor yet as the counters in a game, but as fundamental realities alive with memories and eloquent with meaning.
