1. Background The purpose of this study was to investigate the effect of a 12-week, low-intensity, resistance training program on the muscle strength and endurance of older adults. The study was conducted in a laboratory setting and involved 20 participants aged 65 and older. The participants were randomly assigned to either a control group or an intervention group. The intervention group performed a resistance training program consisting of three sessions per week, each lasting 30 minutes. The control group did not perform any resistance training. The study was approved by the local ethics committee.
