Mapping Our Selves:

Mapping Our Selves Helen M. Buss, 1994 In Mapping Our Selves Helen Buss considers a broad range of autobiographical works written by Canadian women including memoirs journals and conventional autobiography as well as experiments in blending a number of writing genres She constructs her own mapping theory of how female identity is formed in order to illustrate how identity can be understood through the relationship between writer text and reader

Mapping the Terrain of the Heart Stephen Goldbart, David Wallin, 1997-03-01 If you have read other books about love that have fallen short read this book Mapping the Terrain of the Heart is an eloquent guide through love's diverse landscapes that provides a whole new way to think about love relationships Both descriptive and prescriptive it is a book for anyone looking to experience a committed relationship full of passion and tenderness In the labyrinth of love every one of us has his or her own inner map Psychologists Goldbart and Wallin lead us along the metaphorical superhighways on the map of love by charting six easily grasped skills the six capacities of love that are all necessary to a long term stable love relationship the capacities for erotic involvement for merging for idealization for integration for refinding and for self transcendence The authors demonstrate in a very practical hands on way how individuals and couples can use these capacities to work on breaking down their usual defenses and grow toward a deeper understanding and connection In defending ourselves against disappointment in love we frequently and often unknowingly throw up obstacles create roadblocks and take detours around these six capacities We think such detours will take us where we want to go in a relationship but too often they do not Goldbart and Wallin's sophisticated but accessible approach using case studies and practical pointers throughout based on solid psycho analytic theory while creating a completely new model for love relationships that also makes intuitive sense Mapping the Terrain of the Heart offers a comprehensive psychology of love that maps out the paths to a successful relationship and shows how both individuals and couples can progress toward that ever elusive goal of lasting and passionate love

Mapping the Subject Steve Pile, Nigel Thrift, 2005-11-22 Rejecting static and reductionist understandings of subjectivity this book asks how people find their place in the world Mapping the Subject is an inter disciplinary exploration of subjectivity which focuses on the importance of space in the constitution of acting thinking feeling individuals The authors develop their arguments through detailed case studies and clear theoretical expositions Themes discussed are organised into four parts constructing the subject sexuality and subjectivity the limits of identity and the politics of the subject There is here a commitment to mapping the subject a subject which is in some ways fluid in other ways fixed which is located in constantly unfolding power knowledge and social relationships This book is moreover about new maps for the subject

Mapping the Self Frédéric Regard, 2003 To Know Ourselves, 1996 Our Minds, Our Selves Keith Oatley, 2018-04-10 An original history of psychology told through the stories of its most important breakthroughs and the people who made them Advances in psychology have revolutionized our understanding of the human mind Imaging technology allows researchers to monitor brain activity letting us see what happens when we perceive think and feel But technology is only part of how ideas about the mind and brain have developed over the past century and a half In Our Minds Our Selves distinguished psychologist and writer Keith Oatley provides an engaging original and authoritative history of modern psychology told through the stories of its most important breakthroughs and the men and women who made them Our Minds Our Selves traverses a fascinating terrain forms of conscious and unconscious knowledge brain physiology emotion stages of mental development from infancy to adulthood language acquisition and use the nature of memory mental illness morality free will creativity the mind at work in art and literature and most important our ability to cooperate with one another Controversial experiments such as Stanley Milgram's investigation of our willingness to obey authority and inflict pain and Philip Zimbardo and his colleagues study of behavior in a simulated prison are covered in detail Biographical sketches illuminate the thinkers behind key insights and turning points historical figures such as Hermann Helmholtz Charles Darwin Sigmund Freud Jean Piaget B F Skinner and Alan Turing leading contemporaries such as Geoffrey Hinton Michael Tomasello and Tania Singer and influential people from other fields including Margaret Mead Noam Chomsky Jane Goodall and Gabrielle Starr Enhancing our understanding of ourselves and others psychology holds the potential to create a better world Our Minds Our Selves tells the story of this most important of sciences in a new and appealing way

Women, America, and Movement Susan L. Roberson, 1998 Since the colonial days American women have traveled migrated and relocated always faced with the challenge of reconstructing their homes for themselves and their families Women America and Movement offers a journey through largely unexplored territory the experiences of migrating American women These narratives both real and imagined represent a range of personal and critical perspectives some of the women describe their travels as expansive and freeing while others relate the dreadful costs and sacrifices of relocating Despite the range of essays featured in this study the writings all coalesce around the issues of politics poetry and self identity described by Adrienne Rich as the elements of the politics of location treated here as the politics of relocation The narratives featured in this book explore the impact of race class and sexual economics on migratory women their self identity and their roles in family and social life These issues demonstrate that in addition to geographic place ideology is itself a space to be traversed By examining the writings of such women as Louise Erdrich Zora Neale Hurston and Gertrude Stein the essayists included in this volume offer a variety of experiences The book confronts such issues as racist politicking against Native Americans African Americans and Asian immigrants sexist attitudes that limit women to the roles of wife mother and sexual object and exploitation of migrants from Appalachia and of women newly arrived in America These essays also delve into the writings themselves by looking at what happens to narrative structure as authors or their characters cross geographic boundaries The reader sees how women writers negotiate relocation in their texts and how the written word becomes a place where one finds oneself

interdisciplinary autoethnographic approach that both emphasizes the authors entangled relationships with the more than human and understands the land and sea scapes of Newfoundland as integral to their thinking theorizing and writing The authors draw on feminist trans queer critical race Indigenous decolonial and posthuman theories in order to examine the relationships between origins memories place identities bodies pasts and futures The chapters address a range of concerns among them love memory weather bodies vulnerability fog myth ice desire hauntings and home Autoethnography and Feminist Theory at the Water's Edge will be of interest to students and scholars across a range of disciplines including gender studies cultural geography folklore and anthropology as well as those working in autoethnography life writing and island studies
