Reading Disabilities A Developmental Language Perspective:

Reading Disabilities Alan G. Kamhi, Hugh William Catts, 1991 Reading Disabilities R.M. Joshi, C.K. Leong, 2013-03-11

The present volume is based on the proceedings of the Advanced Study Institute ASI sponsored by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO. The Institute was conducted at the beautiful Chateau de Bonas near Toulouse, France, in October 1991. A number of scholars from different countries participated in the two-week institute on differential diagnosis and treatments of reading and writing problems. The accepted papers for this volume are divided into three sections: a) Differential diagnosis of reading disabilities, b) Access to language-related component processes, and c) Reading spelling strategies. The other papers appear in a companion volume, Developmental and Acquired Dyslexia: Neuropsychological and Neurolinguistic Perspectives, also coedited by Joshi and Leong and published by Kluwer Academic Publishers. Several people and organizations have helped us in this endeavor, and their assistance is gratefully acknowledged. Our special thanks are due to the Scientific Affairs Division of NATO for providing the major portion of the financial support, Dr L V da Cunha of NATO, and Dr THo Kester and Mrs Barbara Kester of the International Transfer of Science and Technology (ITST) for their help and support of the various aspects of the institute. Mr Charles Stockman and the entire staff of the Chateau de Bonas for making our stay a pleasant one by helping us to run the Institute smoothly. We also wish to thank our reviewers and the following people for other assistance: Christi Martin and Xi Wu Fang.

Of particular value to general and special educators and speech language professionals, the book's clear recommendations for assessment and intervention show how to translate the research into day-to-day teaching and clinical practice Dyslexia in First and Foreign Language Learning Monika Lodej,2016-08-17 According to International Educational Statistics 2008 there are total of 654 9 million school age children in the world If dyslexia affects 10 15% of these youth Fletcher et al 2007 this translates to approximately 65 98 million students with difficulties in reading and writing The EU strategic plan for education 2010 recognises the need for EU citizens to speak a foreign language As such foreign language courses are introduced on an obligatory basis at the primary level of education Dyslexic students are not exempt from this regulation and thus are confronted with different language systems that must be mastered The difficulty here escalates if the systems differ significantly in their levels of orthographic transparency Reading and writing are operationalised by the same biological functions that are defined by the universal perspective However language systems differ in terms of their transparency for example English and French are considered opaque scripts whereas Spanish and Italian are described as transparent orthographies These differences are discussed in this book as part of the language specific perspective which can in turn raise questions such as Is a dyslexic student equally impaired in any language they study and Is the type of difficulty primarily dependent on the language system or is it rather a dyslexia syndrome This volume provides answers through a synthesis of research on reading difficulties in first and foreign languages and existing taxonomies of dyslexia sub types Foundations of Reading Acquisition and Dyslexia Benita A.
