International Handbook of English Language Teaching Jim Cummins, Chris Davison, 2007-12-31 This two volume handbook provides a comprehensive examination of policy practice research and theory related to English language teaching ELT in international contexts Nearly 70 chapters highlight the research foundation for the best practices frameworks for policy decisions and areas of consensus and controversy in the teaching and development of English as a second and or additional language for kindergarten through to adult speakers of languages other than English In doing so it problematizes traditional dichotomies and challenges the very terms that provide the traditional foundations of the field A wide range of terms has been used to refer to the key players involved in the teaching and learning of the English language and to the enterprise of English language teaching as a whole At various times and in different contexts the following labels have been used in countries where English is the dominant language to describe programs learners or teachers of English English as a second language ESL English as an additional language EAL limited English proficient LEP and English language learners ELL In contexts where English is not the dominant language the following terms have been used English as a foreign language EFL English as an international language EIL and English as a lingua franca ELF

Deciphering Culture Jane Crisp, Kay Ferres, Gillian Swanson, 2000 This key title explores the issues of representation subjectivity and sexuality focusing in particular on the ways that representations are used to form identities in different spheres of life

Silence in Second Language Learning Colette A. Granger, 2004-01-01 This text examines the under researched and often troubling phenomenon of silence in second language learning through a triangulation of SLA research memoirs and language learner diaries and psychoanalytic concepts of anxiety ambivalence conflict and loss It moves beyond the view of silence as the mere absence of speech inviting the reader to consider it as both a psychical event and a linguistic moment in the continuous process of identity formation

Life in a New Language Ingrid Piller, Donna Butorac, Emily Farrell, Loy Lising, Shiva Motaghi-Tabari, Vera Williams Tetteh, 2024 International migration and the social diversity it creates constitute one of the key global challenges of the early 21st century Language and communication barriers can compromise equitable access in diverse societies and where socioeconomic disadvantage becomes entrenched it poses risks to security productivity and quality of life Clearly this is an important issue and migrants and their language choices are heavily politicized though political and media debates often rely on anecdotal conjecture or are ill informed Life in a New Language examines the language learning and settlement experiences of 130 migrants to Australia from 34 different countries in Africa Asia Europe and Latin America over a period of 20 years Reusing data shared from six separate sociolinguistic ethnographies the book illuminates participants lived experience of learning and communicating in a new language finding work and doing family Additionally participants experiences with racism and identity making in a new context are explored The research uncovers significant hardship but also migrants courage and resilience The book has implications for language service provision migration policy open science and social justice movements

Translation - Theory and Practice Daniel Weissbort, Astradur Eysteinnsson, 2006-08-04 Translation Theory and Practice A Historical Reader responds to the need for a collection of primary texts on translation in the English tradition from the earliest times to the present day Based on an exhaustive survey of the wealth of available materials the Reader demonstrates throughout the link between theory and practice with excerpts not only of significant theoretical writings but of actual translations as well as excerpts on translation from letters interviews autobiographies and fiction The collection is intended as a teaching tool but also as an encyclopaedia for the use of translators and writers on translation It presents the full panoply of approaches to translation without necessarily judging between them but showing clearly what is to be gained or lost in each case Translations of key texts such as the Bible and the Homeric epic are traced through the ages with the same passages excerpted making it possible for readers to construct their own map of the evolution of translation and to evaluate in their historical contexts the variety of approaches The passages in question are also accompanied by ad verbum versions to facilitate comparison The bibliographies are likewise comprehensive The editors have drawn on the expertise of leading scholars in the field including the late James S Holmes Louis Kelly Jonathan Wilcox Jane Stevenson David Hopkins and many others In addition significant non English texts such as Martin Luther's Circular Letter on Translation which may be said to have inaugurated the Reformation are included helping to set the English tradition in a wider context Related items such as the introductions to their work by Tudor and Jacobean translators or the work of women translators from the sixteenth to eighteenth centuries have been brought together in collages marking particularly important moments or developments in the history of translation This comprehensive reader provides an invaluable and illuminating resources for scholars and students of translation and English literature as well as poets cultural historians and professional translators

