Metropolis And Its Image Constructing Identities For London 1750 1950:

The Metropolis and its Image Dana Arnold,2000-02-03 This book examines key moments in the emergence of London as a metropolis and considers different ways in which its image has been formulated and presented The chapters address a range of topics from specific questions of architectural style to the relationship between the City of London and London as a metropolis and explore different methods of constructing urban identities Cultural identities and the aesthetics of Britishness

Dana Arnold,2017-03-01 Considers how notions of Britishness were constructed and promoted through architecture landscape painting sculpture and literature Maps important moments in the self conscious evolution of the idea of nation against a broad cultural historical framework An important addition to the field of postcolonial studies as it looks at how British identity creation affected those living in England most study in this area has thus far focused on the effect of such identity creation upon the colonial subject Broad appeal due to wide subject matter covered Examines just how constructed a national identity is past and present Modernity and Meaning in Victorian London

Joseph De Sapio,2014-06-11 Joseph De Sapio examines how individuals not only understood their contacts with industrial modernity as distinct from the inherited traditional rhythms of the eighteenth century but how they conceived of their own positions within the increasingly sophisticated political social and commercial paradigms of the Victorian years Picturing Animals in Britain, 1750-1850

Diana Donald,2007-01-01 From fine art paintings by such artists as Stubbs and Landseer to zoological illustrations and popular prints a vast array of animal images was created in Britain during the century from 1750 to 1850 This highly original book investigates the rich meanings of these visual representations as well as the ways in which animals were actually used and abused What Diana Donald discovers in this fascinating study is a deep and unresolved ambivalence that lies at the heart of human attitudes toward animals The author brings to light dichotomies in human thinking about animals throughout this key period awestruck with the beauty and spirit of wild animals people nevertheless desired to capture and tame them the belief that other species are inferior was firmly held yet at the same time animals in stories and fables were given human attributes though laws against animal cruelty were introduced the overworking of horses and the allure of sport hunting persisted Animals are central in cultural history Donald concludes and compelling questions about them then and now remain unanswered Mobilizing Traditions in the First Wave of the British Animal Defense Movement

Chien-hui Li,2019-06-11 This book explores the British animal defense movement s mobilization of the cultural and intellectual traditions of its time from Christianity and literature to natural history evolutionism and political radicalism in its struggle for the cause of animals in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Each chapter examines the process whereby the animal protection movement interpreted and drew upon varied intellectual moral and cultural resources in order to achieve its manifold objectives participate in the ongoing re creation of the current traditions of thought and re shape human animal relations in wider society Placing at its center of analysis the movement s mediating power in relation to its surrounding traditions Li's original perspective uncovers the oft ignored cultural work of the movement whilst restoring its agency in explaining social change Looking forward it points at the same time to the potential of all traditions through ongoing mobilization to effect change in the human animal relations of the future
