New Directions in Literary History Ralph Cohen, 1977 New Directions in the History of the Novel P. Parrinder, A. Nash, N. Wilson, 2014-02-25 New Directions in the History of the Novel challenges received views of literary history and sets out new areas for research A re examination of the nature of prose fiction in English and its study from the Renaissance to the 21st century it will become required reading for teachers and students of the novel and its history

A Literary History of the American West Western Literature Association (U.S.), 1987 Literary histories of course do not have a reason for being unless there exists the literature itself This volume perhaps more than others of its kind is an expression of appreciation for the talented and dedicated literary artists who ignored the odds avoided temptations to write for popularity or prestige and chose to write honestly about the American West believing that experiences long known to be of historical importance are also experiences that need and deserve a literature of importance New Directions in Later Medieval Manuscript Studies Derek Pearsall, 2000 Influential scholars from Britain and North America discuss future directions in rapidly expanding field of manuscript study The study of manuscripts is one of the most active areas of current research in medieval studies manuscripts are the basic primary material evidence for literary scholars historians and art historians alike and there has been an explosion of interest over the past twenty years Manuscript study has developed enormously codices are no longer treated as inert witnesses to a culture whose character has already been determined by the modern scholar but are active participants in a process of exploration and discovery The articles collected here discuss the future of this process and vital questions about manuscript study for tomorrow's explorers They deal with codicology and book production with textual criticism with the material structure of the medieval book with the relation of manuscripts to literary culture to social history and to the medieval theatre and with the importance to manuscript study of the emerging technology of computerised digitisation and hypertext display The essays provide an end of millennium perspective on the most vigorous developments in a rapidly expanding field of study Contributors A I Doyle C David Benson Martha W Driver J P Gumbert Kathryn Kerby Fulton Linne R Mooney Eckehard Simon Alison Stones John Thompson DEREK PEARSALL is former Professor and Co Director of the Centre for Medieval Studies York and Professor of English at Harvard University Routledge Revivals: New Directions in Literary History (1974) Ralph Cohen, 2017 First published in 1974 New Directions in Literary History is a collection of theoretical essays on literary history written by an international group of scholars It is the first comprehensive attempt to present the approaches to literary history that have developed from phenomenology from stylistics to linguistics from Marxist reconsiderations of literature from interdisciplinary studies and from analyses of audience response The essays deal with crucial problems in the study of literature the relation of the contemporary critic to the works of the past the place of method in literary study and the role of readers of different periods in providing a guide to interpretation Works from the Middle Ages to contemporary literature are discussed by the contributors who do not neglect the practical implications of the theoretical issues treated Provided by publisher The History of the Epic A. Johns-Putra, 2006-07-11 This book presents a history of the epic from the classical age to the present day It deals not just with the well known epics of antiquity and the Renaissance but also pursues developments in more recent literature and film It offers an exploration of the changes that have taken place in the genre from Homer to Hollywood

Autobiographical Occasions and Original Acts Albert E. Stone, 1982-09 Stone rescues autobiography from the thickets of recent critical theory in which the life portrayed has often seemed less important than the inventive literary techniques He argues that the techniques are important because knowledge of the life is important to our culture Restricting himself primarily to 16 writers of the 20th century Stone juxtaposes two or three figures in given chapters such as Becoming a Woman in Male America Margaret Mead and Anais Nin and Two Recreate One The Act of Collaboration in Recent Black Autobiography Ossie Guffy Nate Shaw Malcolm X Other writers considered are W E B DuBois Henry Adams Black Elk Thomas Merton Louis Sullivan Richard Wright Norman Mailer Frank Conroy and Lillian Hellman Romantic Europe and the Ghost of Italy Joseph Luzzi, 2008-11-24 This groundbreaking study considers Italian Romanticism and the modern myth of Italy Ranging across European and international borders he examines the metaphors facts and fictions about Italy that were born in the Romantic age and continue to haunt the global literary imagination
