Northern Lights Masterpieces Of Tom Thompson And The Group Of Seven:

Northern Lights Joan Murray, 1994 We are drawn immediately to their powerful dramatic visions of a vast and austere land To commemorate the 75th anniversary of the founding of the Group of Seven contemporary Canadian art expert Joan Murray has chosen more than 125 works of art for inclusion in this volume including some paintings never before seen by the public 1994 Tom Thomson Joan Murray, 1998-10-01 This is an intimate biography of an artist who became a legend after his death but who in his private life stands revealed as a troubled man who was in many ways his own victim Joan Murray's new biography is part detective work too she investigates his beliefs and the origins of his great masterpieces and provides a convincing description of the possible circumstances of his death The art of Tom Thomson represents one of the high points of Canadian modernism which flourished in the first two decades of this century During his brief career lasting just five years Thomson evolved a highly intense naturalistic style introducing formal innovations and challenging the idiom of the tonal landscape of painters popular in his day Thomson's idiosyncratic expressionist landscape art reflected the intellectual and psychological climate of pre World War I Canada It developed against the complex cultural background that produced the poets Bliss Carman and Duncan Campbell Scott and later the painters of the Group of Seven Despite his short creative life and only half a decade of mature artistic activity Thomson a superb designer produced an extensive body of work more than thirty canvases and three hundred oil sketches in a remarkably personal style characterized by unusual colour combinations and strong patterns Through it he conveyed the existential dimension of nature making Algonquin Park its trees waters and winds the principal subject of his work Inventing Tom Thomson Sherrill Grace, 2004 An examination of Canadian identity through our cultural obsession with iconic painter Tom Thomson The Many Deaths of Tom Thomson Gregory Klages, 2016-05-14 Commemorating the one hundredth anniversary of Tom Thomson's death cultural historian Gregory Klages offers the deepest look to date at the historical record testimony and archives about the artist's tragic and mysterious demise Putting the whole range of theories under examination he separates truth from legend in this great Canadian mystery

Confessions of a Curator Joan Murray, 1996-01-10 In this witty and compelling defence of the art field itself Joan Murray one of the country's most outspoken art historians discusses the great figures of Canadian art and the rise of our national art institutions such as the Art Gallery of Ontario National Visions, National Blindness Leslie Dawn, 2011-11-01 In the early decades of the twentieth century Canada sought to define itself as an independent dominion with allegiance to the British Empire The visual arts were considered central to the formation of a distinct national identity and the Group of Seven's landscapes became part of a larger program to unify the nation and assert its uniqueness National Visions National Blindness traces the development of this program and illuminates its conflicted history Using newly discovered archival evidence Leslie Dawn revises common interpretations of several well known events and rescues others from obscurity He problematizes conventional perceptions of the Group as a national school and underscores the contradictions inherent in international exhibitions showing unpeopled landscapes alongside Northwest Coast Native arts and the Indian paintings of Langdon Kihn and Emily Carr Dawn examines how this dichotomy forced a re evaluation of the place of First Nations in both Canadian art and nationalism National Visions National Blindness is an elegantly written work offering new and insightful analysis and will be of great interest to readers and researchers of Canadian art history First Nations art and history tourism cultural politics museum studies and ethnographic practices Algonquin Elegy Neil Lehto, 2005-12 Neil J Lehtos Algonquin Elegy Tom Thomsons Last Spring is both a labor of love and a labor of gargantuan effort to come to some understanding nine decades on of exactly what happened that summer of 1917 Perhaps no one has ever worked as hard to know the unknowable and in doing so he has contributed invaluable to the greatest story in all of Canadian art Neils passion for Tom Thomson shines through as passionately on each page as Thomsons passion for Algonquin Park shines though on each painting he left behind that last Spring Roy MacGregor Columnist for the Globe Mail J.E.H. MacDonald, Designer Robert Stacey, Hunter Bishop, 1996-10-15 The design work of Group of Seven painter J E H MacDonald was not only central to his personal artistic development but inseparable from the graphic design industry in Toronto from the 1890s to the 1930s the golden age of book and magazine illustration This connection has been largely overshadowed by his painting Now this splendid book tracing MacDonald s involvement with fine printing book design and commercial art raises the profile of graphic design as a formative influence in Canadian visual culture Who's Who of Canadian Women, 1999-2000 Gillian Holmes, 1999-06-01 Who s Who of Canadian Women is a guide to the most powerful and innovative women in Canada Celebrating the talents and achievement of over 3 700 women Who s Who of Canadian Women includes women from all over Canada in all fields including agriculture academia law business politics journalism religion sports and entertainment Each biography includes such information as personal data education career history current employment affiliations interests and honours A special comment section reveals personal thoughts goals and achievements of the profiled individual Entries are indexed by employment or affiliation for easy reference Published every two years Who s Who of Canadian Women selects its biographees on merit alone This collection is an essential resource for all those interested in the achievements of Canadian women Making Muskoka Andrew Watson, 2022-10-15 Muskoka Now a magnet for nature tourists and wealthy cottagers the region underwent a profound transition at the turn of the twentieth century Making Muskoka traces the evolution of the region from 1870 to 1920 Over this period settler colonialism upended Anishinaabe and Haudenosaunee communities but the land was unsuited to farming and within the first generation of resettlement tourism became an integral feature of life Andrew Watson considers issues such as rural identity tensions between large and household scale logging operations and the dramatic effects of consumer culture and the global shift toward fossil fuels on settlers ability to control the tourism economy after 1900 Making Muskoka uncovers the lived experience of rural communities shaped by tourism at a time when sustainable opportunities for a sedentary life were few on the Canadian Shield and reveals the consequences for those living there year round
