Lost in Indian Country William Post,2017-07-17 This story is about a soldier Alvin Scott who is ambushed by Indians while on patrol in the 1860s The patrol is killed but Alvin is just wounded badly and is unconscious An Indian woman who had been kicked out of her tribe watches the ambush from a rocky crag high above the ambush She comes to the scene after the Indians leave to scavenge anything she can use She finds Alvin is alive and is lying on his rifle She knows Alvin will be essential to her surviving if she can save him She takes him back to a cave where she is living tends to his wounds and saves his life They survive together and gratitude slowly turns to like and like to love This story is an adventure with several tragedies and love stories Lost in Shadow Jocelyn Kelley,2007 When a ghost reveals that he was murdered by Lord

Bannatyne and demands that she travel to London to protect his beloved Jade Nethercott must decide whether to heed the ghost s warning or follow her heart when Lord Bannatyne comes to her rescue Original Lost Books and Printing in London, 1557-1640 Alexandra Hill,2018-04-17 Lost Books and Printing in London 1557 1640 is the first attempt to analyse systematically the entries relating to lost books in the Stationers Company Register Books played a fundamental role in early modern society and are key sources for our comprehension of the political religious economic and cultural aspects of the age Over time the loss of these books has presented a significant barrier to our understanding of the past The monopoly of the Stationers Company centralised book production in England to London with printing jobs carried out by members documented in a Register Using modern digital approaches to bibliography Alexandra Hill uses the Register to reclaim knowledge of the English book trade and print culture that would otherwise be lost Lost in Transition Yiu-Wai Chu,2013-05-13 In this timely and insightful book Yiu Wai Chu takes stock of Hong Kong s culture since its transition to a

Special Administrative Region of the People's Republic of China in 1997 Hong Kong had long functioned as the capitalist and democratic stepping stone to China for much of the world Its highly original popular culture was well known in Chinese communities and its renowned film industry enjoyed worldwide audiences and far reaching artistic influence Chu argues that Hong Kong's culture was lost in transition when it tried to affirm its international visibility and retain the status quo after 1997 In an era when China welcomed outsiders and became the world's most rapidly developing economy Hong Kong's special position as a capitalist outpost was no longer a privilege By drawing on various cultural discourses such as film popular music and politics of everyday life Chu provides an informative and critical analysis of the impact of China's ascendancy on the notion of One Country Two Cultures Hong Kong can no longer function as a bridge between China and the world writes Chu and must now define itself from global local and national perspectives

Lost in Cyurbia James Harkin, 2010-09-07 The early twentieth century saw the slow but steady exodus of the population from inner cities to the suburbs We are currently witnessing a similar transformation as our new century establishes itself but in an entirely different realm As new technologies proliferate personal computers the communication gadgetry of mobile devices and access to the internet our culture is participating in a mass electronic migration James Harkin christens this destination to Cyurbia the ether of online where we spend so much of our lives Once upon a time there were no text messaging no e-mail and no social networking sites like Facebook Bebo Twitter and MySpace The introduction of these new forums for communication has radically transformed the way that we live and we can only guess what will come next Innovative and extremely timely Lost in Cyurbia describes the architecture of our digital life how it has developed over the past seventy years and how it will evolve in the future The narrative recounts how the theories of Norbert Wiener the inventor of cybernetics and Marshall McLuhan inspired the counterculture radicals in the sixties and seventies and traces how their pioneering idealistic and theoretical work laid the groundwork for a system whose central idea is bringing about direct communication between peers outside the reach of authority Harkin explores what it means to be in the loop and our obsession with instant access to information and how it is shared over networks and considers what has been lost and what has been gained Are we more connected than ever before or more isolated Have our thinking processes been forever altered Is the democratic nature of the net slowly being eroded by corporate interests Or as once hoped will the net enable the awakening of a new kind of global consciousness
