Quality Care For Elderly People:

Quality care for elderly people Edward J. Dickinson, Peter P. Mayer, Martin Sandler, 2013-11-11 This book is all about improving the health care of elderly people which is facing unprecedented challenges in the 1990s. Energies need to be concentrated in three main areas: the development of high quality care in community settings, the future role of specialized hospital services, and the way that long term care is delivered. All of these are interconnected and success with any of them depends on successful relationships. For example, success in community care requires working interfaces with primary care, the private sector, and hospital care. These interfaces are not static but comprise dynamic interactions between people in different teams with different backgrounds, training, perspectives, and interests. What people do is influenced strongly by the organizations they work for. These inescapable facts lead us to the structure of this book. By concentrating on sectors, people, and organizations we hope to deal with all the important relationships in a coherent way. Yet this book is not intended to be from a service providers perspective. We have arranged the book in this way so that providers are best equipped to meet the needs of their customers, whether they are patients, residents, or clients. We know that elderly people may experience dislocation in their care because of frictions and gaps between different sectors, disciplines, teams, and organizations. To achieve seamless care, there is a need for greater understanding and harmony of purpose and action across the care spectrum.

Towards Quality Care Caroline Mozley, Caroline Sutcliffe, Heather Bagley, Lis Cordingley, David Challis, Peter Huxley, Alistair Burns, 2017-11-22 This unique evaluation of the outcomes of residential and nursing home care for older people identifies the factors determining the quality of life of older people who have moved into care homes. It examines the relationship between older people's psychological well-being and the kinds of care received in residential homes. The volume draws on a study of UK care homes interviewing new entrants soon after admission and then on two further occasions to ascertain their experience of care and their quality of life. Interviews were also undertaken with care staff and their managers, and the care environment of each home was assessed. The authors provide valuable evidence of the factors which can influence older people's well-being on entering a care home and how they adjust, either positively or not, to their new surroundings. The volume offers clear pointers towards ways to improve quality of residential and nursing home care.

Quality of Life Improvement: Smart Approaches for the Working and Aging Populations Sabina Baraković, Zahid Akhtar, Jasmina Barakovic Husic, 2024-03-19 Quality of life QoL is a broad concept that has many definitions and meanings depending on the context under consideration It can be perceived as the overall enjoyment of life and a multidimensional concept which emphasizes the self perceptions of an individual's current state of mind which is affected in a complex way by the person's physical health psychological state personal beliefs social relationships and their relationship to salient features of their environment On the other hand demographic data suggests an increased need for workers worldwide and a rapid aging trend in the active workforce as well as in general This trend of workforce deficit and population aging will be even more prominent in the future Therefore in order to have and sustain a healthy motivated and productive workforce but also healthy independent and active elderly adults one must improve their QoL and vice versa Improving QoL will improve general public health and in turn create communities who can contribute in diverse and positive ways to both promote and sustain health for future generations

Improving the Quality of Life of Elderly Persons in Situations of Dependency Eamon O'Shea, 2002-01-01 New policy responses are needed to address the many challenges posed by the ageing of populations throughout Europe in terms of social security systems health care family formation employment and education A group of specialists has been established to examine all the aspects of the life of dependent elderly persons including the needs of carers care systems for sufferers from dementia dependent elderly persons integration in society their participation in the life of the community and the prevention of dependence This report argues in favour of providing integrated multi disciplinary fair and accessible services which focus on individuals and respect their views in a spirit of solidarity between the generations at family local community and national levels

Handbook of Research on Patient Safety and Quality Care through Health Informatics Michell, Vaughan, Rosenorn-Lanng, Deborah J., Gulliver, Stephen R., Currie, Wendy, 2013-09-30 Medical and health activities can greatly benefit from the effective use of health informatics By capturing processing and disseminating information to the correct systems and processes decision making can be more successful and quality care and patient safety would see significant improvements The Handbook of Research on

Patient Safety and Quality Care through Health Informatics highlights current research and trends from both professionals and researchers on health informatics as applied to the needs of patient safety and quality care Bringing together theory and practical approaches for patient needs this book is essential for educators and trainers at multiple experience levels in the fields of medicine and medical informatics Linking Quality of Long-Term Care and Quality of Life Linda S. Noelker, PhD,Zev Harel, PhD,2000-11-30 This book grapples with some of the most significant issues in long term care today that is becoming more explicit about what should be meant by terms like quality of care and quality of Life Rosalie A Kane DSW University of Minnesota A major resource for all concerned about improving the future for the long term handicapped Robert Morris DSW This volume will strengthen our understanding of the relationship between providing care to the elderly and improving their quality of life The contributors examine areas where systems can be improved from design to delivery Specific topics include enhancement of the self efforts of regulatory and accrediting bodies to improve care methods for evaluating quality and implementing a holistic approach to care among others This book remains essential reading for professionals involved in long term care including assisted living and nursing home administrators gerontologists geriatricians geriatric nurses and social workers Diversity and Inclusion in Quality Patient Care Marcus L. Martin,Sheryl Heron,Lisa Moreno-Walton,Anna Walker Jones,2015-12-18 No other hospital department cares for patients as diverse as those who come to the Emergency Department ED These patients encompass all stages and positions of life and health Many belong to distinct minority cultures defined by the patient s sexual orientation and gender identity disability spirituality language race and ethnicity It has been well documented that minorities experience inadequate emergency treatment and face poorer healthcare outcomes Furthermore research has established that the elderly ethnic minorities the poor and persons with Medicaid coverage are more likely than other people to utilize the emergency department rather than primary care services With the passage of the Affordable Care Act particularly the Medicaid expansion EDs across the United States are poised to care for an unprecedented number of underserved minorities The need to equip emergency healthcare professionals to practice medicine that is culturally competent in the broadest possible sense has never been greater Diversity and Inclusion in Quality Patient Care aims to fill this need Quality-of-Life Research in Chinese, Western and Global Contexts Daniel T.L. Shek,Ying Keung Chan,Paul S.N. Lee,2005-06-08 The majority of studies on the quality of life have been conducted in Western contexts and are based on Western participants Comparatively speaking there are only a few studies that have been conducted in different Chinese contexts Also there are fewer QOL studies based on children and adolescents or studies that examine the relationship between QOL and economic disadvantage In addition more research is needed to address the methodological issues related to the assessment of quality of life This volume is a constructive response to the challenges described above It is the first book to cover research in Chinese Western and global contexts in a single volume It is a ground breaking volume in which Chinese studies on the quality of life are collected The book includes papers addressing family QOL quality of life in adolescents experiencing economic disadvantage and methodological issues in the assessment of QOL It is written by researchers working in a variety of disciplines
