Mibing Godwho Is Not Mibed Christian Belief In A Secular Society:

Christian Theology for a Secular Society Mark G. McKim, 2008-01-01 It s hard to be the only one That single sentence from a teenage congregant sums up the conviction that motivated Christian Theology for a Secular Society In these dying days of Christendom the reality that most Western Christians face is living out their faith as a minority in the midst of a culture that is at every level personal institutional and societal secular in nature While most living in Western societies still affirm belief in God and often other vaguely recognizable Christian beliefs these affirmations frequently have little to do with how daily life is lived The idea that the God best known to us in Jesus Christ is actually in charge of life is foreign For most Christianity simply does not form an overarching system of meaning that shapes life Instead life is lived largely without reference to God And to live any other way is often hard In this volume Mark McKim sets out to do theology in this context How does one explain the core historic Christian doctrines in a way that makes sense in a secular culture and in a way that will gain a hearing What does it mean to be the church in this new situation Throughout McKim asks the question so what as he relates Christian teachings to a secular society and to what is actually happening in the local church McKim s goal is to enable the singing of the Lord s song in the new and strange land of a secular society

The Still Small Voice Donald L. Carveth, 2018-05-01 Whereas Freud himself viewed conscience as one of the functions of the superego in The Still Small Voice Psychoanalytic Reflections on Guilt and Conscience the author argues that superego and conscience are distinct mental functions and that therefore a fourth mental structure the conscience needs to be added to the psychoanalytic structural theory of the mind He claims that while both conscience and superego originate in the so called pre oedipal phase of infant and child development they are comprised of contrasting and often conflicting identifications The primary object still most often the mother is inevitably experienced as on the one hand nurturing and soothing and on the other as frustrating and persecuting Conscience is formed in identification with the nurturer the superego in identification with the aggressor There is a principle of reciprocity at work in the human psyche for love received one seeks to return love for hate hate the talion law
