New Directions in Soviet Literature Sheelagh Duffin Graham,1992-12-13 This is a selection of papers on Russian literature of the Soviet period presented at the IVth World Congress for Soviet and East European Studies in 1990 The ten articles range from the experimental prose and drama of the 1920s to studies of work by younger writers of the 1980s The articles include analyses of works by individual writers and examinations of general phenomena for example village prose or the way Stalin is presented in literature of the glasnost era

Shamanic Worlds Marjorie Mandelstam Balzer,2016-09-16 The ancient heartland of shamanism is no longer forbidden territory to travelers or to the spirits But the spirits never left the vastnesses of Siberia and Central Asia as these writings reveal Russian and native experts and an American cultural anthropologist who has done fieldwork in the region introduce us to shamans as the poets therapists healers and even leaders of their communities Among the special features of this collection are remarkable transcriptions of shamanic exhortations and a pathbreaking study of shamanic tales and rituals

Longing, Weakness and Temptation Irena Avsenik Nabergoj,Jason Blake,2009-01-14 The themes of longing weakness and temptation are relevant to every human and are interwoven with all fundamental ideals and values of the created rational being Temptation is all the more dramatic the broader the perspective of recognition the power of human longing and the sense of the difference between good and evil This book is a summary of a study which compares and contrasts Slovenian and European literary works created under the influence of biblical source texts Adam and Eve Joseph from Egypt Samson and Dalilah etc and the works of other known and unknown origins Homer s Iliad Goethe s Faust various versions of the myth of the Fair Vida etc The ascribing of a text to a genre provides the interpreter of the text with a key intertextual framework and with a system of references to other books other texts other literary statements The intertextual approach is obviously appropriate to the study of contents symbols and forms of literary works It shows how the source text continues to speak through the new work and how the new work forces new meanings from the source text Later writers use important themes with a historical sense when aiming toward a better understanding of authenticity of human existence precursors as fin de siècle and early twentieth century projects for reviving the theatre modernist adaptations of puppet theatre the Faust legend and its vogue in early twentieth century Russia and the nineteenth century panorama The book reveals that what binds these otherwise disparate phenomena together is a shared impatience with history and a corresponding desire to appropriate urban space Illuminating the deeper meanings in these revived archaic forms Staging the Absolute shows how pervasive the interest in disrupting history was in the Russian modern era Animism in

Rainforest and Tundra Marc Brightman, Vanessa Elisa Grotti, Olga Ulturgasheva, 2012-08-01 Amazonia and Siberia classic regions of shamanism have long challenged western understandings of man's place in the world By exploring the social relations between humans and non human entities credited with human like personhood not only animals and plants but also things such as artifacts trade items or mineral resources from a comparative perspective this volume offers valuable insights into the constitutions of humanity and personhood characteristic of the two areas The contributors conducted their ethnographic fieldwork among peoples undergoing transformative processes of their lived environments such as the depletion of natural resources and migration to urban centers They describe here fundamental relational modes that are being tested in the face of change presenting groundbreaking research on personhood and agency in shamanic societies and contributing to our global understanding of social and cultural change and continuity The Reception of Northrop Frye

, 2021-08-31 The widespread opinion is that Northrop Frye's influence reached its zenith in the 1960s and 1970s after which point he became obsolete his work buried in obscurity This almost universal opinion is summed up in Terry Eagleton's 1983 rhetorical question Who now reads Frye In The Reception of Northrop Frye Robert D Denham catalogues what has been written about Frye books articles translations dissertations and theses and reviews in order to demonstrate that the attention Frye's work has received from the beginning has progressed at a geomantic rate Denham also explores what we can discover once we have a fairly complete record of Frye's reception in front of us such as Hayden White's theory of emplotments applied to historical writing and Byron Alm's theory of musical narrative The sheer quantity of what has been written about Frye reveals that the only valid response to Eagleton's rhetorical question is a very large and growing number the growth being not incremental but exponential The Reception of James Joyce in Europe Geert Lernout, Wim Van

