Seismicity Of The European Area Part I:

Seismicity of the European Area Vít Kárník, 2012-12-06 The second part of the Seismicity of the European Area contains further results of the survey of European seismicity performed during the period 1959-1967. It was intended to publish the second part with the shortest possible delay. The first part appeared in 1968 when the manuscript of the second part was handed over to the publisher. Unfortunately, due to unexpected technical difficulties, the publication had to be postponed until the end of 1970. Thus, the manuscript reflects the state of knowledge corresponding to the year 1967 when the work on the manuscript was concluded. It was only possible to make minor changes or to insert additional very brief information into the catalogue. Prague, July 20, 1970. Vít Kárník. CONTENTS: 1. Introduction 7 2. Source literature 9 3. Earthquake catalogue 1801-1900 11 4. Earthquake parameters 12 5. Date-time of origin 12 6. Epicentre coordinates 12 7. Epicentral intensity 13 8. Bibliography of Statistical Aspects of Seismicity European Seismological Commission. Working Group on Statistical Methods, 1978 Seismicity and Seismic Risk in the Offshore North Sea Area A.R. Ritsema, A.

Gurpinar, 2012-12-06 The Workshop on the Seismicity and Seismic Risk in the Offshore North Sea Area was intended to bring together experts from a variety of disciplines as well as interest groups with involvement in siting design and construction of offshore structures in the region. Participants came from the fields of geology, seismology, oceanography, geotechnical and structural engineering and risk analysis. The wide range of participant affiliations included institutes, Observatories, universities, oil companies, consultants and insurance firms. All nationalities around the North Sea were present in addition to some experts from outside the region. All participants were present on the basis of personal invitation. The idea of organizing the Workshop stemmed from considerations such as the rapidly increasing material and personnel investments and versatility of type of structures in the basin during the past decade, the present-day important role of the North Sea oil and gas production in the economy of Western Europe and the increase of potential environmental risks in the region. Although devastating earthquakes are almost unknown in the area and seismic hazard is not great, the seismic risk grows with the growing size and number of structures in the area. The study of the potential seismic risks therefore cannot be neglected any more. The siting and design of offshore platforms and submarine pipelines are controlled by the degree of their vulnerability as well as the seismic hazard in the region. Report SE., 1976 Seismic Ground Motion in Large Urban Areas Giuliano F. Panza, Ivanka Pakaleva, Concettina Nunziata, 2012-12-06 The accelerated and often uncontrolled growth of the cities has contributed to the ecological transformation of their immediate surroundings. Factors contributing to the urban vulnerability include lowering or rising of the water table subsidence loss of bearing capacity of soil foundations and instability of slopes Recent catastrophic earthquakes highlight the poor understanding by decision makers of seismic related risk as well as the tendency of some builders to use the cheapest designs and construction materials to increase short term economic returns on their investment Losses from earthquakes will continue to increase if we do not shift towards proactive solution Disaster reduction is both an issue for consideration in the sustainable development agenda and a cross cutting issue relating to the social economic environmental and humanitarian sectors As location is the key factor which determines the level of risk associated with a hazard land use plans and mapping should be used as tools to identify the most suitable usage for vulnerable areas

Seismicity of Central Europe D. Procházková, 1990 Proceedings of the Seventeenth Assembly of the European Seismological Commission E. Bisztricsany, 2012-12-02 Proceedings of the Seventeenth Assembly of the European Seismological Commission Seismic Hazard of the Circum-Pannonian Region Giuliano F. Panza, Mircea Radulian, Czezar-I. Trifu, 2013-03-11 requiring the adaptation of probabilistic maps to design ground motions and the generalization of design parameters to locations where there is little seismic history Maximum displacements velocities and based on the European Building Code EC8 design ground acceleration maps have thus been produced by ZivCic et al for Slovenia Marku ic et al for Croatia Bus et al for Hungary and Radulian et al for Romania The last two contributions in the volume are dedicated to studies of local site effects that could affect the microzonation of large urban areas Moldoveanu et al employed a technique based on the modal summation and finite differences to calculate the expected ground motion in the capital city of Bucharest due to large intermediate depth Vrancea earthquakes Their results outline that the presence of alluvial sediments and the possible variation of event scenario require the use of all three components of motion for a reliable determination of the seismic input The study of Marmureanu et al more limited in scope offers a laboratory analysis of the attenuation effects for surface layers The authors confirm that seismic attenuation in sedimentary layers is a function of the strain levels induced by large earthquakes and find that the quality factor is nearly constant over a relatively wide frequency range between 7 and 100 Hz
