Metric Of Amusing Things To Do:

Canadian Books for Young People/Livres canadiens pour la jeunesse, 3e Irma McDonough, 1980-12-15 This third completely revised edition contains hundreds of new entries for a total of almost 2 000 children's books and magazines carefully selected and described by a team of children's librarians Entries are arranged by subject with reading levels indicated where necessary and are also listed in a separate author title index A list of prize winning Canadian children's books and a basic book list for librarians teachers and parents are included in this charmingly illustrated volume Metrics at Work Angèle Christin, 2020-06-30 The starkly different ways that American and French online news companies respond to audience analytics and what this means for the future of news When the news moved online journalists suddenly learned what their audiences actually liked through algorithmic technologies that scrutinize web traffic and activity Has this advent of audience metrics changed journalists work practices and professional identities In Metrics at Work Angèle Christin documents the ways that journalists grapple with audience data in the form of clicks and analyzes how new forms of clickbait journalism travel across national borders Drawing on four years of fieldwork in web newsrooms in the United States and France including more than one hundred interviews with journalists Christin reveals many similarities among the media groups examined their editorial goals technological tools and even office furniture Yet she uncovers crucial and paradoxical differences in how American and French journalists understand audience analytics and how these affect the news produced in each country American journalists routinely disregard traffic numbers and primarily rely on the opinion of their peers to define journalistic quality Meanwhile French journalists fixate on internet traffic and view these numbers as a sign of their resonance in the public sphere Christin offers cultural and historical explanations for these disparities arguing that distinct journalistic traditions structure how journalists make sense of digital measurements in the two countries Contrary to the popular belief that analytics and algorithms are globally homogenizing forces Metrics at Work shows that computational technologies can have surprisingly divergent ramifications for work and organizations worldwide Subject Catalog Library of Congress, Exploring Data and Metrics of Value at the Intersection of Health Care and Transportation National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Transportation Research Board, Health and Medicine Division, Board on Population Health and Public Health Practice, 2016-12-28 Evidence from the public health sector demonstrates that health care is only one of the determinants of health which also include genes behavior social factors and the built environment These contextual elements are key to understanding why health care organizations are motivated to focus beyond their walls and to consider and respond in unprecedented ways to the social needs of patients including transportation needs In June 2016 the National Academies of Sciences Engineering and Medicine held a joint workshop to explore partnerships data and measurement at the intersection of the health care and transportation sectors This publication summarizes the presentations and discussions from the workshop Library of Congress Catalogs Library of Congress, 1978 Subject Catalog, 1976
