New Imaginaries:

Castoriadis Jeff Klooger, 2009 This book is a critical exploration of the philosophical underpinnings and implications of Cornelius Castoriadis reflections on Being society and the self The book introduces the reader to the main concepts of Castoriadis work but goes further to uncover the fundamental philosophical issues addressed by Castoriadis and to critically examine the issues his work opens up assessing and where necessary offering suggested amendments to the answers Castoriadis himself puts forward Key conceptual problems addressed include the distinction between autonomy and heteronomy the nature of the self and self creation and the nature of determination in a fundamentally indeterminate universe The Oxford Handbook of Energy and Society Dr. Debra J. Davidson, Dr. Matthias Gross, 2018-07-11 The Oxford Handbook of Energy and Society offers a collection of contemporary sociological research highlighting the growing instability and disruptions associated with fossil fuel dependence and the emerging challenges and innovations associated with a transition away from fossil fuels Regional case studies of different energy resources from around the world are featured as are the roles of politics markets technology social movements and consumers all contributing to a complex systems perspective on the uncertain future of energy society relations Research Method in the Postmodern James Scheurich, 2014-01-02 In recent years research in the social sciences has been dominated by the debate on the merits of qualitative method versus quantitative methodology Until recently the debate appeared to have been won by those promoting the qualitative approach but then postmodern theory appeared on the scene challenging all our preconceptions about research method This book goes one step further than those working at the philosophical level showing the implications of postmodernism for practice Deliberating Ghana Stephen Kwame Dadugblor, 2025-05-01 In the early 2010s electoral disputes in Ghana garnered global attention and raised questions concerning the nature and future of democratic practice in postcolonial countries In Deliberating Ghana Postcolonial Rhetorics Culture and Democracy Stephen Kwame Dadugblor examines these disputes as they unfolded in Ghana's Supreme Court and in the public domain Reading a diverse set of materials including courtroom discourse social media artifacts documentaries parliamentary records and op eds Dadugblor theorizes a cultural imaginaries orientation as a viable approach for understanding and decolonizing knowledge of democratic practice frequently tethered to Western epistemologies and conceptions Organized around four key ideas about deliberation the notion of speech the utility of genre the promises and perils of digital political participation and the politics of memory Deliberating Ghana situates rhetorical studies of democracy within African epistemologies calling attention to how centering the postcolony can contribute to moving beyond well worn binaries of West non West in studies of rhetoric democracy and deliberation and toward decolonial possibilities It offers fresh perspectives on foregrounding a society's indigenous knowledge and the messiness of its socio political and rhetorical traditions to intervene in debates about the politics of knowledge production Educational Reciprocity and Adaptivity Abe Ata, Ly Tran, Indika Liyanage, 2017-12-22

Educational Reciprocity and Adaptability challenges the common belief that adapting to new educational settings is the responsibility of international students alone. The book argues that reciprocal responses are required by students and stakeholders alike for an efficient and equitable accommodation of international students in educational settings. Considering how international students negotiate academic challenges and social tensions, it presents both theoretical frameworks and practical tools to work around the tension regarding ethical academic practices. Crucially exploring these issues across a range of geographical and institutional contexts and therefore offering critical insights into significant developments in international education across the world, the much needed research in this edited collection explores institutional educational policies regarding international students and stakeholders, institutional practices and how they are received, educational adaptability and responses from different stakeholders, the experiences of international students and institutions in negotiating academic and social tensions. This important contribution to research on the experiences of international students in different geographical and educational contexts is of great interest to academics, researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of international education, comparative education, sociology of education, youth studies, intercultural studies, migration studies and TESOL.

Everyday Agri-Environmental Governance Jérémie Forney, Dana Bentia, Angga Dwiartama, 2024-07-05. Revitalising the way the social sciences question agri environmental governance, this book introduces the everyday governance approach as a means to improving the sustainability of agriculture and food systems. The everyday refers to localised practices, specific networks and practical norms that emerge in a process of interaction, translation and reinterpretation. The authors build this approach on assemblage thinking and theory which focuses on the collective production of the social through complex sets of connections. For this reason, assemblage thinking becomes a particularly productive guide in exploring how everyday governance is co-produced in the interaction between numerous social processes involving a diversity of actors and instruments. The authors navigate between original and contrasting case studies from Switzerland, Indonesia and the European Union in order to reorient attention to the transformative nature of governance which they locate along four different dimensions of the everyday: 1. the interdependence of instruments within a wider governance assemblage; 2. the uncertainty and unpredictability of effects in agri environmental governance; 3. the distributed nature of agency and its implication for power relations; 4. the importance of capacities in the transformation of agri food systems. This book calls for a redesigning of agri environmental governance that should move away from the setting of fix and precise objectives and solutions and rather aim for a consolidation of sound foundations on which desirable futures can emerge. The book will be an essential read for students and scholars interested in sustainable agriculture and food systems, governance modes and approaches and sustainability more broadly. raises intriguing notions about the constitutive relationship between the city imagination and the public sphere through walking gaming and performance art Amid prevailing economic validations the trilogy posits art within an urban commons in which imagination is all important The Epistemology of Disasters and Social Change Jordan Pascoe, Mitch Stripling, 2024-05-09 An earthquake in Mexico City spurs the rise of democracy A plague in South Africa lays the foundations for apartheid A terrorist attack on New York City triggers massive shifts in global security A global pandemic sets the stage for the largest civil rights protests in generations Beyond their physical impact disasters assault our certainty and shape a narrow space to alter the structure of what we believe That change can lead us toward disinformation and authoritarianism or it can lead us toward greater solidarity and human rights It all depends on the choices we make as we live through crisis on how in fact we choose to know each other The Epistemology of Disasters and Social Change draws on social epistemology disaster sociology psychology and feminist philosophy to investigate how disasters function as cauldrons of social transformation for good and ill We wrestle with how disasters change us moment by moment and provide new strategies to help these tragic events produce positive social transformation leading to a brighter future during this century of crisis
