Lucien Leuwen Book Stendahl,1950-01-01 Lucien Leuwen Stendhal,1961-01-01 Lucien Leuwen Stendhal,1982-01-01 Lucien Leuwen: The telegraph Stendhal,1961 Essays in Aesthetics Gärard Genette,2005-01-01 Over the course of the past forty years G rard Genette s work has profoundly influenced scholars of narratology poetics aesthetics and literary and cultural criticism and he continues to be one of France s most influential theorists The eighteen pieces in Essays in Aesthetics are of international interest because they are concerned either with universal aesthetic problems the receiver s relationship to an aesthetic object abstract art the role of repetition in aesthetics genre theory and the rapport between literature and music or with specific moments in the work of a well known writer or artist such as Stendhal Proust Manet Pissarro and Canaletto Essays in Aesthetics contains a wealth of material related to the appreciation of beauty by one of the subtlest and most original minds working in aesthetics today Genette knows the fine arts as well as he knows literature and as a result has innovative things to say to readers in that field as well as to philosophers and literary scholars Stendhal: Education of a Novelist Strickland,1974-08-15 The Doctor-Patient Relationship and the Nineteenth-Century French Novel Sarah Jones,2025-03-29 The Doctor Patient Relationship and the Nineteenth Century French Novel analyses the representation of the doctor patient relationship in the nineteenth century French novel notably in the words of Balzac Sand Stendhal and Zola It argues that the doctor patient relationship is represented in these novels as a site of interpersonal negotiation wherein the meaning of medical authority embodied experience and the spectre of illness and pain are mediated and reimagined This book highlights how the doctor patient relationship is often idealized by the novel wherein the doctor is characterised as a both dedicated to his patients and local community as well as being a God like master of life death and medical knowledge The volume suggests that the doctor patient encounter is often depicted as a separate although inherently related concept that undermines this idealisation of medical relationships The doctor patient encounter thereby questions the hegemonic power of medical practitioners over their patients by pointing towards how novels depict patients as resisting and even manipulating their doctors The book identifies and explores other important themes within the doctor patient relationship such as the medical gaze regard m dical power relationships and the use of embodied metaphor In particular the book highlights how the doctor patient relationship is often a confrontation between scientific knowledge and the experience of gender and disability The book s conceptual framework is derived from the critical medical humanities and the volume revitalises and reframes the doctor patient relationship by considering the intrinsic slippage between idealised relationships and critical encounters The book uses close readings of its corpus to understand how medical practice is debated and undermined concurrently with its idealisation It places literary works within a new historical context by reading across novels within their medical and scientific context and situates them for the first time in the intellectual context of the critical medical humanities The book points forward to how nineteenth century French novels can reform how the critical medical humanities views the medical relationship and the potential impact on real world patients

In the Court of the Pear King Sandy Petrey, 2018-07-05 The period 1830-1832 witnessed a remarkable series of cultural and political milestones in France. In 1830 a revolution overturned one monarchy only to replace it with another. In 1831 Charles Philippon's caricature of Louis Philippe the new monarch as a pear achieved extraordinary popularity. Drawn on walls from one end of France to another the pear caricature became a national obsession. In that same year George Sand moved from the provinces to Paris and challenged gender stereotypes by adopting men's clothes and writing fiction in a man's voice. During 1830-1832 Stendhal and Balzac developed the techniques of the realist novel that still dominate much of the world's fiction. Sandy Petrey explores the factors accounting for such consequential innovations in so short a time so restricted a space. In Petrey's view these disparate events betoken a common recognition of society's capacity to make and unmake what it recognizes as real. Petrey's first two chapters explore the popularity of the pear caricature. The remaining chapters focus on Balzac, Stendhal, and Sand, addressing these writers' concern with society's power to define and transform the identity of its members. For Petrey, their work continually recalls the hybrid character of Philippon's pear: both totally unlike the king and the king's spitting image. While the French government declared the July Revolution a non-event and the July Monarchy an incontrovertible fact, French fiction concentrated on society's power to declare an individual a non-person or to make presence out of absence, plenitude out of emptiness.

The Strange Liberalism of Alexis de Tocqueville Roger Boesche, 2019-05-15 The Strange Liberalism of Alexis de Tocqueville places Tocqueville's political thought in the context of his time and place and shows why his ideas defy easy classification. Responding to the twentieth-century tendency to impose anachronistic political categories on Tocqueville, Roger Boesche reminds us that like Stendhal, Balzac, Hugo, Lamartine, Flaubert, and other writers of his generation, he was a nineteenth-century Frenchman reacting to contemporary French concerns, aspirations, and anxieties.

Sour Grapes Jon Elster, 1983 Dr Elster analyses the notation of rationality through the study of irrational behaviour, desires, and belief.

A Library of the World's Best Literature - Ancient and Modern - Vol. IV (Forty-Five Volumes); Bancroft - Birrell Charles Dudley Warner, 2008-01-01 Popular American essayist, novelist, and journalist CHARLES DUDLEY WARNER (1829-1900) was renowned for the warmth and intimacy of his writing, which encompassed travelogue, biography, and autobiography, fiction, and more, and influenced entire generations of his fellow writers. Here the prolific writer turned editor for his final grand work, a splendid survey of global literature, classic and modern, and it's not too much to suggest that if his friend and colleague Mark Twain, who stole Warner's quip about how everybody complains about the weather but nobody does anything about it, had assembled this set, it would still be hailed today as one of the great achievements of the book world. Highlights from Volume 4 include the writings of Sabine Baring-Gould, excerpts from J. M. Barrie's The Little Minister and Sentimental Tommy, poems and essays of Charles Baudelaire, sermons and essays by Henry Ward Beecher, letters of Ludwig van Beethoven, essays and letters from Jeremy Bentham.

Stendhal , The Rise of Office Literature Daniel Jenkin-Smith, 2025-03-20 Explores the social and cultural history of bureaucratization in 19th century Britain and France via the evolving literary portrayal of office life Literary critics have long cited the clerk in 19th century literature as an emblem of a nascent lower middle class or of shifting gender roles in the world of work Moreover there is growing critical interest in the influence of rapidly evolving organizational systems and data networks on this period's culture By refocusing on the point at which these interests meet the office The Rise of Office Literature plays a synthesizing role identifying this workplace as a point of convergence between the abstract and the quotidian between structures and workers By exploring the history of office literature a forgotten nineteenth century literary genre whose exemplars focus primarily on office life Daniel Jenkin-Smith argues that the portrayal of new labour practices intellectual forms and bureaucratic technologies in English and French literature served to problematize existing narrative conventions while also enabling new developments in literary aesthetics Office literature's unique position between the ongoing process of nineteenth century bureaucratization and the rapidly evolving realist and satirical traditions of this period's literature means that it offers an especially insightful perspective onto the interrelation of aesthetic intellectual economic and social history

Politics and Narratives of Birth Carol A. Mossman, 1993-04 This book is a feminist analysis which combines a psychoanalytic perspective on catastrophic birth with the politics of reproduction in the emergent democracy of nineteenth century France It focuses on three major thinkers whose personal relation to origins is problematic Rousseau Constant and Stendhal and also includes a broad reading of the nineteenth century novel within the frame of pathological generation giving special attention to works by Michelet and Zola Professor Mossman identifies important areas of interaction between production and reproduction at the level of aesthetic form and between private birth related discourse and the ideology of the birth of democracy Within the context of the collapse of ancien régime France the nascent ideology of motherhood collides with modes of discourse that invade and colonize the maternal body generating a considerable burden of anxiety expressed in the nineteenth century French novel
