Jeffrey H. Cohen, 2015-11-15 Significant scholarship exists on anthropological fieldwork and methodologies. Some anthropologists have also published memoirs of their research experiences. Renowned anthropologist Jeffrey Cohen's Eating Soup without a Spoon is a first of its kind hybrid of the two expertly melding story with methodology to create a compelling narrative of fieldwork that is deeply grounded in anthropological theory. Cohen's first foray into fieldwork was in 1992 when he lived in Santa Anna del Valle in rural Oaxaca, Mexico. While recounting his experiences studying how rural folks adapted to far-reaching economic changes, Cohen is candid about the mistakes he made and the struggles in the village. From the pressures of gaining the trust of a population to the fear of making errors in data collection, Cohen explores the intellectual processes behind ethnographic research. He offers tips for collecting data, avoiding pitfalls, and embracing the chaos and shocks that come with working in an unfamiliar environment. Cohen's own photographs enrich his vivid portrayals of daily life. In this groundbreaking work, Cohen discusses the adventure, wonder, community, and friendships he encountered during his first year of work, but first and foremost, he writes in service to the field as a place to do research, to test ideas, develop theories, and model how humans cope and react to the world.

Histories of Anthropology Annual Regna

Darnell, Frederic W. Gleach, 2006-02-01 Histories of Anthropology Annual promotes diverse perspectives on the discipline's history within a global context. Critical, comparative, analytical, and narrative studies involving all aspects and subfields of anthropology will be included along with reviews and shorter pieces. This inaugural volume offers insightful looks at the careers, lives, and influence of anthropologists and others, including Herbert Spencer, Frederick Starr, Mark Hanna Watkins, Leslie White, and Jacob Ezra Thomas. Topics in this volume include anti-imperialism, racism in Guatemala, the study of peasants, the Carnegie Institution, Mayan archaeology and espionage, Cold War anthropology, African studies, literary influences, church and religion, and tribal museums. Regna Darnell is a professor of anthropology at the University of Western Ontario. She is the author of Invisible Genealogies: A History of Americanist Anthropology (Nebraska, 2001) and Edward Sapir: Linguist, Anthropologist, Humanist. Frederic W. Gleach is a senior lecturer and curator of anthropology at Cornell University and the author of Powhatan's World and Colonial Virginia: A Conflict of Cultures (Nebraska, 1997). Together they co-edited Celebrating a Century of the American Anthropological Association: Presidential Portraits (Nebraska, 2002).

Provisioning Paris Steven Laurence Kaplan, 2018-09-05 Dependence upon grain deeply marked every aspect of life in eighteenth-century France. Steven Kaplan focuses upon this dependence at the point where it placed the greatest strain on the state, the society, and the individual: on the daily supply of grain and flour that furnished the staff of life. He reconstructs the history of provisioning in pre-industrial Paris and provides a comprehensive view of a culture shaped by the subsistence imperative. Who were the agents of the provisioning trade? What were their commercial practices? What sorts of relations did they maintain with each other? How did the authorities regulate their business? To answer these questions, Professor Kaplan combed the archives and libraries of France. He maps out the elementary structures of the trade and shows how they were transformed as a result of cultural and political as well as commercial and technological changes In rich ethnographic detail he evokes the day to day life of merchants millers bakers brokers and market officials He shows how flour superseded grain and how the millers overtook the merchants in the provisioning process He explores the tension between the suppliers need for freedom and the consumers need for security Even as he weaves the intricate patterns of life inside and outside the marketplace he never loses sight of the immense interests at stake the stability and legitimacy of the government the durability of the social structure and the survival of the people The History of Mexico Philip Russell, 2011-04-06 The History of Mexico From Pre Conquest to Present traces the last 500 years of Mexican history from the indigenous empires that were devastated by the Spanish conquest through the election of 2006 and its aftermath The book offers a straightforward chronological survey of Mexican history from the pre colonial times to the present and includes a glossary as well as numerous tables and images for comprehensive study For additional information and classroom resources please visit

The History of Mexico companion website at www.routledge.com/textbooks/russell Social Sciences And Farming Systems Research Jeffrey R Jones, Ben J Wallace, Robert Booth, Robert E Rhoades, 2019-07-11 The publication of this book has required the cooperation of many people along the way From its very conception the project of bringing together experiences from ongoing Farming Systems Research projects has faced a problem of communication due to the dispersal of the participants Dr William Partridge and Lynne Goldstein were instrumental in the initial presentation of the symposium on Social Science participation in Farming Systems Research at the 83rd Annual Meeting of the American Anthropological Association Ben Wallace has done an admirable job not only as editor but as a point man throughout the process or organizing the conference and preparing the manuscript He deserves credit for expediting countless activities that could never have otherwise been accomplished because of the vagaries of international mails and telecommunications Perspectives In U.s. Marxist Anthropology David J. Hakken, Hanna Lessinger, June Nash, Florence Babb, 2019-06-04 An assessment of current trends in Marxist anthropology this collection of essays reflects both the unifying force of Marxist thought and the diversity of contemporary anthropology Linked by a common approach a shared commitment to Marxist analysis the contributors look at a variety of phenomena including the problems of labor and work in terms of a coherent theory of Marxism Examining political economic and ethnic situations the authors discuss social structures ideology and class formation This unique volume warrants the attention of both Marxists and non Marxists in anthropology and of scholars in other fields Economic Development, Integration, and Morality in Asia and the Americas Donald C.

