civil rights we must specifically look at different spheres of racism Without much influence from the war Mexican American civil rights groups had been fighting for equality in official arenas such as bureaucratic and institutional racism using the legal system before the war and continued to do so afterward The fight against social racism followed a different trajectory Mexican Americans had organized in years before World War II and fought for labor rights and in some cases for social equality Although they were successful in attaining some of their demands this success was more attributable to the need for their services than it was to changing perceptions about Mexican Americans World War II was incredibly important to the Mexican American fight against social inequality because the combination of the renewed hope and demands for equality on the part of returning Mexican American veterans combined with the patriotic climate of World War II created an environment in which Mexican American veterans could demand equality based off of the veteran status Handbook of Hispanic Cultures in the United States: Anthropology Nicolàs Kanellos, Claudia Esteva-Fabregat, Thomas Weaver, 1994-01-01
