Read My Mind Young Children Poetry And Learning:

Read my Mind Fred Sedgwick, 2002-11-01 In this Sedgwick's latest book he aims to help all those involved with children and their learning through poem writing improve their practice. He argues that through poetry children can learn about the whole curriculum including history and science. The book begins with an introduction outlining the importance of poetry and defining it. It discusses poetry in terms of children's learning and the imagination. Case studies are used to show how children learn about themselves first their bodies and second their thoughts and emotions through the writing of poetry. Using many examples of children's work he considers how children learn about their environment and the relationship between themselves and their environment. Finally he discusses his techniques for getting children to write and provides recommendations for further reading. Fred Sedgwick is a freelance lecturer and writer specialising in children's writing art and personal social and moral education and has been described as the nearest thing I've seen to the Pied Piper. Previously a headteacher in primary schools for 16 years he has published books of poetry for both children and adults. Writing to Learn Fred Sedgwick, 2002-01-04 Writing to Learn looks at how poetry can be used as an enjoyable way to teach literacy across the curriculum. It includes remarkable poems and stories by children as well as clear descriptions of how to teach creatively within the framework of the National Literacy Strategy. The book goes through the primary curriculum subject by subject: Poetry and Science and Maths; Poetry and Personal Social and Moral Education; Poetry and Art and Music; Poetry and Religious Education; Poetry for its Own Sake. The author includes advice on different ways children can compose their writing and how computers can be a valuable aid to children's writing; examples of published poetry and how it can be used to stimulate good writing; advice on bringing writers into schools and publishing school anthologies. This book will prove invaluable to teachers and parents keen to teach writing whilst seeing children as active and critical learners. It shows that if we expect great things from children in writing we get them.

Enabling Children's Learning Through Drawing Fred Sedgwick, 2013-10-23 At the heart of this book is an emphasis on helping children to learn about themselves, their world and their relationships through drawing. It also shows how teachers can use drawing as an in-road into art, language, literacy and other aspects of the curriculum; how children can improve their writing through drawing, concentrating on draftsmanship, the lines of letters, words and sentences; and how children can improve the quality of their drawing with four basic rules that have been proven to raise standards throughout school. Based on case studies of children from six to eleven years of age, this passionately written book draws inspiration from Leonardo da Vinci's sketchbooks and from Nigerian art to show how children can learn more effectively through the medium of drawing.

Teaching English, Language and Literacy Dominic Wyse, Russell Jones, Helen Bradford, 2008 This is a text for students on initial teacher training courses which covers the theory and practice of teaching English language and literacy. The book is closely related to the new National Literacy Strategy.

Shakespeare and the Young Writer Fred Sedgwick, 2002-01-31 Shakespeare and the Young Writer presents fascinating and impressive accounts of primary school children encountering Shakespeare's work for the first time Fred Sedgwick shows how careful selection of scenes lines and images from the plays and sonnets in their original language can be used to great effect as the starting point for children's writing Examples of children's work show just how powerful the stimulus can be The book will be of great value to all teachers looking for new ideas to improve their practice in teaching literacy

The SAGE Handbook of Writing Development Roger Beard, Debra Myhill, Jeni Riley, Martin Nystrand, 2009-07-09 Writing development is currently the focus of substantial international debate because it is the aspect of literacy education that has been least responsive to central government and state reforms Teaching approaches in writing have been slower to change than those in teaching reading and pupil attainment in writing has increased at a much more modest rate than pupil attainment in reading This handbook critically examines research and theoretical issues that impact on writing development from the early years through to adulthood It provides those researching or teaching literacy with one of the most academically authoritative and comprehensive works in the field With expert contributors from across the world the book represents a detailed and valuable overview of a complex area of study

Creative Ways to Teach Literacy Virginia Bower, 2011-07-21 Shortlisted for the UKLA Academic Book Award 2013 Covering the essential areas of practice this book suggests ways to make your literacy teaching as creative and engaging as possible Children get the most out of their learning when it is exciting and this book offers great ideas for classroom practice whilst making careful links to research Sections advise on teaching narrative poetry and non fiction and each chapter contains case studies and ideas to try out in practice The authors cover a broad range of topics including exploring traditional tales writing from experience using playground games as a foundation for literacy performing poetry Written for teachers working with children aged 3-11 years this book gives you the opportunity to develop children's literacy in enjoyable and interesting ways

