A History of Women's Writing in Germany, Austria and Switzerland Jo Catling, 2000-03-23 This volume makes the wide ranging work of German women writers visible to a wider audience It is the first work in English to provide a chronological introduction to and overview of women s writing in German speaking countries from the Middle Ages to the present day Extensive guides to further reading and a bibliographical guide to the work of more than 400 women writers form an integral part of the volume which will be indispensable for students and scholars of German literature and all those interested in women s and gender studies

Nature Peter Coates, 2013-04-26 Nature is a deceptively simple and ahistorical term suggesting intrinsic unchanging reality Yet nature has a history too both in terms of human attitudes and human impacts Coates outlines the major understandings of nature in the western world since classical times from nature as higher authority to its more recent meaning of threatened physical space and life forms Unlike many others this book places the history of attitudes to nature within the story of human induced changes in the material environment And few others take a supranational perspective or cross the divides between historical eras A distinctive unifying theme is Coates s interest in how green writers over the last thirty years have interpreted our past dealings with nature specifically their efforts to diagnose the roots of contemporary ecological problems and their search for ancestors He concludes with a discussion of the future of nature in the context of developments such as the new ecology global warming advances in genetic engineering and research on animal behaviour Assuming no previous knowledge Nature provides the reader with an accessible synthesis and introduction to some of environmental history s central features and debates confirming its status as one of the most enthralling current pursuits within historical studies This will be essential reading for second year undergraduates and above in cultural history and environmental history as well as to the general reader interested in environmental issues

Human Nature, Cultural Diversity, and the French Enlightenment Henry Vyverberg, 1989 In this work Henry Vyverberg traces the evolution and consequences of a crucial idea in French Enlightenment thought the idea of human nature Human nature was commonly seen as a broadly universal unchanging entity though perhaps modifiable by geographical social and historical factors Enlightenment empiricism suggested a degree of cultural diversity that has often been underestimated in studies of the age Evidence here is drawn from Diderot s celebrated Encyclopedia and from a vast range of writing by such Enlightenment notables as Voltaire Rousseau and d Holbach Vyverberg explains not only the age s undoubted fascination with uniformity in human nature but also its acknowledgment of significant limitations on that uniformity He shows that although the Enlightenment s historical sense was often blinkered by its notions of a uniform human nature there were also cracks in this concept that developed during the Enlightenment itself

The Cultural Aesthetics of Eighteenth-Century Porcelain Michael E. Yonan, 2017-07-05 During the eighteenth century porcelain held significant cultural and artistic importance This collection represents one of the first thorough scholarly attempts to explore the diversity of the medium s cultural meanings Among the volume's purposes is to expose porcelain objects to the analytical and theoretical rigor which is routinely applied to painting sculpture and architecture and thereby to reposition eighteenth century porcelain within new and more fruitful interpretative frameworks The authors also analyze the aesthetics of porcelain and its physical characteristics particularly the way its tactile and visual qualities reinforced and challenged the social processes within which porcelain objects were viewed collected and used The essays in this volume treat objects such as figurines representing British theatrical celebrities a boxwood and ebony figural porcelain stand works of architecture meant to approximate porcelain visually porcelain flowers adorning objects such as candelabra and perfume burners and tea sets decorated with unusual designs The geographical areas covered in the collection include China North Africa Spain France Italy Britain America Japan Austria and Holland

Diderot and Lessing as Exemplars of a Post-Spinozist Mentality Louise Crowther, 2010 Renowned as the chief challenger of traditional views of morality man's freedom and religion from 1650-1750 Benedict de Spinoza 1632-77 spread alarm and confusion throughout Europe through his writings Theologians and rulers desperately sought to ban the spread of Spinozist ideas and in the post-Spinozist climate eighteenth century thinkers often exasperated and perplexed attempted to cope with the fallout from this intellectual explosion The philosophical radicalism of Denis Diderot 1713-84 a French philosophe and Gotthold Ephraim Lessing 1729-81 a German philosopher well exemplifies the post-Spinozist mentality that permeated eighteenth century thinking As they grapple with the loss of intellectual moral and theological certainties Diderot and Lessing re-work post-Spinozist ideas and in many instances elucidate even more radical ideas than Spinoza himself had envisaged

