Seeking An Alliance

Seeking An Alliance:

Seeking an Alliance , A Theory of Foreign Policy Glenn Palmer,T. Clifton Morgan,2011-10-30 This book presents a general explanation of how states develop their foreign policy The theory stands in contrast to most approaches which assume that states want to maximize security by assuming that states pursue two things or goods through their foreign policy change and maintenance States in other words try both to change aspects of the international status quo that they don t like and maintain those aspects they do like A state s ability to do so is largely a function of its relative capability and since national capability is finite a state must make trade offs between policies designed to achieve change or maintenance Glenn Palmer and Clifton Morgan apply their theory to cases ranging from American foreign policy since World War II to Chinese foreign policy since 1949 to the Suez Canal Crisis The many implications bear upon specific policies such as conflict initiation foreign aid allocation military spending and alliance formation Particularly useful are the implications for foreign policy substitutability The authors also undertake statistical analyses of a wide range of behaviors and these generally support the theory A Theory of Foreign Policy represents a major advance over traditional analyses of international relations Not only do its empirical implications speak to a broader range of policies but more importantly the book illuminates the trade offs decision makers face in selecting among policies to maximize utility given a state s goals

Why Terrorist Groups Form International Alliances Tricia Bacon, 2018-04-04 Terrorist groups with a shared enemy or ideology have ample reason to work together even if they are primarily pursuing different causes Although partnering with another terrorist organization has the potential to bolster operational effectiveness efficiency and prestige international alliances may expose partners to infiltration security breaches or additional counterterrorism attention Alliances between such organizations which are suspicious and secretive by nature must also overcome significant barriers to trust the exposure to risk must be balanced by the promise of increased lethality resiliency and longevity In Why Terrorist Groups Form International Alliances Tricia Bacon argues that although it may seem natural for terrorist groups to ally groups actually face substantial hurdles when attempting to ally and when alliances do form they are not evenly distributed across pairs Instead she demonstrates that when terrorist groups seek allies to obtain new skills knowledge or capacities for resource acquisition and mobilization only a few groups have the ability to provide needed training safe haven infrastructure or cachet Consequently these select few emerge as preferable partners and become hubs around which other groups cluster According to Bacon shared enemies and common ideologies do not cause alliances to form but create affinity to bind partners and guide partner selection Bacon examines partnerships formed by the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine Al Qaida and Egyptian jihadist groups among others in a series of case studies spanning the dawn of international terrorism in the 1960s to the present Why Terrorist Groups Form International Alliances advances our understanding of the motivations of terrorist alliances and offers insights useful to counterterrorism efforts to disrupt these dangerous relationships

Vladimir Putin A Geostrategic Russian Icon A Eurasian Continent A Russian Superpower A Charismatic World Leader Goeran B. Johansson, 2019-06-06 This is the third book in the series about Vladimir Putin which describes in detail the last two years in Russia's ongoing strategy to work with China within the BRICS and the SCO to deprive the United States its global leading role in the ongoing process of creating a multipolar world with multiple centers of power. We get to follow all the way from the drama with Boeing MH17 over Ukraine in 2014, the Islamic State, Russian, Chinese and American military development and the crisis in the South China Sea, Sweden and finally the dramatic developments in the United States in connection with presidential elections.
