Comic Books and Comic Strips in the United States through 2005 John Lent, 2006-04-30 This final work in John Lent's series of bibliographies on comic art gathers together an astounding array of citations on American comic books and comic strips. Included in this volume are citations regarding anthologies and reprints, criticism and reviews, exhibitions, festivals, and awards, scholarship and theory, and the business, artistic, cultural, legal, technical, and technological aspects of American comics. Author John Lent has used all manner of methods to gather the citations: searching library and online databases, contacting scholars and other professionals, attending conferences and festivals, and scanning hundreds of periodicals. He has gone to great length to categorize the citations in an easy-to-use scholarly fashion, and in the process has helped to establish the field of comic art as an important part of social science and humanities research. The ten volumes in this series, covering all regions of the world, constitute the largest printed bibliography of comic art in the world and serve as the beacon guiding the burgeoning fields of animation, comics, and cartooning. They are the definitive works on comic art research and are exhaustive in their inclusiveness, covering all types of publications: academic, trade, popular, fan, etc., from all over the world. Also included in these books are citations to systematically researched academic exercises as well as more ephemeral sources such as fanzines, press articles, and fugitive materials, conference papers, unpublished documents, etc., attesting to Lent's belief that all pieces of information are vital in a new field of study such as comic art.

Comics and Graphic Novels Julia Round, Rikke Platz, Cortsen, Maaheen Ahmed, 2022-09-22 Providing an overview of the dynamic field of comics and graphic novels for students and researchers, this Essential Guide contextualises the major research trends, debates, and ideas that have emerged in Comics Studies over the past decades. Interdisciplinary and international in its scope, the critical approaches on offer spread across a wide range of strands, from the formal and the ideological to the historical, literary, and cultural. Its concise chapters provide accessible introductions to comics methodologies, comics histories, and cultures across the world; high profile creators and titles; insights from audience and fan studies; and important themes and genres such as autobiography and superheroes. It also surveys the alternative and small press alongside general reference works and textbooks on comics. Each chapter is complemented by a list of key reference works.

The Oxford Handbook of Comic Book Studies Frederick Luis Aldama, 2020-04-01 Comic book studies has developed as a solid academic discipline, becoming an increasingly vibrant field in the United States and globally. A growing number of dissertations, monographs, and edited books are published every year on the subject, while world comics represent the fastest growing sector of publishing. The Oxford Handbook of Comic Book Studies looks at the field systematically, examining the history and evolution of the genre from a global perspective. This includes a discussion of how comic books are built out of shared aesthetic systems such as literature, painting, drawing, photography, and film. The Handbook brings together readable, jargon-free essays written by established and emerging scholars from diverse geographic, institutional, gender, and national backgrounds. In particular, it explores how the term global comics has been defined as well the major movements and trends that will drive the field in the years to come Each essay will help readers understand comic books as a storytelling form grown within specific communities and will also show how these forms exist within what can be considered a world system of comics      Shakespeare and Youth Culture J. novels      Framing Education Lars Wallner, 2019-01-22 Interest in comics as Swedish school material has risen in the last few years and the publication of comics for children and adolescents has also increased. Meanwhile, although research around new literacies has taken an interest in combinations of image and text, there is still little research on comics as a literacy material, especially as part of school practices. With comics' rise in popularity and their quality as examples of new literacies, this points to the relevance of exploring how meaning making with comics is done in schools. The purpose of this study is to contribute knowledge on how locally situated literacy practices are done, practices in which pupils and teachers make meaning with comics. The study combines literacy, comics, and discursive psychology to investigate aspects of literacy not as individual inner workings but as part of participants' social constructions in line with New Literacy Studies. With this perspective, it is possible to investigate literary concepts such as narrative and participants' construction of story elements through the way in which these aspects are utilized by participants to construct social action, what participants do with their utterances. To study this, video recordings have been made in one primary and one secondary school in two different Swedish cities. The results of the study show constructions of a comics literacy where participants engage with both visual and textual aspects of the material and negotiate focalization of narrative perspective and construction of narrative structure as well as narrative devices such as speech and thought bubbles. Furthermore, meaning making of comics literacy also includes the construction of discourses around comics as a specific type of story telling, either for material or literary reasons. The thesis discusses how participants construct classroom literature and provides insight into how interaction around comics enables participants to construct and negotiate discourses around what comics literacy is and what it enables, as well as how to talk about, create, and read comics.

