Coping with Chronic Illness Silvia Bonino,2020-12-20 This valuable book combines psychological theories of health with the lived experience of coping with chronic health conditions focusing on the ill person as an actor of their own development. It draws on perspectives from developmental and health psychology alongside the author's personal experience of chronic illness. Bonino considers all aspects of living with illness from issues that impact on everyday functioning such as pain and fatigue to the rebuilding of identity through meaningful new goals and effective actions and the development of therapeutic relationships. Psychological theories are interweaved with descriptions of lived encounters to center the experience of the person living alongside illness and provide insightful points of reference that everyone could try to use when facing the challenges of chronic disease in the course of their daily lives. Coping with Chronic Illness is important reading for those living with chronic health conditions as well as for healthcare professionals looking to gain awareness of the psychological issues caused by living with illness. It is also of interest for postgraduate students of health psychology.

The Art of Persuasion

Luciano Chelos (ed), Lucio. Sponza (ed), 2001 Writing for art is a concise introduction to the subject of ekphrasis and the first study to offer a useful general survey of the larger philosophical and theoretical questions arising from the encounter of literary texts and artworks. Stephen Cheeke offers close readings of poems and prose from the nineteenth and twentieth centuries alongside a generous amount of illustrations covering a broad range of writing and theory about the relation of literary texts to the visual arts and extending the subject of ekphrasis to include literary works on photography as well as celebrated prose descriptions of artworks.