Writing Outside the Nation Azade Seyhan, 2012-01-06 Some of the most innovative writers of contemporary literature are writing in diaspora in their second or third language Here Azade Seyhan describes the domain of transnational poetics they inhabit She begins by examining the works of selected bilingual and bicultural writers of the United States including Oscar Hijuelos Maxine Hong Kingston and Eva Hoffman and Germany Libuse Mon kov Rafik Schami and E S zdamar among others developing a new framework for understanding the relationship between displacement memory and language Considering themes of loss witness translation identity and exclusion Seyhan interprets diasporic literatures as condensed archives of cultural and linguistic memory that give integrity and coherence to pasts ruptured by migration The book next compares works by contemporary Chicana and Turkish German women writers as innovative and sovereign literary voices within the larger national cultures of the United States and Germany Seyhan identifies in American multiculturalism critical clues for analyzing new cultural formations in Europe and maintains that Germany's cultural transformation suggests new ways of reading the American literary mosaic Her approach however extends well beyond these two literatures She creates a critical map of a third geography where a transnational multilingual literary movement is gathering momentum Writing Outside the Nation both contributes to and departs from postcolonial studies in that it focuses specifically on transnational writers working outside of their mother tongue and compares American and German diasporic literatures within a sophisticated conceptual framework It illustrates how literature's symbolic economy can reclaim lost personal and national histories as well as connect disparate and distant cultural traditions

Totalitarian (In)Experience in Literary Works and Their Translations Bartłomiej Biegajło, 2018-10-19 This book explores the different images of totalitarianism in 20th century literature and the capacity of the theory of Natural Semantic Metalanguage to be adopted in a comparative literary study in the analysis of four totalitarian literary works written in Polish and English together with their translation into English and Polish respectively The key question addressed here is the totalitarian experience which it is assumed conditions the literary reflections of the regime provided by Aldous Huxley George Orwell Czesław Miłosz and Tadeusz Konwicki Brief biographical details are provided with regards to each of the writers and their private experiences are linked with the works they published Additionally key concepts are named for each of the works subject to discussion and it is their cross linguistic analysis carried out within the NSM framework that forms the core of the book

Coming Out Jewish Jon Stratton, 2003-09-02 Coming Out Jewish explores the idea of Jewishness as a problem of racial ethnic identity in the modern and post modern world It is a path breaking book that firmly places the Jewish experience on the Cultural Studies agenda

Educating New Americans Donald F. Hones, Shou C. Cha, Cher Shou Cha, 1999-01-01 Educating New Americans examines what it means to be an American through the history of a refugee from Laos Shou Cha is a community liaison for an elementary school an evangelical preacher a community leader a husband and a father His lifetime of learning presented mainly in his own voice is framed by various historical and sociological contexts that have shaped his life the lives of other Hmong refugees and the lives of other Americans old and new These contexts include the history of immigrant education policies in the United States as seen through the lives of immigrant children the historical and sociological impact of warfare as well as missionary work in the lives of the Hmong people and the sociology of generational conflict especially as it is felt among immigrant groups Finally this book suggests that immigrant parents such as Shou Cha can contribute to the process of teaching peace to children and making peace between diverse groups in America the land of e pluribus unum

Yesterday's Self Andreea Deciu Ritivoi, 2002-08-15 The state of being called nostalgia has a history fraught with ambiguity and poetical connotation In the late 17th century nostalgic reminiscences were thought to be the symptoms of a deadly disease that shook one's mind and body Today we view nostalgia not as a medical condition but as a bittersweet recollection of one's past joys and sorrows the memories and treasures of an earlier self And yet there remains a category of individuals for whom such recollection can be seriously problematic immigrants In Yesterday's Self Andreea Ritivoi explores the philosophical and historical dimensions of nostalgia in the lives of immigrants forging a connection between current trends in the philosophy of identity and intercultural studies The book considers such questions as Does attachment to one's native culture preclude or merely influence adaptation into a new culture Do we fashion our identity in interdependence with others or do we shape it in a non contingent frame Is it possible to assimilate in an unfamiliar world without risking self alienation Ritivoi's response nostalgia is both the poison and the cure in such situations Documenting the tribulations of sojourners and immigrants Yesterday's Self illustrates how and why the cultural adjustment of immigrants can only happen when personal identity is understood as a quest for continuity in one's life story even alongside the most radical cultural rupture Ultimately reflection on the nostalgic experience reveals insights into the nature of the self and its dynamic engagement with otherness and difference

