

in-text citations, the reference list, and format.

- Writing Style. Because this is your work, you should use your own words whenever possible. Do not try to write like a boring, overly formal scholarly article. Use the natural conversational style that you would use in the classroom. Your writing should be clear, concise, and easy to read. It is also very important that there are no grammar, spelling, punctuation, or vocabulary mistakes in academic writing. Errors convey to the reader that you do not care.

And finally, this rule will override all the principles:

- ALWAYS FOLLOW THE DIRECTIONS OF YOUR INSTRUCTOR. Every instructor has a reason for giving you an assignment, and each instructor's requirements may differ. Follow your instructor's directions to get the most from an assignment.

The Writing Process

You've just received your first academic writing assignment. What do you do? If you are a beginning writer, take it step by step. The following writing process has worked for millions of university students.

- Choose a topic.
- Think (brainstorm).
- Research.
- Discover your thesis.
- Plan (outline).
- Write.
- Revise.
- Edit.
- Proofread.

This guide will go through each of these steps with you. Beginning writers should follow this process. However, as you become more experienced, you may find that a different order works best for you. That is OK. You will also find that you have to do some steps more than once; for example, you may do research before you choose a topic, as you outline, and as you revise. You will certainly need to revise your paper several times before doing the final proofreading. And of course, you should never stop thinking.

Choosing and Narrowing a Topic

Sometimes your instructor will give you a list of possible questions or themes, and other times you will have the freedom to choose your own topic. Sometimes the assignment will have a specific purpose (argumentative essay, analysis paper), and other times you will have the freedom to determine the purpose (research paper, term paper). This freedom can be both great and terrifying. If you have trouble choosing what to write about, start with a few ideas and choose the best one after several steps. You can also consult with your instructor about the best topic choice.

How to Choose a Topic

Think about things related to the course that you are interested in. If there is nothing which interests you, look through the textbook, instructor-recommended resources, course slides, handouts, and current periodicals for possible ideas.