Nature Displayed L.J. Jordanova, 2014-06-11 A collection of essays including 3 that have never been published before by one of the leading figures in cultural history Professor Jordanova examines and reinterprets the writings of eighteenth century thinkers and in the process sheds light on contemporary views on issues such as motherhood sexuality the body art and medicine The volume includes some of the author's most controversial and pioneering work all the pieces have been revised in the light of the latest historiography and much of the material is published here for the first time

Environmentalism David Peterson Del Mar, 2014-05-22 Environmental movements have produced some impressive results including cleaner air and the preservation of selected species and places But movements that challenged western prosperity and comfort seldom made much progress and many radical environmentalists have been unabashed utopianists In this short guide Peterson del Mar untangles this paradox by showing how prosperity is essential to environmentalism Industrialisation made conservation sensible but also drove people to look for meaning in nature even as they consumed its products more relentlessly Hence Englandled the way in both manufacturing and preserving its countryside and the United Statescreated a matchless set of national parks as it became the world's pre-eminent economic and military power Environmentalismconsiders both the conservation and preservation movements and less organized forms of nature loving from seaside vacations to ecotourism to argue that these activities have commonly distracted us from the hard work of creating a sustainable and sensible relationship with the environment

Morbid Undercurrents Sean M. Quinlan, 2021-09-15 In Morbid Undercurrents Sean M Quinlan follows how medical ideas stemming from the so called birth of the clinic zigzagged across the intellectual landscape of the French Revolution and its aftermath. It was a remarkable hotspot in the historical timeline when doctors and scientists pioneered a staggering number of fields from forensic investigation to evolutionary biology and their innovations captivated the public imagination. During the 1790s and beyond medicine left the somber halls of universities, hospitals and learned societies and became profoundly politicized, inspiring a whole panoply of different, often bizarre and shocking subcultures. Quinlan reconstructs the ethos of the time and its labyrinthine underworld, traversing the intersection between medicine and pornography in the works of the Marquis de Sade, efforts to create a natural history of women, the proliferation of sex manuals and books on family hygiene, anatomical projects to sculpt antique bodies, the rage for physiognomic self-help books that taught readers to identify social and political types in post-revolutionary Paris, the use of physiological medicine as a literary genre and the mesmerist renaissance with its charged debates over animal magnetism and somnambulism. In creating this reconstruction, Quinlan argues that the place and authority of medicine evolved at least in part out of an attempt to redress the acute sense of dislocation produced by the Revolution. Morbid Undercurrents exposes how medicine then became a subversive, radical and ideologically charged force in French society. The Mountain and the Politics of Representation Jenny Hall, Martin Hall, 2023-11-01 The stories we tell, published or otherwise, condition our mountain experiences in practice and reinforce cultural memory and representation. Yet as this book and the authors within it set out to demonstrate, if we look beyond the boundaries of this singular white history, there is a rich diversity of stories to tell. This volume contributes to a growing body of scholarship that calls for a heterogeneity of voices in mountain memoir genres. For the first time, this diverse scholarship interrogates how mountaineering literary and media culture impact bodies, spaces and places in order to nuance how commodification intersects across social categories and is embodied in multi-dimensional ways. In this volume, we explore a burgeoning tradition of mountaineering literature of cinema and of memoir to appreciate difference beyond the habitual heroic white male adventurer that dominates screens and bookshelves. Through exploring multidimensional axes of social differentiation from gender, race, class and age to disability and sexuality, the book will demonstrate how commodification is embodied through representation in mountaineering literature, media, film and memoir in mountaineering spaces. Amongst our aims, this book intends to understand how multiple social dimensions overlap and work to produce independent systems of exclusion and inclusion that focus on untraditional ways to be a mountaineer.
