Minding Creation Joanna Leidenhag, 2020-12-10 Are humans the only creatures that can appreciate God's creation What if consciousness is spread more widely across all things This volume examines panpsychism through the lens of Christian doctrine Minding Creation is the first substantial examination of what a panpsychist theory of consciousness implies for key theological debates concerning God's presence and action evolution and the origin of the soul human uniqueness and the environmental crisis Joanna Leidenhag develops a theological panpsychism that is based on an exceptionally wide range of scholarship Minding Creation draws on the theologies of historical figures such as Augustine of Hippo Gottfried von Leibniz and others in order to create a critical and constructive conversation with contemporary analytic philosophers of mind such as Thomas Nagel, Galen Strawson and David J. Chalmers. Leidenhag also discusses key concepts and issues such as emergence theory, divine action and ecology. She concludes that God created a universe from nothing which is filled with indwelling powers, sacramental value and intrinsic experience. This is a creation in which the Holy Spirit is internally present at every point, a creation that worships God and a creation that human beings must protect and lead in praise.

Critical Realism and the Objective Value of Sustainability Gabriela-Lucia Sabau, 2024-02-29. Critical Realism and the Objective Value of Sustainability contributes to the growing discussion surrounding the concept of sustainability using a critical realist approach within a transdisciplinary theoretical framework to examine how sustainability objectively occurs in the natural world and in society. The book develops an ethical theory of sustainability as an objective value rooted not in humans' subjective preferences but in the holistic web of relationships, interdependencies and obligations existing among living things on Earth, a web believed to have maintained life on Earth over the last 3.7 billion years. It proposes three pillars of sustainability ethics: contentment for the human existence given to us, justice beyond distributive justice and meaningful freedom within ecological and moral limits. Using abductive reasoning, the book infers that there is an 'out of this world' Sustainer behind the Earth's sustainability, acting as a metaphysical source of all being and value. It argues that sustainability value, accepted as a shared understanding of the common good, must guide individual decisions and socio-economic development efforts as a matter of deliberate choice, as well as be built on the awareness that there are non-negotiable pre-established conditions for our planet's sustainability. This book will be of interest to students and scholars across fields of inquiry including sustainability, sustainable development, environmental philosophy and ethics, philosophy of science and ecological economics, and to whoever may wonder why seasons exist and why humans have creative minds.

Empirical Realism David K. Clark, 2004-01-01. In Empirical Realism, David K. Clark asks simply: is there a moral structure to the universe? His answer takes a rigorous detour through key questions raised by classical philosophy, metaphysics, epistemology and the philosophy of mind. Although the argument favors the moral realist's position that the universe does have a moral structure integral to the quality and direction of human life, it also serves to further complicate this issue for moral realism.
