

A painterly illustration of a woman with blonde hair, wearing a dark vest over a light-colored shirt, holding a baby in her arms. They are seated at a dark wooden table. On the table, there is a glass of water, a small bowl, and some other items. In the background, there are some flowers and a lamp. The overall mood is warm and intimate.

Merchant Vessels of the United States... United States. Coast Guard,1955 Merchant Vessels of the United States ... (including Yachts) ,1952 Memory in German Romanticism Christopher R. Clason,Joseph D. Rockelmann,Christina M. Weiler,2023-03-31 Memory in German Romanticism treats memory as a core element in the production and reception of German art and literature of the Romantic era The contributors explore the artistic expression of memory under the categories of imagination image and reception Romantic literary aesthetics raises the subjective imagination to a level of primary importance for the creation of art It goes beyond challenging reason and objectivity two leading intellectual faculties of eighteenth century Enlightenment and instead elevates subjective invention to form and sustain memory and imagination Indeed memory and imagination both cognitive functions seek to assemble the elements of one s own experience either directed toward the past memory or toward the future imagination coherently into a narrative And like memories images hold the potential to elicit charged emotional responses those responses live on through time becoming part of the spatial and temporal reception of the artist and their work While imagination generates and images trigger and capture memories reception creates a temporal spatial context for art organizing it and rendering it memorable both for good and for bad Thus through the categories of imagination image and reception this volume explores the phenomenon of German Romantic memory from different perspectives and in new contexts
