Nursing Older People Sally J. Redfern, Fiona Ross, 2006. Nursing Older People focuses on evidence-based care and the effectiveness of interventions that support independence. It takes a person-centred approach to understanding and meeting the needs and problems that nurses and other practitioners deal with every day, such as the need to reduce the difficulties faced by problems of pain, immobility, breathlessness, eating and drinking, and eliminating, for example. The accessible evidence-based information in this book will help to give practitioners the confidence to challenge the status quo and look for ways to improve the quality of care.

Analyzing the relationship between dietary patterns, health outcomes and individual food choices Francesco Visioli, Francesco Sofi, 2023-01-30      Work-Lifestyle Choices in the 21st Century Catherine Hakim, 2000-11-02. In this book, Hakim presents a new multi-disciplinary theory for explaining and predicting current and future patterns of women's choice between employment and family work. Preference theory is the first theory developed specifically to explain women's behaviour and choices. As such, it constitutes a major break from male-centred theorizing to date in sociology and economics. Preference theory is grounded on the substantial body of new research on women's work and fertility that has flourished within feminist scholarship. It identifies five major historical changes that collectively are producing a qualitatively new scenario for women in prosperous societies in the 21st century. Throughout the analysis, the USA and Britain illustrate what the new scenario means for women, how it alters their preferences and work/lifestyle choices. Hakim also reviews research evidence on contemporary developments across Europe, Canada, Australia, Japan and the far East to develop a new theory that is genuine international in perspective.