Holocaust Literature: Agosin to Lentin S. Lillian Kremer, 2003 Review This encyclopedia offers an authoritative and comprehensive survey of the important writers and works that form the literature about the Holocaust and its consequences The collection is alphabetically arranged and consists of high quality biocritical essays on 309 writers who are first second and third generation survivors or important thinkers and spokespersons on the Holocaust An essential literary reference work this publication is an important addition to the genre and a solid value for public and academic libraries The Top 20 Reference Titles of the Year American Libraries May 2004 Fulbright Labyrinths Virginia Hall-Milhouse,2011-11 In this provocative work Virginia Milhouse demonstrates how autoethnography combines creative and analytical practices to help bring to consciousness some complex social and political agendas hidden in narratorial writings It demonstrates how an arts based qualitative research method narrative inquiry can be fused with a scientific based quantitative method DMIS IDI and compliment support and or correct each other It also demonstrates how writing as a method of inquiry can be a viable way for researchers to learn about themselves and their research as well as features standards for evaluating creatively and analytically constructed text Further the author s examination of the aesthetics of inner readiness and in betweenness will be very helpful to people doing this kind of self reflexive fieldwork The reader will also appreciate this author s recognition of the importance of combining qualitative and quantitative methodologies something not many writers can do with great success Also this book will be a real contribution to sojourners and others traveling or living abroad The work is very smart and is beautifully and clearly written The labyrinth quote at the beginning of her work is very fitting and certainly promises to illustrate those words The Routledge Handbook of Literary Translingualism Steven G. Kellman,Natasha Lvovich,2021-09-30 Though it might seem as modern as Samuel Beckett Joseph Conrad and Vladimir Nabokov translingual writing texts by authors using more than one language or a language other than their primary one has an ancient pedigree The Routledge Handbook of Literary Translingualism aims to provide a comprehensive overview of translingual literature in a wide variety of languages throughout the world from ancient to modern times The volume includes sections on translingual genres with chapters on memoir poetry fiction drama and cinema ancient medieval and modern translingualism global perspectives chapters overseeing European African and Asian languages Combining chapters from lead specialists in the field this volume will be of interest to scholars graduate students and advanced undergraduates interested in investigating the vibrant area of translingual literature Attracting scholars from a variety of disciplines this interdisciplinary and pioneering Handbook will advance current scholarship of the permutations of languages among authors throughout time Life as a Bilingual François Grosjean,2021-06-03 A book on those who know and use two or more languages Who are they How do they do it Wanderwords Maria Lauret,2014-09-25 How do immigrant writers negotiate their representation of a multilingual world for a monolingual audience Does their English betray the presence of another language is that other language erased or does it appear here and there on special occasions for special reasons Do words and meanings wander from one language and one self to another Do the psychic and cultural worlds of different languages split apart or merge What is the aesthetic effect of such wandering splitting or merging Usually described as code switches by linguists fragments of other languages have wandered into American literature in English from the beginning Wanderwords asks what in the memoirs poems essays and fiction of a variety of twentieth and twenty first century writers the function and meaning of such language migration might be It shows what there is to be gained if we learn to read migrant writing with an eye and an ear for linguistic difference and it concludes that freighted with the other cultural meanings wrapped up in their different looks and sounds wanderwords can perform wonders of poetic signification as well as cultural critique Bringing together literary and cultural theory with linguistics as well as the theory and history of migration and with psychoanalysis for its understanding of the multilingual unconscious Wanderwords engages closely with the work of well known and unheard of writers such as Mary Antin and Eva Hoffman Richard Rodriguez and Junot Diaz Theresa Hak Kyung Cha and Bharati Mukherjee Edward Bok and Truus van Bruinessen Susana Ch vez Silverman and Gustavo Perez Firmat Pietro DiDonato and Don DeLillo In so doing a poetics of multilingualism unfolds that stretches well beyond translation into the lingual contact zone of English with other languages that is American literature belatedly re connecting with the world

How We Found America Magdalena J. Zaborowska, 1995 Until now the East European canon in American literature has been dominated by male dissident figures such as Brodsky Milosz and Kundera Magdalena Zaborowska challenges that canon by demonstrating the contributions of lesser known immigrant and expatriate writers