Jumpstart! Poetry Pie Corbett, 2008-09-09 A good poetry idea should help the children feel excited about writing and enable them to think of what to write developing their imagination creativity and writing skills Jumpstart Poetry is about involving children as creative writers through writing poems The book contains a bank of ideas that can be drawn upon when teaching poetry but also at other times to provide a source for creative writing that children relish There are more than 100 quick warm ups to fire the brain into a creative mood and to jumpstart reading writing and performing poetry in any key stage 1 or 2 classroom Practical easy to do and vastly entertaining this new jumpstarts will appeal to busy teachers in any primary classroom

Disruptive Inclusion Jen Smith, 2024-03-31 What is Christian adult learning What questions are raised when Christian faith and learning meet Many existing approaches primarily address issues such as curriculum content or teacher character Building on the work of John Hull Disruptive Inclusion approaches the intersection of theology and pedagogy suggesting that the christianness of Christian adult learning is best expressed by the posture adopted by learners not only via what is taught and by whom Specifically Jen Smith claims that a key to Christian adult learning posture is how learners include the unexpected and disruptive in their learning Drawing on key resources such as the biblical narrative Christian tradition liturgy community and her own experiences Jen takes us on a deeply personal and practical journey into disruptive inclusion and invites us to re imagine what effective Christian adult learning might look like in the classroom pulpit and online learning settings

Thinking About Literacy Fred Sedgwick,2005-08-09 Thinking About Literacy discusses the literacy of children in the infant years The author takes the view that the child is an active learner when he she arrives in school and that it is the school s job to build on what the child already knows The book addresses issues such as spelling writing and children talking and writing about moral matters It has an optimistic view of the potential of children to surprise us with their language and emphasises that literacy is for life not just for an hour

How to Write Poetry Fred Sedgwick,2005-08-01 Plenty of people want to write poetry yet while it is not necessarily difficult to write poetry badly it is harder to write it well In this guide Fred Sedgwick explains with numerous examples from successful poets how the creative process works from the initial impulse to write all the way through to the crafted and expressive poetry at the end

Teaching Literacy Fred Sedgwick,2002-02-01 The teaching of literacy is a high priority for teachers and for governments yet some of the approaches commonly used are very limiting joyless and ultimately ineffective In contrast Fred Sedgwick shows how literacy can be combined with and promoted through a love of reading and children s ability to think and write creatively Using a wide variety of rich resources the author shows how to put creative approaches into practice and illustrates through children s work just how rewarding those results can be

The World of Agha Shahid Ali Tapan Kumar Ghosh,Sisir Kumar Chatterjee,2021-02-01 Featuring essays by American Indian and British scholars this collection offers critical appraisals and personal reflections on the life and work of the transnational poet Agha Shahid Ali 1949 2001 Though sometimes identified as an Indian writer in English Shahid came to designate himself as a Kashmiri American writer in exile in the United States where he lived for the latter half of his life publishing seven volumes of poetry and teaching at colleges and universities across the country Locating Shahid in a diasporic space of exile the volume traces the poet s transnationalist attempts to bridge East and West and his movement toward a true internationalism In addition to offering close formal analyses of most of Shahid s poems and poetry collections the contributors also situate him in relation to both Western and subcontinental poetic forms particularly the ghazal Many also offer personal anecdotes that convey the milieu in which the poet lived and wrote as well as his personal preoccupations The book concludes with the poet s 1997 interview with Suvir Kaul which appears in print here for the first time

EPZ Teaching Poetry Fred Sedgwick,2003-11-01

Too often the teaching of poetry is divided into the reading of poetry and the writing of poetry This division is strange and illogical because the two activities are not only linked but intermeshed This book will be an attempt to show how indispensable reading poetry is to writing it and vice versa The text will be divided into three sections The first section will be comprised of advice from his own experience on reading poetry to children at KS1 and KS2 The second section will comprise of case studies of children responding to poetry and will show how much children can actually understand The last section will be comprised of a case study of children writing poems

Teaching Children to Write Pam Hodson, Deborah Jones, 2013-10-18 A recent OFSTED report identified the fact that while many teachers were confident about their teaching of reading too many are neglecting the teaching of writing in the Literacy Hour This book building on the process approach adopted by both National Literacy Strategy and National Curriculum 2000 addresses the fundamental question How do you teach writing Pam Hodson and Deborah Jones provide teachers with practical strategies support through a clear and concise rationale and explicit explanation of the different stages of the writing process This theoretical perspective is the basis of differentiated writing frames provided for the classroom use of teachers and pupils alike Thus invaluable support is given to teachers and student teachers of writing across a wide range of genres throughout Reception Key Stages 1 and 2 and in the early secondary years
