Malcolm Macdonald:

Two Centuries of British Symphonism Jürgen Schaarwächter, 2015-02-27 Die britische Sinfonik ist erst in jüngster Zeit ins allgemeine Interesse gerückt. Ein Überblick über die sinfonische Entwicklung im Vereinigten Königreich seit den Anfängen im 18. Jahrhundert bis ins 20. Jahrhundert blieb aber bis heute ein Desideratum. Der hier vorgelegte Überblick zeigt, wie sich die Identität einer britischen Sinfonik über mehr als hundert Jahre entwickelte, geprägt durch Einflüsse vom europäischen Kontinent und von dem Bedürfnis, eigene Wege zu finden. Gegen Ende des 19. Jahrhunderts nahm das sinfonische Schaffen in Großbritannien stark zu, brachte jedoch erst mit Edward Elgar einen prominenten Vertreter von internationalem Rang hervor. Ein besonderer Schwerpunkt dieser Publikation liegt auf jenen Werken, die zu einem gewissen Grade von anderen überschattet wurden, unveröffentlicht oder unaufgeführt blieben. Das Ergebnis ist das Bild einer vielgestaltigen sinfonischen Landschaft Großbritanniens, das die ästhetischen Perspektiven der einzelnen Komponisten wie auch ihre soziokulturellen Kontexte erhellt. Ein umfangreiches Verzeichnis aller bekannten Werke und eine ausführliche Bibliographie laden zu weiterer Erkundung des Sujets ein. Only in relatively recent times has any real attention been given to British symphonies. So a comprehensive survey showing what exists and how the situation in the United Kingdom developed from the beginnings in the 18th century until well into the 20th century is long overdue. The preliminary survey presented here shows how a British symphonic identity gradually took shape over more than a century through influences from abroad and at home, enterprising attempts to find new ways of expression. By the end of the 19th century British symphonists had produced an impressive body of work, yet only with the appearance of Elgar's two symphonies in the following decade did this flourishing school find a champion of international renown. In this publication light is shone on those works that have to some extent been overshadowed, as well as on those that have remained unpublished or unperformed. The result is a multi-faceted panorama of British symphonism offering many insights into the composers' thinking and their socio-cultural contexts. A comprehensive catalogue of all known works and an extensive bibliography invite readers to delve further into the subject.

Don't Tell the Newfoundlanders Greg Malone, 2012-11-20 The true story drawn from official documents and hours of personal interviews of how Newfoundland and Labrador joined Confederation and became Canada's tenth province in 1949. A rich cast of characters hailing from Britain, America, Canada and Newfoundland battle it out for the prize of the resource-rich, financially solvent, militarily strategic island. The twists and turns are as dramatic as any spy novel and extremely surprising, since the official version of Newfoundland history has held for over fifty years almost without question. Don't Tell the Newfoundlanders will change all that.

Taxation Without

Representation Michael Littlewood, 2010-01-01 This book tells an instructive tale of Hong Kong's tax system from 1940 when taxes on income were first introduced in the territory until the present day. For Hong Kong's own historians and political scientists it supplies cogent but previously neglected evidence of the influence of the territory's business interests. For students of British imperialism it provides a compelling case study of relations between London and a recalcitrant colony. For Hong Kong's own tax profession it corrects the notion that the territory's tax system was the product of governmental design. And for tax theorists and taxpayers everywhere it suggests how it might be possible to structure a combination of very light taxes and very low public spending so as to win broad popular support. Michael Littlewood is a member of the Faculty of Law at the University of Auckland where he teaches tax. His work has been published in the U.S., the U.K., Hong Kong, China, the Netherlands, Australia, and New Zealand. He lived in Hong Kong from 1989 until 2003. An excellent read, partly a matter of who done it but even more so of how did they get away with it. Dr Littlewood's book will prove indispensable for anyone wanting to use the Hong Kong precedent to argue for a flat rate tax system in their own country. John Tiley, Professor of Tax Law, University of Cambridge. Fascinating. This book is a first rate history and raises troubling questions about the necessity of linking taxes and democratic choice. The book also raises intriguing doubts about whether low taxes and low services may be an acceptable alternative model to the prevalent high tax high services Western welfare state. This book should be required reading for students of political science, history, sociology, and law. Reuven Avi Yonah, Irwin I. Kohn Professor of Law, University of Michigan.

Arc of Containment Wen-Qing Ngoei, 2019-05-15 Arc of Containment recasts the history of American empire in Southeast and East Asia from World War II through the end of American intervention in Vietnam. Setting aside the classic story of anxiety about falling dominoes, Wen Qing Ngoei articulates a new regional history premised on strong security and sure containment guaranteed by Anglo-American cooperation. Ngoei argues that anticommunist nationalism in Southeast Asia intersected with preexisting local antipathy toward China and the Chinese diaspora to usher the region from European dominated colonialism to US hegemony. Central to this revisionary strategic assessment is the place of British power and the effects of direct neocolonial military might and less overt cultural influences based on decades of colonial rule as well as the considerable influence of Southeast Asian actors upon Anglo-American imperial strategy throughout the post-war period. Arc of Containment demonstrates that American failure in Vietnam had less long term consequences than widely believed because British pro-West nationalism had been firmly entrenched twenty plus years earlier. In effect, Ngoei argues the Cold War in Southeast Asia was but one violent chapter in the continuous history of western imperialism in the region in the twentieth century.

The end of Britain's empire in Southeast Asia in the wake of World War II generated new opportunities for colonial subjects across the region to reimagine themselves as citizens of a dizzying array of potential new nations While post war optimism and a global push for decolonisation created an environment where myriad communities felt a palpable sense of possibility for bringing their aspirations of nationhood to life many of these desires were unfulfilled Imagining Malaya is an exploration of one of those many imagined nations that never came to be It narrates a series of seemingly disparate and contradictory political acts by the Peranakan Chinese a creolised community borne of intermarriage between the earliest Chinese migrants to the region and indigenous Malays in the post World War II period to demonstrate that the community were in fact seeking to bring to life a cosmopolitan inclusive and multi ethnic imagination of the Malay si an nation Engaging in a critical re examination of the intertwined processes of decolonization and nation making Imagining Malaya provides an alternative reading of Malay si a s path to merdeka independence from the perspective of the Peranakan It narrates how a once powerful community at the centre of Malay si an politics and society came undone by their attempts to present an alternative imagination of the nation which challenged the ethnocentrism that came to dominate the country's political life Rewriting the Peranakan into the centre of Malaysia's national story rather than its periphery is a parable on the complexities and pitfalls of attempting to forge a representative nation state from a multi ethnic society during the transition between colony and nation By bringing the Peranakan imaginary of the nation to life Bernard Z Keo makes a case for how studying nations that were unrealized can reveal just as much as investigating those that were

Constructing a Post-War Order Andrew Baker, 2011-05-30 The years 1942 to 1946 saw the acceleration of World War II its conclusion and the construction of a post war order that was to culminate in the Cold War Andrew Baker here examines the expansion of US political and economic power and hegemony during this period and the extent to which smaller states particularly Australia New Zealand Canada and South Africa contested this expansion Through successfully outlining and defending their own notions of sovereignty property and commercial rights they were able to make a significant contribution towards fashioning a post war framework more conducive to states than empires This analysis of the period immediately after World War II will appeal to researchers of history and international relations as well as those interested in the political economy of the post war world
