the progress children make over time and to quantify their achievement at various stages of development This volume informs stakeholders about the realistic goals of early language learning their efficiency and how much progress children make over time

Jackals' Wedding Dawn Kawahara,2003-01-21 Jackals Wedding my story within a family story set in India the land of my birth tells of a past of puzzling opposites Tigers and oil and tea are all I remember I once blithely answered an Indian professor whod taken me for a whirl When he stopped dead held me at arms length and searched my eyes I had to think twice about the superficial untruth Id blurted There were many parts of my early life Id locked away in the dark just like my mother and my grandmother before her The good things that surfaced were idealized airbrushed into scenes worthy of Kipling or The Little Princess I knew the romantic version but what was the truth What had really happened during those years in India How had my mother and father became ensnared in a storm and sun relationship a jackals wedding with my sister and me dragged along unwittingly How had the exigencies of wartime prevented them from dealing with their own blow ups What was the big taboo within our family Why so many secrets locked away as my mothers heart had seemed locked to me I was hungry to know the truth so I began to dig down to the beginning through my first memories that are entwined with the unrest of the times With a stroke of serendipity my husband convinced me I must return to India the land of my birth and my childhood home in Dehra Dun During this trip together time spans were erased People stepped forward to help Images and voices and feelings came flooding back and I was ready to examine them as Id examined the belongings that had traveled half the world in battered leather cases Brought to light the joys of my childhood flashed vivid and fragile as glass bangles Fears that had lurked large as nightmare lions and scary as snakes dissolved like thunderheads shrinking and fading into a quiet sky In Jackals Wedding the stories of the child I was and the woman Ive become are braided with my mothers story and the stories she told Many times during the writing it seemed she was back whispering in my ear what she wasnt able to tell in life I am still searching for my father
