Securing Americas Industrial Strength:

Securing America's Industrial Strength National Research Council, Board on Science, Technology, and Economic Policy, 1999-06-13 This volume presents the conclusions of the National Research Council's Board on Science Technology and Economic Policy from industry studies published under the title U S Industry in 2000 Studies in Competitive Performance and other work on U S industrial performance It reviews patterns of corporate strategy and industry restructuring and considers the role of the national monetary and fiscal policies as well as trade regulatory and intellectual property policies The report presents new statistical evidence of trends in public and private R D expenditures and outlines a policy agenda for the next decade Science & Engineering Indicators, 2002 Measuring the Science and Engineering Enterprise National Research Council, Committee on National Statistics, Office of Scientific and Engineering Personnel, Committee to Assess the Portfolio of The Division of Science Resources Studies of NSF, 2000-03-14 The science and engineering enterprise has continued to evolve responding over the last decade to increased economic globalization a post cold war military federal budget fluctuations and structural changes in the way science and engineering are conducted and innovations are adopted This report suggests ways to revise the data collection activities of the Science Resources Studies Division SRS of the National Science Foundation to better capture the current realities of R D funding and S E human resources The report's recommendations would improve the relevance of the data on graduate education the labor market for scientists and engineers and the funding and conduct of research and development and thus better meet the data needs of policymakers managers and researchers H.R. 2086, the Networking and Information Technology Research and Development Act United States. Congress. House. Committee on Science. Subcommittee on Basic Research, 1999 In War and Peace Guy Stever, 2002-10-07 Science came into Guy Stever's life as a pure and peaceful pursuit It was only later as he walked through the wreckage of wartime London that he began to see science as central to a desperate struggle to survive Past president of Carnegie Mellon University former Chief Scientist of the U S Air Force one time Director of the National Science Foundation professor at MIT for 20 years member of the National Academies of Sciences and Engineering and science advisor to two presidents Guy Stever was a central figure in twentieth century science consistently on the front lines changing the fate of a nation In this thoughtful and candid memoir Stever recounts an extraordinary life that reveals as much about the man as about the major scientific and technological events of his day Born of humble origins and orphaned at an early age Stever journeyed from a small town in New York to work alongside British comrades who were developing and refining the critical radar technology that was to turn the tide of the war against the Germans As a technical intelligence officer these harrowing wartime years took him from the beachheads of Normandy to the German slave labor factories responsible for building the V 2 rockets Stever returned home committed to serving his country He became intimately involved in America's nascent guided missile program and was to remain a key player in the anti ballistic missile defense program that heralded the era of the Cold

War As the decades passed Stever continued to exert lasting influence on countless scientific endeavors He was instrumental in the formation of new institutions from the creation of NASA in the post Sputnik years to the merging of Carnegie Tech and the Mellon Institution giving birth to Carnegie Mellon University As Presidential Science Advisor to both Nixon and Ford Stever shaped the very structure of contemporary presidential science advising And he was to chair the oversight committee that redesigned the space shuttle boosters after the Challenger explosion Guy Stever s life offers remarkable insight into the twentieth century Through his eyes we relive the history of the past 50 years witnesses to a tale of science and technology that is revealing in its scope and sweep

Capitalizing on New Needs and New Opportunities National Research Council,Policy and Global Affairs,Board on Science, Technology, and Economic Policy,2001-02-11 This report addresses a topic of recognized policy concern To capture the benefits of substantial U S investments in biomedical R D parallel investments in a wide range of seemingly unrelated disciplines are also required This report summarizes a major conference that reviewed our nation s R D support for biotechnology and information technologies The volume includes newly commissioned research and makes recommendations and findings concerning the important relationship between information technologies and biotechnology It emphasizes the fall off in R D investments needed to sustain the growth of the U S economy and to capitalize on the growing investment in biomedicine It also encourages greater support for inter disciplinary training to support new areas such as bioinformatics and urges more emphasis on and support for multi disciplinary research centers

The Advanced Technology Program National Research Council,Policy and Global Affairs,Board on Science, Technology, and Economic Policy,2001-07-06 This report examines the operations of the APT reviews its extensive assessment program and provides NRC Committee findings concerning the ATP s operations and recommendations for potential improvements to the program The report includes a summary of a major conference held in April 2000 as well as seven papers including surveys of the industry participants or users of the ATP program a summary of the results of fifty awards detailed assessments of major joint ventures and a description of the current selection process It is the most comprehensive study to date of the program s origins operations achievements and assessment Its conclusion the program works

Measuring and Sustaining the New Economy National Research Council,Policy and Global Affairs,Board on Science, Technology, and Economic Policy,2002-03-08 Sustaining the New Economy will require public policies that remain relevant to the rapid technological changes that characterize it While data and its timely analysis are key to effective policy making we do not yet have adequate statistical images capturing changes in productivity and growth brought about by the information technology revolution This report on a STEP workshop highlights the need for more information and the challenges faced in measuring the New Economy and sustaining its growth

Science, Money, and Politics Daniel S. Greenberg,2003-04-15 Greenberg explores how scientific research is funded in the United States including why the political process distributes the funds the way it does and how it can be corrupted by special interests in academia business and political machines      Capitalizing on Investments in Science and Technology National Academy of Engineering, National Academy of Sciences, Institute of Medicine, National Academy of Sciences, National Academy of Engineering, Institute of Medicine, Committee on Science, Engineering, and Public Policy, 1999-04-18 Although the United States is currently capitalizing on its investment in science and technology effectively there remains much room for improvement This volume identifies the ingredients for success in capitalizing on such investments to produce national benefits assesses current U S performance and identifies future challenges The book cites specific examples and examines several cross cutting issues It explores the possibility that the national research portfolio is losing diversity as a result of less long term research in critical fields such as networking and materials It also examines the implications of imbalances in the supply of and demand for science and engineering talent in emerging interdisciplinary fields such as bioinformatics