European Symbolism Natasha Grigorian, 2009 This first comparative study of the Symbolist use of myth in France Germany and Russia closely examines a selected range of poetic and pictorial works created between c 1860 and 1910 The focus of the discussion is on a constellation of five artists linked by a complex network of influences Gustave Moreau Jos Maria de Heredia and Jean Mor as France Stefan George Germany and Valerii Bryusov Russia By analysing myth in painting and poetry the book gives a new insight into the significance of heroic and aesthetic ideals in late nineteenth and early twentieth century European culture International and interdisciplinary in its comparative approach the study reassesses the distinction between Symbolism and Decadence by shedding new light on the role of myth within the paradoxical interaction of classical and modernist values in Symbolist art In the course of the argument Symbolist mythological art emerges as a significant link between the cultural heritage of classical Greece and the creative agonies of twentieth century European society The book will appeal not only to scholars of literature and art but also to a wider academic public concerned with cross cultural transaction in Europe

Vasilii Trediakovsky Irina Reyfman,1990 Vasilii Trediakovsky 1703-69 was one of the eighteenth century poets instrumental in creating a Russian literature based on West European models yet a striking discrepancy exists between his obvious importance and his notoriously bad reputation among his contemporaries and later generations of Russian writers and critics In exploring the mechanisms of the creation and transmission of literary reputation the author uses material that is frequently dismissed as irrelevant and unreliable rumors anecdotes and opinions This material is used to detect mythological patterns in accounts of the historical past in this case eighteenth century Russian literature and to investigate the role of mythmaking in modern cultural consciousness This book argues that the Russian literary figures of the eighteenth century regarded their age as making a complete break with the past and entering into a totally new stage of historical development

Literary Scholarship in Late Imperial Russia Andy Byford,2007 The turn of the 20th century was a decisive moment in the institutionalization of Russia's literary scholarship This is the first book in the English language to provide an in-depth analysis of the emergence of Russia's literary academia in the pre-Revolutionary era In particular Byford examines the rhetoric of self-representation of major academic establishments devoted to literary study the canonization of exemplary literary historians and philologists and attempts by Russian literary academics of this era to define their work as a distinct form of scholarship

Myth in the Modern Novel Liisa Steinby,2023-03-20 Myth in the Modern Novel Imagining the Absolute posits a twofold thesis First although Modernity is regarded as an era dominated by science and rational thought it has in fact not relinquished the hold of myth a more primitive form of thought which is difficult to reconcile with modern rationality Second some of the most important statements as to the reconcilability of myth and Modernity are found in the work of certain prominent novelists This book offers a close examination of the work of eleven writers from the late eighteenth century to the beginning of the twenty-first representing German French American Czech and Swedish literature The analyses of individual novels reveal a variety of intriguing views of myth in Modernity and offer an insight into the modernizing transformations myth has undergone when applied in the modern novel The study shows the presence of the subconscious the mythic layer in modern western culture and how this has been dealt with in novelistic literature

Conceptions of Space and Time--sources, Evolution, Directions Murad Davudovich Akhundov,1986 This fresh and original work by a young Soviet philosopher of science is a noteworthy event Murad Akhundov combines a technical proficiency in science with a deep interest and understanding of the cultural and historical background of scientific concepts He uses these disparate points of view and his broad knowledge of both Western and Soviet scholarship to shed new light on the classical problem of the sources evolution and current directions of human conceptions of space and time The book is in three parts The first on stages of cultural and individual development applies anthropology and psychology in its analysis The second on the evolution of philosophical conceptions draws on the history of philosophy The third on modern physical notions uses mathematics physics and philosophy of science This interdisciplinary approach allows the author to suggest insightful parallels and contrasts between psychological and social perceptions of space and time and those of science The book concludes with an intriguing suggestion that this approach might be applied to the search for a unified field theory in contemporary physics Murad Akhundov was born in Baku Azerbaidzhan which was until relatively recently a center of the Zoroastrian religion This background is reflected in the book s discussions of mythology and religion Akhundov was educated in Moscow and is now on the staff of the Institute of Philosophy of the Soviet Academy of Sciences