Wood, 2009-04-09 Explores economic development integration and morality in economic transactions in Asia and the Americas This title includes chapters that look at underground gambling behavior in China in light of that country's economic boom and retail store expansion and local socioeconomic effects in rural Mexico Women's Roles in Latin America and the Caribbean Kathryn A. Sloan, 2011-08-03 This book surveys Latin American and Caribbean women's contributions throughout history from conquest through the 20th century From the colonial period to the present day women across the Caribbean and Latin America were an intrinsic part of the advancement of society and helped determine the course of history Women s Roles in Latin America and the Caribbean highlights their varied and important roles over five centuries of time providing geographical breadth and ethnic diversity to the Women s Roles through History series Women s roles are the focus of all six chapters covering themes that include religion family law politics culture and labor Each section provides specific examples of real life women throughout history providing readers with an overview of Latin American women s history that pays special attention to continuity across regions and variances over time and geography Ageing and Poverty in Africa

Alun Williams,2018-10-24 This title was first published in 2003 The rapid demographic aging of populations worldwide and most dramatically in developing countries will result in unprecedented increases in the absolute and relative numbers of the aged in these countries Whilst developed economies already have the basic infrastructure in place through which to support their ageing populations developing nations frequently do not and it should not be assumed that their best course of action is to attempt to duplicate the supportive infrastructures of developed countries In developing nations these may be culturally inappropriate geographically inaccessible economically or politically unsustainable or all of these Effective and sustainable support services must be designed with reference to the circumstances of the client group and it is increasingly evident that knowledge of the lives of the aged in developing countries is currently very limited This book aims to inform the reader on the livelihoods of elders in developing countries and to stimulate a discussion of appropriate methods of supporting them in maintaining their quality of life during and beyond the coming decades of demographic change It does so through reporting the lives and livelihoods of the aged population of Kikole a pseudonym a highly impoverished village in Uganda Individual livelihoods are explored from a lifecourse perspective with present day quality of life being shown often to be the result of earlier enforced changes in circumstances arising in economic social or cultural marginalization political or physical insecurity or macro economic change rather than in the physical or mental changes that may accompany advancing age

Between Field and Cooking Pot Florence E. Babb,1998 From reviews of the first edition The book has a clear and readable style moving easily between vignettes of marketwomen s lives descriptions of the markets themselves and surveys of the theoretical literature Babb s long close involvement with the Huaraz markets is apparent As someone who has spent a lot of time in Andean markets I found the book pleasurable to read because it recreated the experience of the marketplace so well American Ethnologist Between Field and Cooking Pot offers details of the daily lives of marketwomen in the central Andean departmental capital of Huaraz A welcome addition to studies of women and international development this book contains a wealth of firsthand material collected through informal participant observation as well as formal interviews and analysis of statistical data The book encourages us to imagine how the dynamic culture of marketwomen might intersect with the construction representation and effects of class and gender American Anthropologist The book has a clear and readable style moving easily between vignettes of marketwomen's lives, descriptions of the markets themselves and surveys of the theoretical literature. Babb's long close involvement with the Huaraz markets is apparent. As someone who has spent a lot of time in Andean markets, I found the book pleasurable to read because it recreated the experience of the marketplace so well.

American Ethnologist This revised edition of Between Field and Cooking Pot offers an updated appraisal of what neoliberal politics and economics mean in the lives of marketwomen in the nineties based on new fieldwork conducted in 1997. Babb also reflects on how recent currents in feminist and anthropological studies have caused her to rethink some aspects of Andean marketers in Peruvian culture and society.

The Sociology of Economic Life Mark Granovetter, 2018-04-17 This book incorporates classic and contemporary readings in economic sociology and related disciplines to provide students with a broad understanding of the many dimensions of economic life. It discusses Max Weber's key concepts in economics and sociology.

Textile Economies Walter E. Little, Patricia A. McAnany, 2011-10-16 Textiles have been a highly valued and central part of the politics of human societies across culture divides and over millennia. The economy of textiles provides insight into the fabric of social relations, local and global politics and diverse ideologies. Textiles are a material element of society that fosters the study of continuities and disjunctions in the economic and social realities of past and present societies. From stick loom weaving to transnational factories, the production of cloth and its transformation into clothing and other woven goods offers a way to study the linkages between economics and politics. The volume is oriented around a number of themes: textile production, textiles as trade goods, textiles as symbols, textiles in tourism and textiles in the transnational processes. Textile Economies appeals to a broad range of scholars interested in the intersection of material culture, political economy and globalization, such as archaeologists, cultural anthropologists, economists, museum curators and historians.
