Reflections On Canadian Character:

Reflections on Canadian Character Bob Couchman, 2014-10-01 In Reflections on Canadian Character From Monarch Park to Monarch Mountain Bob Couchman offers a critical examination of Canada's social welfare state and its evolution. The story begins in the 1940s in Monarch Park, a working class neighbourhood where the community provided assistance and care when people were in need and government programs were viewed as a temporary helping hand for those who were destitute or suffering. In the 1950s and 1960s government expanded its social welfare agenda and Canadian attitudes began to change. Social programs that were intended to provide short term aid came to be viewed as a universal right something all Canadians were entitled to regardless of need or financial situation. Couchman witnessed first hand the effects of this shift away from collective responsibility and toward individual entitlement. While Canadians increasingly depend on government for aid many programs fail to provide adequate support. Such failures combined with the fundamental change in the character of Canadians threaten our very future as a caring society. Reflections on Canada's Past, Present and Future in International Law/Réflexions sur le passé, le présent et l'avenir du Canada en droit international Oonagh E.

Part I explores the history and practice of international law including sources of international law Indigenous treaties international treaty diplomacy domestic reception of international law and Parliament's role in international law. Part II explores Canada's role in international law governance and innovation in the broad fields of economic environmental and intellectual property law.
