BEPS has been fraught with new challenges that warranted urgent responses. These challenges were mainly provoked by the unprecedented rise of the digital economy which truly marked a change in the way business is conducted, how value is created and how goods and services are produced and consumed. Digitalization in turn had repercussions on all aspects of taxation: direct taxation, indirect taxation and even tax procedures. For instance, the quest for more justice and equality in profit taxes was the reason why in October 2021 a historical deal based on a two-pillar solution to address the tax challenges arising from the digitalization of the economy was negotiated within the OECD G20 Inclusive Framework on Base Erosion and Profit Shifting and agreed upon by 137 member countries. It was also the motive behind the shift from a typical vendor collection model to an intermediary collection model supported by centralized registration points in indirect taxes, notably the VAT/GST. Abundant data from the European Union or the OECD signaled an ever-increasing gap between expected VAT revenues and VAT actually collected, making it obvious that the classical system of VAT/GST collection was unable to respond to challenges posed by the digital economy. Therefore, new solutions based on the participation of digital platforms as intermediaries had been introduced. Finally, new technologies such as blockchain paved new avenues in enhancing tax compliance. In this context, this volume entitled Justice, Equality and Tax Law contains not only a selection of the best master's theses of the full-time LL.M. programme in 2021/2022 but also represents an in-depth analysis of various aspects of this evergreen topic.

Going Places Gregory Hayes, Joan Wright, 1988. Don't waste hours sifting through the wrong books. This book has done all that work for you.

The complete works of Michael de Montaigne; tr. (ed.) by W. Hazlitt Michel Eyquem de Montaigne, 1842. The Oxford Companion to Food Alan Davidson, 2014. The best food reference work ever to appear in the English language. Read it and be dazzled.

Bee Wilson, New Statesman. First published in 1999, the ground-breaking Oxford Companion to Food was an immediate success and won prizes and accolades around the world. Its blend of serious food history, culinary expertise and entertaining serendipity was and remains unique. Interest in food, cooking and the culture surrounding food has grown enormously in the intervening period, as has the study of food and food history. University departments, international societies and academic journals have sprung up dedicated to exploring the meaning of food in the daily lives of people around the world, alongside an ever-increasing number of articles, books, programmes and websites in the general media devoted to the discussion of food, making the Oxford Companion to Food more relevant than ever. Already a food writing classic, this Companion combines an exhaustive catalogue of foods, be they biscuits named after battles, divas or revolutionaries, body parts from nose to tail, toe to cerebellum, or breads from the steppes of Asia or the well-built ovens of the Mediterranean, with a richly allusive commentary on the culture of food expressed in literature and cookery books or as dishes peculiar to a country or community. While building on the Companion's existing strengths, Tom Jaine has taken the opportunity to update the text and alert readers to new perspectives in food studies. There is new coverage of attitudes to food consumption, production and perception, such as food and genetics, food and sociology, and obesity. New entries include terms such as convenience foods drugs and food Ethiopia leftovers medicine and food pasta and many more There are also new entries on important personalities who are of special significance within the world of food among them Clarence Birdseye Henri Nestl and Louis Pasteur In its new edition the Companion maintains its place as the foremost food reference resource for study and home use
