NOAA Celebrating 200 Years of Science, Service, and Stewardship, 2007 Created for the 200th anniversary of the U S Coast and Geodetic Survey the original heritage agency of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration NOAA Explains NOAA's origins mission and services and identifies NOAA's history making employees and activities Science with Impact Anne Helen Toomey, 2024-12-03 Will you please just listen to me If you are a scientist or a fan of science have you ever wondered why your fact based explanation of ground breaking scientific research falls flat with family friends and the general public Do you want your research to matter to society and not simply be confined to arcane discussion in academic circles Social science communicator Anne Helen Toomey argues that science today faces a public relations crisis due to its historic emphasis on trickle down research and she calls for a whole scale change in how scientists engage with the world This book is a guide for the scientific community and its allies to build public trust in science and scientists again In this accessible volume Toomey unpacks why facts mean different things to different people and how science based attitudes and behaviors spread Using humor stories and down to earth examples from her own science journey she explains why seemingly straightforward evidence can sometimes feel irrelevant or even threatening to a skeptical public This practical how to guide will help scientists think more carefully about the choices they make even before collecting data It explores how researchers and others who work with science can address public distrust communicate about uncertainty and engage with policymakers for real world impact Science with Impact argues that science can and should make a meaningful difference in society It offers hope and guidance to those of us who wish to take the steps to make it so Hermeneutic Philosophy of Science, Van Gogh's Eyes, and God B.E. Babich, 2013-06-29 perceptual essences that can be rendered directly manifest in perception with the help of theoretically structured instruments serving as readable technologies Scientific knowledge should thus be understood as an extension of unassisted perception A perceptual fact has an outer horizon which separates it from the ground on which it appears and an inner horizon composed of a multiplicity of possible perceptual profiles organized by an invariant essence The perceiving subject can bring forth a representative sample of the profiles in question occasionally by making use of certain technological processes which are themselves subject to interpretation in terms of theoretical representations The theoretical entities described in these representations are not simply detected thanks to an inferential operation but rather they are directly perceived It follows from this that the correspondence between the manifest image and the scientific image is not done one to one but by a many to one or one to many application between contextually defined perceptual objects within contexts that are mutually incompatible but complementary This should not however be understood as a form of conventionalism nor as a form of cultural relativism Pre comprehension which guides interpretation imposes strict limits to the descriptive categories which can be used and to the manner in which they can be linked to appropriate empirical objects The author applies his hermeneutic principles to the study of visual perception In fact this question is treated in the first part of the book The Art and Science of Portraiture Sara Lawrence-Lightfoot, Jessica Hoffmann Davis, 2002-10-17 The writing is beautiful the ideas persuasive and the picture it paints of the process of careful observation is one that every writer should read A rich and wonderful book American Journal of Education A landmark contribution to the field of research methodology this remarkable book illuminates the origins purposes and features of portraiture placing it within the larger discourse on social science inquiry and mapping it onto the broader terrain of qualitative research The Eclectic Magazine of Foreign Literature, Science, and Art ,1871 Three Science Fiction Novellas J. H. Rosny, 2012-01-01 Probably the greatest of all French speaking science fiction writers after Jules Verne I was unprepared for the power and beauty Michael Dirda The Washington Post To the short list that includes Jules Verne and H G Wells as founding fathers of science fiction the name of the Belgian writer J H Rosny A n must be added He was the first writer to conceive and attempt to narrate the workings of aliens and alternate life forms His fascination with evolutionary scenarios and long historical vistas from first man to last man are important precursors to the myriad cosmic epics of modern science fiction Until now his work has been virtually unknown and unavailable in the English speaking world but it is crucial for our understanding of the genre Three wonderfully imaginative novellas are included in this volume The Xipehuz is a prehistoric tale in which the human species battles strange geometric alien life forms Another World is the story of a mysterious being who does not live in the same acoustic and temporal world as humans The Death of the Earth is a scientifically uncompromising Last Man story The book also includes an insightful critical introduction that places Rosny s work within the context of evolutionary biology Rosny was a species pluralist and believed that human beings are no more entitled than any other creature to reign supreme He would have felt right at home among the Men In Black Laura Miller The New Yorker Putnam's monthly magazine of American literature, science, and art ,1854 Putnam's Magazine.
