Lurching From One Neardisaster To The Next:

Lurching from One Near Disaster to the Next Warren Miller, 2011-08 Warren Miller started skiing in 1939 and has been going downhill ever since. On his way down he has produced almost 500 sports films and also published several books. Other People's Houses Abbi Waxman, 2018-04-03 Abbi Waxman is both irreverent and thoughtful. 1 New York Times bestselling author Emily Giffin. The author of The Garden of Small Beginnings returns with a hilarious and poignant new novel about four families, their neighborhood carpool, and the affair that changes everything. At any given moment in other people's houses, you can find repressed hopes and dreams, moments of unexpected joy, someone making love on the floor to a man who is most definitely not her husband, record scratch. As the longtime local carpool mom Frances Bloom is sometimes an unwilling witness to her neighbors' private lives. She knows her cousin is hiding her desire for another baby from her spouse. Bill Horton's wife is mysteriously missing, and now this. After the shock of seeing Anne Porter in all her extramarital glory, Frances vows to stay in her own lane. But that's a notion easier said than done when Anne's husband throws her out a couple of days later. The repercussions of the affair reverberate through the four carpool families, and Frances finds herself navigating a moral minefield that could make or break a marriage.

Warren's World, A 1970s Teenager Simon Webb, 2013-04-01 What was it like being a teenager in a world without computers, smartphones, DVD players, games consoles, or the Internet? Imagine a time when sharing music meant taking a record round to your friend's house, when making a quick phone call could involve queuing outside a red telephone box. This book looks at the fads and fashions, music, hobbies, and TV programmes which defined the 70s for many youngsters. If you remember riding a chopper, reading Jackie during the Winter of Discontent, or watching the Bay City Rollers on Top of the Pops during the long, hot summer of 1976, this book is for you. A 1970s Teenager is a nostalgic and colourful account of what it was like to be young in the most exciting decade of all.

A Grain of Wheat Joseph Jacobson, 2020-05-19 This is the story of how a brilliant but disillusioned man moves from a self-absorbed childhood and adolescence to a dramatic awakening to a life of love and duty that draws him out of himself and plunges him into the world of pure science as his way of serving God and neighbour. The reader journeys with him every step of the way, experiencing with him his two great personal loves, his apparent triumphs, his devastating losses, his shocking moments of confrontation with bitter truth, and his final victory. In the course of this great adventure, the false assumptions on which so much of modern Western society is based crumble out from under him, and out of his disillusionment and despair emerges for him the one Glory which does not crumble away. Set in the American Middle West in the first half of the Twentieth Century, this novel probes many of the issues that we face today and puts them in the context of God's unfolding plan for humanity.

Driving with Dvor? k Fleda Brown Jackson, 2010-01-01 All our lives are made of moments both simple and sublime all of which in some way partake of the cultural moment Fleda Brown is that rare writer who in narrating the incidents and observations of her life turns her story by wit and insight and a poet s gift into something more This is an unconventional memoir A series of lyrical essays about life in a maddeningly complex family during the even more maddeningly complex fifties and sixties it adds up to one woman s story while simultaneously reflecting the story of her times A strange and erratic father a resigned and helpless mother a mentally disabled brother a sister with a brain tumor folded into Brown's reflections are the intimacies and ambivalences of family and marriage girlhood and adolescence identity and self knowledge Whether reflecting on the automobile industry or a wrenching parting from beloved pets or the process of aging Brown's telling rings with great humor profound perception and a lyricism that makes even the most commonplace moment uncommonly good reading
