Making Race Matter Dialogues Across Race And Gender:

A Curriculum of Imagination in an Era of Standardization Robert Lake, 2013-03-01 A Curriculum of Imagination in an Era of Standardization In A Curriculum of Imagination in an Era of Standardization An Imaginative Dialogue with Maxine Greene and Paulo Freire a volume in Landscapes of Education Series Editors William H Schubert University of Illinois at Chicago Ming Fang He Georgia Southern University Robert Lake explores with the reader what is meant by imagination in the work of Maxine Greene and Paulo Freire and their relevance in an era of increasingly standardized and highly scripted practices in the field of education The author explores how imagination permeates every aspect of life with the intent to develop capacity with the readers to look beyond the taken for granted to question the normal to develop various ways of knowing seeing feeling and to imagine and act upon possibilities for positive social and educational change The principal aspect of the work illustrated in this book that distinguishes it from other work is that an imaginary dialogue between Maxine Greene and Paulo Freire runs through the book using actual citations from their work Each chapter starts with such a dialogue interspersed with the works of others and the author's critical autobiographical reflections With a brief overview of the socio cultural evolution of imagination from pre literate times to the present the author explores some of the current iterations of imagination including the eugenics movement and dark imagination sensing gaps and creative critical imagination metaphors as the language of imagination and empathy as social imagination Reflecting upon emerging tensions challenges and possibilities curriculum workers face in such an era of standardization the author calls for a curriculum of imagination After providing a brief overview of the socio cultural evolution of imagination from pre literate times to the present the author looks at some of the current iterations of imagination including the eugenics movement and dark imagination sensing gaps and creative critical imagination metaphors as the language of the imagination and empathy as social imagination All of these ideas are then incorporated in a curriculum of imagination that is envisioned through Joseph Schwab's four commonplaces of curriculum followed by a discussion of emerging tensions issues and possibilities for praxis and scholarship in present and future inquiry

Why Race and Culture Matter in Schools Tyrone C. Howard, 2019

Issues tied to race and culture continue to be a part of the landscape of America's schools and classrooms Given the rapid demographic transformation in the nation's states cities counties and schools it is essential that all school personnel acquire the necessary knowledge skills and dispositions to talk teach and think across racial and cultural differences The second edition of Howard's bestseller has been updated to take a deeper look at how schools must be prepared to respond to disparate outcomes among students of color Tyrone Howard draws on theoretical constructs tied to race and racism culture and opportunity gaps to address pressing issues stemming from the chronic inequalities that remain prevalent in many schools across the country This time honored text will help educators at all levels respond with greater conviction and clarity on how to create more equitable inclusive and democratic schools as sites for teaching and learning If you thought the first edition of Why Race and Culture Matter in Schools was impactful this second edition is even more of a force to be reckoned with in the fight for social justice By pushing the boundaries of the ordinary and the normative this book teaches as it transforms Every educator preservice and inservice working with racially linguistically and culturally diverse young people should read this book H Richard Milner IV Cornelius Vanderbilt Distinguished Professor of Education Vanderbilt University On the 10th anniversary of this groundbreaking book Tyrone Howard not only reminds me of the salient role that race and culture play in education but also moves beyond a Black White binary that reflect the nuances and contours of diversity This book should be in the hands of all teachers and teacher educators Maisha T Winn Chancellor s Leadership Professor School of Education University of California Davis

Dialogue Across Difference Patricia Gurin, Biren (Ratnesh) A. Nagda, Ximena Zuniga, 2013-03-15

