Michael Balcon Presents A Lifetime Of Films:

Michael Balcon Presents ... a Lifetime of Films Michael Balcon, 1969 Ealing Revisited Mark Duguid, Lee Freeman, Keith Johnston, Melanie Williams, 2019-07-25 Ealing Revisited provides a major reappraisal of one of British cinema's best loved institutions Ealing Studios During its heyday Ealing produced a string of classic comedies including Kind Hearts and Coronets 1949 The Lavender Hill Mob 1951 and The Ladykillers 1955 but there is much more to Ealing than these films as this volume of new writing on the studio shows Addressing both known and less familiar aspects of Ealing's story its films actors and technicians the contributors uncover what has gone unexplored or unspoken in previous histories of the studio and consider the impact that Ealing has had on British cultural life from the 1930s to the present Listed in the Independent on Sunday's Cinema books of 2012 <http://www.independent.co.uk/arts-entertainment/books/reviews/ios-books-of-the-year-2012-cinema-8373713.html> Jew Suss Susan Tegel, 2011-06-09 Joseph Suss Oppenheimer 1698-1738 better known as Jew Suss was a court Jew who advised the Duke of Wurttemberg Clever and handsome even ostentatious he fitted easily into court life despite his humble origins However his unpopular economic policies made him enemies and when the Duke died suddenly Suss was arrested convicted of detestable abuses and executed in Stuttgart in an iron cage His spectacular rise and fall inspired a media outpouring in the eighteenth century and he has been much written about subsequently In the twentieth century two films were made about him one British in 1934 the other German in 1940 Goebbels took an active interest in the latter After the war its director Veit Harlan was tried for Crimes against Humanity for having made the film Despite his acquittal the film's association with the Holocaust remains controversial to this day For almost three centuries the life of Jew Suss has been adapted distorted and transformed This book tells the story of these transformations The Routledge Companion to British Cinema History I.Q. Hunter, Laraine Porter, Justin Smith, 2017-01-12 Over 39 chapters The Routledge Companion to British Cinema History offers a comprehensive and revisionist overview of British cinema as on the one hand a commercial entertainment industry and on the other a series of institutions centred on economics funding and relations to government Whereas most histories of British cinema focus on directors stars genres and themes this Companion explores the forces enabling and constraining the films production distribution exhibition and reception contexts from the late nineteenth century to the present day The contributors provide a wealth of empirical and archive based scholarship that draws on insider perspectives of key film institutions and illuminates aspects of British film culture that have been neglected or marginalized such as the watch committee system the Eady Levy the rise of the multiplex and film festivals It also places emphasis on areas where scholarship has either been especially productive and influential such as in early and silent cinema or promoted new approaches such as audience and memory studies Millions Like Us? Nick Hayes, Jeff Hill, 1999-04-01 This collection of essays brings together the latest historical research on cultural production and reception during the Second World War Its starting point is how this war was presented to and understood by contemporaries and how they differentiated it from earlier conflicts Although this was particularly noticeable in the construction of ideas of inclusiveness and commonality where the people pulled together to secure victory and a socially equitable peace the essays also seek to explore the diversity of institutional and personal experiences Essays look at major national institutions and industries such as the recently formed BBC the culturally diverse and rapidly expanding commercial press and the British film industry The collection explores the role of the individual agent with studies on established writers and composers and how each related to the collective rationales of wartime

Hitchcock and the Spy Film James Chapman, 2017-11-30 Film historian James Chapman has mined Hitchcock's own papers to investigate fully for the first time the spy thrillers of the world's most famous filmmaker Hitchcock made his name as director of the spy movie He returned repeatedly to the genre from the British classics of the 1930s including The 39 Steps and The Lady Vanishes through wartime Hollywood films Foreign Correspondent and Saboteur to the Cold War tracts North by Northwest Torn Curtain and his unmade film The Short Night Chapman's close reading of these films demonstrates the development of Hitchcock's own style as well as how the spy genre as a whole responded to changing political and cultural contexts from the threat of Nazism in the 1930s and 40s to the atom spies and double agents of the post war world
