Tishler, 2000 This richly illustrated collection profiles the bold innovators in landscape architecture who around the turn of the twentieth century ventured into the nation's heartland to develop a new style of design celebrating the native midwestern landscape The pioneers of landscape architecture in the Midwest are responsible for creating some of the most recognizable parks cemeteries recreation areas and other public gathering places in the region Midwestern Landscape Architecture includes essays on Adolph Strauch who introduced a new concept of visually integrated landscape treatment in Cincinnati's Spring Grove Cemetery William Le Baron Jenney designer of Chicago's diverse West Parks and Jens Jensen who created the American Garden in Union Park in Chicago a celebration of native flora and founder of The Clearing a unique school of the arts and humanities in Wisconsin Other major figures include Frederick Law Olmsted Sr co designer of New York's Central Park whose work in the Midwest included the layout of the 1893 World's Columbian Exposition and Ossian Cole Simonds who helped reconcile the formal approach of the City Beautiful movement with the naturalism of the Prairie School in urban park design This volume also details the contributions of crusaders for ecological awareness and an appreciation of the region's natural heritage These include horticultural writer Wilhelm Miller who spread the ideals of the Prairie style and Genevieve Gillette a landscape architect and conservationist whose preservation efforts led to the establishment of numerous Michigan state parks and wilderness areas Midwestern Landscape Architecture fosters a better understanding of how landscape design took shape in the Midwest and how the land itself inspired new solutions to enhance its understated beauty Despite Olmsted's assessment of the Illinois prairie as one of the most tiresome landscapes that I ever met with the Midwest has amassed an important legacy of landscape design that continues to influence how people interact with their environment in the heartland

Country, Park and City Francis R. Kowsky, 2003 After beginning his career as an architect in London Calvert Vaux 1824-1895 came to the Hudson River valley in 1850 at the invitation of Andrew Jackson Downing the reform minded writer on houses and gardens As Downing's partner and after Downing's death in 1852 Vaux designed country and suburban dwellings that were remarkable for their well conceived plans and their sensitive rapport with nature By 1857 the year he published his book Villas and Cottages Vaux had moved to New York City There he asked Frederick Law Olmsted to join him in preparing a design for Central Park He spent the next 38 years defending and refining their vision of Central Park as a work of art After the Civil War he and Olmsted led the nascent American park movement with their designs for parks and parkways in Brooklyn Buffalo and many other American cities Apart from undertakings with Olmsted Vaux cultivated a distinguished architectural practice Among his clients were the artist Frederic Church whose dream house Olana he helped create and the reform politician Samuel Tilden whose residence on New York's Gramercy Park remains one of the country's outstanding Victorian buildings A pioneering advocate for apartment houses in American cities Vaux designed buildings that mirrored the advance of urbanization in America including early model housing for the poor He planned the original portions of the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the American Museum of Natural History and conceived a stunning proposal for a vast iron and glass building to house the Centennial Exhibition in Philadelphia Especially notable are the many bridges and other charming structures that he designed for Central Park Vaux considered the Park s Terrace decorated by J W Mould as his greatest achievement An active participant in the cultural and intellectual life of New York Vaux was an idealist who regarded himself as an artist and a professional And while much has been written on Olmsted comparatively little has been published about Vaux The first in depth account of Vaux s career Country Park and City should be of great interest to historians of art architecture and urbanism as well as preservationists and other readers interested in New York City s past and America s first parks cultural uniqueness Instead deep and consistent aesthetic ties especially with England shaped American architecture and house designs Maynard shows that the Greek Revival in particular was an international phenomenon with American achievements inspired by British example and with taste taking precedence over patriotism

Community Green David Nichols, Robert Freestone, 2024-02-06 Neighbourhood open space ranks highly as a key component in suburban liveability assessments originating from the development of urban planning as a profession and the proliferation of the garden suburb Community Green uniquely connects the past present and future of planning for small open spaces around the narrative of internal reserves The distinctive planned spaces are typically enclosed on every side hidden within residential blocks serving as local pocket parks and reflecting the evolving values of community life from the garden city movement to contemporary new urbanism This book resuscitates the enclosed almost secretive reserve from history as a distinctive form of local open space whose problems and potentialities are relevant to many other green community spaces In so doing it opens up even wider connections between localism and globalism the past and the future and for connecting community initiatives to broader global challenges of cohesion health food and climate change This fully illustrated book charts the outcomes and implications of this evolution across several continents injecting human stories of civic initiatives struggles and triumphs along the way Community Green will be of interest to a wide readership interested in studying managing and improving the quality of all small open spaces in the urban landscape

The Promise of the Suburbs Sarah Bilston, 2019-01-01 A study of the fast growing Victorian suburbs as places of connection creativity and professional advance especially for women Literature has from the start of the nineteenth century cast the suburbs as dull vulgar and unimaginative margins where by definition nothing important takes place Sarah Bilston argues that such attitudes were forged to undermine the cultural authority of the emerging middle class and to reinforce patriarchy by trivializing women s work Resisting these stereotypes Bilston reveals that suburban life offered ambitious women especially writers access to supportive communities and opportunities for literary and artistic experimentation as well as professional advancement Bilston interprets both familiar figures sensation novelist Mary Elizabeth Braddon and less well known writers including interior design journalist Jane Ellen Panton and garden writer Jane Loudon to reveal how women and society at large navigated a fast growing rapidly changing landscape Far from being a cultural dead end the new suburbs promised women access to the exciting opportunities of modernity