Due to continuing immigration and increasing racial and ethnic inclusiveness higher education institutions in the United States are likely to grow ever more diverse in the 21st century This shift holds both promise and peril Increased inter ethnic contact could lead to a more fruitful learning environment that encourages collaboration On the other hand social identity and on campus diversity remain hotly contested issues that often raise intergroup tensions and inhibit discussion How can we help diverse students learn from each other and gain the competencies they will need in an increasingly multicultural America Dialogue Across Difference synthesizes three years worth of research from an innovative field experiment focused on improving intergroup understanding relationships and collaboration The result is a fascinating study of the potential of intergroup dialogue to improve relations across race and gender First developed in the late 1980s intergroup dialogues bring together an equal number of students from two different groups such as people of color and white people or women and men to share their perspectives and learn from each other To test the possible impact of such courses and to develop a standard of best practice the authors of Dialogue Across Difference incorporated various theories of social psychology higher education communication studies and social work to design and implement a uniform curriculum in nine universities across the country Unlike most studies on intergroup dialogue this project employed random assignment to enroll more than 1 450 students in experimental and control groups including in 26 dialogue courses and control groups on race and gender each Students admitted to the dialogue courses learned about racial and gender inequalities through readings role play activities and personal reflections The authors tracked students progress using a mixed method approach including longitudinal surveys content analyses of student papers interviews of students and videotapes of sessions The results are heartening Over the course of a term students who participated in intergroup dialogues developed more insight into how members of other groups perceive the world They also became more thoughtful about the structural underpinnings of inequality increased their motivation to bridge differences and intergroup empathy and placed a greater value on diversity and collaborative action The authors also note that the effects of such courses were evident on nearly all measures While students did report an initial increase in negative emotions a possible indication of the difficulty of openly addressing race and gender that effect was no longer present a year after the course Overall the results are remarkably consistent and point to an optimistic conclusion intergroup dialogue is more than mere talk It fosters productive communication about and across differences in the service of greater collaboration for equity and justice Ambitious and timely Dialogue Across Difference presents a persuasive practical theoretical and empirical account of the benefits of intergroup dialogue The data and research presented in this volume offer a useful model for improving relations among different groups not just in the college setting but in the United States as well Speaking of Race, Speaking of Sex Henry Louis Gates Jr., Henry Louis Gates Jr., Anthony P. Griffin, Donald E. Lively, Nadine Strossen, 1996-10 A provocative anthology on questions of hate speech and speech regulation designed to protect minorities At the University of Pennsylvania a student is reprimanded for calling a group of African American students water buffalo Several prominent American law schools now request that professors abstain from discussing the legal aspects of rape for fear of offending students As debates over multiculturalism and political correctness crisscross the land no single issue has been more of a flash point in the ongoing culture wars than hate speech codes which seek to restrict bigoted or offensive speech and punish those who engage in it In this provocative anthology a range of prominent voices argue that hate speech restrictions are not only dangerous but counterproductive The lessons of history indicate that speech regulation designed to protect minorities is destined to be used against them Acknowledging the legitimacy of the concerns that prompt speech codes and combining support for civil liberties with an acute concern for civil rights issues Speaking of Race Speaking of Sex demonstrates that it is difficult if not impossible to draw the line between unprotected insults and protected ideas Decrying such speech regulation as overly concerned with the symbols of racism rather than its realities Speaking of Race Speaking of Sex offers a balanced and well reasoned perspective on one of the most controversial issues of our time Making Media Matter Benjamin Thevenin, 2022-06-09 This book is an essential resource for media educators working to promote critical thinking creativity and civic engagement through their teaching Connecting theory and research with creative projects and analyses of pop culture it models an integrated and practical approach to media education In order to prepare learners to successfully navigate rapid shifts in digital technology and popular culture media educators in both secondary and university settings need to develop fresh innovative approaches Integrating concepts and practices from the fields of media studies media arts and media literacy this book prepares teachers to help their students make connections between their studies uses of media creative expression and political participation As educators implement the strategies in this book in their curricula and pedagogy they will be empowered to help their students more thoughtfully engage with media culture and use their intelligence and imagination to address pressing challenges facing our world today Making Media Matter is an engaging and accessible read for educators and scholars in the areas of media literacy media and cultural studies media arts and communication studies The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made

Contesting Race and Citizenship Camilla Hawthorne, 2022-07-15 Contesting Race and Citizenship is an original study of Black politics and varieties of political mobilization in Italy Although there is extensive research on first generation immigrants and refugees who traveled from Africa to Italy there is little scholarship about the experiences of Black people who were born and raised in Italy Camilla Hawthorne focuses on the ways Italians of African descent have become entangled with processes of redefining the legal racial cultural and economic boundaries of Italy and by extension of Europe itself Contesting Race and Citizenship opens discussions of the so called migrant crisis by focusing on a generation of Black people who although born or raised in Italy have been thrust into the same racist xenophobic political climate as the immigrants and refugees who are arriving in Europe from the African continent Hawthorne traces not only mobilizations for national citizenship but also the more capacious transnational Black diasporic possibilities that emerge when activists confront the ethical and political limits of citizenship as a means for securing meaningful lasting racial justice possibilities that are based on shared critiques of the racial state and shared histories of racial capitalism and colonialism

Reversing the Gaze Geneviève Makaping, 2023-01-13 Tired of being scrutinized criticized and fetishized for her black skin Cameroon born scholar Geneviève Makaping turns the tables on Italy's white majority regarding them through the same unsparing gaze to which minorities have traditionally been subjected As she candidly recounts her experiences first across Africa and then as a migrant Black woman in Italy Makaping describes acts of racist aggression that are wearying and degrading to encounter on a daily basis She also offers her perspective on how various forms of inequality based on race color gender and class feed off each other Reversing the Gaze invites readers to confront the question of racism through the retelling of everyday occurrences that we might have experienced as victims perpetrators or witnesses

Exploring Diversity through Multimodality, Narrative, and Dialogue Mary B. McVee, Fenice B. Boyd, 2015-09-16 Exploring Diversity through Multimodality Narrative and Dialogue awakens educators to the ways in which values beliefs language use culture identity social class race and other factors filter approaches to teaching and expectations for students Designed as a guide to help educators engage in dialogic interactions the text articulates a theoretically grounded and research based framework related to the use of personal narratives as learning tools Educators are encouraged to consider their own positions explore topics of diversity and social justice and identify ways to better address student needs Drawing on theories from multiliteracies multimodality embodiment and narrative chapters are framed around book discussions and the use of personal narrative to define and provide examples of dialogic interactions Unique to this book is its focus on embodied learning and multimodality as well as myriad artifacts produced by educators listening not just dialogic talk writing both traditional print texts and multimodal composition that supports dialogic interaction and not merely responding to literature but developing empathic responses to texts students and others whose opinions may differ from one's own viewpoints The specific techniques and approaches presented can be used within educational and professional development settings to help readers enhance their journey toward greater awareness of others and of their own beliefs and experiences that lead toward social justice for all

The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a brilliant and suspenseful novel that will keep you speculating until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