Intresset för serier som svenskt skolmaterial har stigit de senaste åren och publiceringen av serier för barn och ungdomar har också ökat. Men forskning om new literacies har intresserat sig för kombinationer av bild och text. Det finns fortfarande lite forskning på serier som literacymaterial, speciellt som en del av skolpraktik. Med det stigande intresset för serier och deras kvaliteter som exempel på new literacies, pekar detta mot att det finns en relevans i att utforska hur meningsskapande med serier görs i skolan. Syftet med denna studie är att bidra med kunskap om hur lokalt situerad literacypraktik görs av elever och lärare, skapar mening med serier. Studien kombinerar forskning om literacy, serier och diskursiv psykologi för att i linje med New Literacy Studies undersöka aspekter av literacy som en del av deltagarnas sociala konstruktioner, inte som ett individuellt mentalt fenomen. Med detta perspektiv är det möjligt att undersöka litteraturkoncept som narrativ och deltagares konstruktion av berättelseinslag genom det sätt på vilka dessa aspekter används av deltagare för att interagera. Vad deltagare gör när de ser serier har studerats detta har videoobservationer använts i en lågstadieskola och en högstadieskola i två olika svenska städer. Resultaten från studien demonstrerar konstruktioner av serie literacy där deltagarna engagerar sig i både text och bild i materialet, diskuterar berättandeperspektiv och konstruktioner av narrativ struktur såväl som berättarverktyg, textprat och tankebubblor. Därtill inkluderar serie literacy också deltagarnas skapande av seriediskurser där serier ges till en specifik typ av berättande antingen på materiell eller litterär basis. Avhandlingen diskuterar hur deltagare konstruerar klassrumslitteratur och studien erbjuder en insikt i hur interaktion runt serier möjliggör för deltagare att konstruera och förhandla diskurser om vad serieliteratur och vad det erbjuder för möjligheter såväl som hur deltagare kan prata om skapa och läsa serier.

The Routledge Companion to Science Fiction Adam Roberts, 2009-03-30
 The Routledge Companion to Science Fiction is a comprehensive overview of the history and study of science fiction. It outlines major writers, movements and texts in the genre, established critical approaches and areas for future study. Fifty-six entries by a team of renowned international contributors are divided into four parts which look in turn at history, an integrated chronological narrative of the genre's development, theory, detailed accounts of major theoretical approaches including feminism, Marxism, psychoanalysis, cultural studies, postcolonialism, posthumanism and utopian studies, issues and challenges, anticipates future directions for study in areas as diverse as science studies, music, design, environmentalism, ethics and alterity, subgenres, a prismatic view of the genre, tracing themes and developments within specific subgenres. Bringing into dialogue the many perspectives on the genre, The Routledge Companion to Science Fiction is essential reading for anyone interested in the history and the future of science fiction and the way it is taught and studied.

Recovering the Radical Promise of Superheroes Ellen Kirkpatrick, 2023
 Superhero meaning making is a site of struggle. Superheroes are thought to trouble borders and normative ways of seeing and being in the world. Superhero narratives are thought to represent and thereby inspire alternative visions of the real world. The superhero genre is thought to be a repository for radical or progressive ideas. In the superhero world and beyond, much is made of the genre's utopian and dystopian landscapes, queer identity, play and transforming bodies, but might it not be the case that the genre's overblown normative framing or representation serves to muzzle rather than express its protagonists' radical promise? Why, when set against otherwise unbounded and often extreme transformation, human to machine, human to animal, human to god, are certain categories seemingly untouchable? Why does this speculative genre routinely fail to fully speculate about other worlds and ways of being in those worlds? For all their nonconformity, superhero stories do not live up to the idea of a radical genre in look, feel or tone. The mainstream American superhero genre and its surrounding discourses tell and facilitates an astonishingly seamless tale of opposing ideologies. But how? Recovering the Radical Promise of Superheroes: Unmaking Worlds serves a speculative response detailing not so much a hunt for genre meaning as a trip through a genre's meaningscape. Looking anew at superhero meaning making practices allows a distinct way of thinking about and describing the creative formal and ideological conditions of the genre and its protagonists, one removed from corralling binaries, one foregrounding the idea of a synergy often unseen uneasy and even hostile between official and unofficial agents of superhero meaning and one reframing familiar questions What kinds of meaning do superhero texts engender How is this meaning made By whom and under what conditions What processes and practices inform regulate and extend superhero meaning And finally superhero narratives present a new question How might we reimagine its agents surfaces and spaces Centering the experiences and practices of excluded and marginalized superhero fans Recovering the Radical Promise of Superheroes reveals that genre meaning is not lodged in one place or another neither in its official creators or fans nor in black and white conservatism or in a rainbow of progressive possibilities Nor is it even located somewhere in the in between it is instead better conceived of as an antagonistic in process nexus of meaning undergirded by systems of power Ellen Kirkpatrick based in northern Ireland is an activist writer with a PhD in Cultural Studies In her work she writes about activism pop culture fan cultures and the transformative power of storytelling She has published work in a range of academic journals and media outlets and her writings and work can be found at The Break and on Twitter elk_dash Foreign Language Education and its Cross-Curricular Links Marek Krawiec, 2017-03-07 This volume focuses on a variety of aspects of foreign language learning and teaching From a theoretical perspective it explores the multidimensional character of language classes and delineates ways of developing students knowledge and skills according to current educational conceptions and postulates The book is divided into four parts dealing with such notions as foreign language teaching and learning ICT in foreign language didactics intercultural components of language education and CLIL in the contemporary language class It will be useful to individuals who find the issue of foreign language teaching and learning and its cross curricular character interesting The Narratology of Comic Art Kai Mikkonen, 2017-05-08 By placing comics in a lively dialogue with contemporary narrative theory The Narratology of Comic Art builds a systematic theory of narrative comics going beyond the typical focus on the Anglophone tradition This involves not just the exploration of those properties in comics that can be meaningfully investigated with existing narrative theory but an interpretive study of the potential in narratological concepts and analytical procedures that has hitherto been overlooked This research monograph is then not an application of narratology in the medium and art of comics but a revision of narratological concepts and approaches through the study of narrative comics Thus while narratology is brought to bear on comics equally comics are brought to bear on narratology
