The essays in this volume are intended to help social scientists do better comparative research and thereby to improve our possibilities for creating more satisfactory explanations or theories. These broad aims are advanced throughout the book in several ways: 1 by an identification and assessment of the methodological strategies of exceptionally important comparativists past and present; 2 by an explication and refinement of logics of procedure that are central to many types of comparative research; 3 by a presentation of new research models that link or bridge heretofore separate lines of comparative inquiry; and 4 by the definition of methodological criteria by which theories and conceptual frameworks can be more fruitfully related to and qualified by comparative studies. Specific problems such as comparability, causal inference, conceptualization, measurement, and sampling are addressed in various sections of particular essays. From the Preface. This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program, which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice, reach, and impact. Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893, Voices Revived makes high quality, peer-reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print-on-demand technology. This title was originally published in 1971.

Man in Society Pierre L. Van den Berghe, 1978. Paperbound Books in Print, 1992. Emotions, Decision-Making and Mass Atrocities Olaoluwa Olusanya, 2016-05-06. This book rehumanizes perpetrators of mass atrocities. At present, a victim-perpetrator dichotomy appears to be the dominant paradigm: perpetrators have either been mechanistically dehumanized (that is, perceived as unemotional, hard-hearted, and conforming and thereby lacking the core features of human nature) or alternatively they have been animalistically dehumanized. In other words, they are seen as immoral, unintelligent, lacking self-control, and likened to animals. Within sociology and criminology, the dominant view is that genocide and other mass atrocities are committed by technologically lobotomized perpetrators. Somehow the process of rationalization is believed to have transformed these people from emotionally healthy people into hollow, soulless shells of human beings or zombies, devoid of a full range of normal emotions. These people are considered bereft of any ability to reason, think, or feel, yet ambulant and able to respond to surrounding stimuli. However, it is difficult to imagine crime, especially those involving a group of people working together for the duration of a particular criminal activity, without emotions. For instance, there is ample evidence suggesting that both crimes of passion and premeditated crimes involve emotional arousal. Furthermore, research in fields such as evolutionary biology, psychology, and sociology of work and organizations suggest that emotions are essential for human progress and survival In addition emotions help us make the right call in risky and uncertain situations in other words the majority of real life situations There is therefore a need to revisit existing assumptions around the role of emotions in mass atrocities
