City, Climate, and Architecture Sascha Roesler, 2025-01-27 Second and revised edition The publication rethinks climate control a key concern of the discipline of architecture through the lens of city climate phenomena over the course of the 20th century Based on a history of climate control on urban scales it promotes the integration of indoors and outdoors in order to reduce environmental and thermal loads in cities Just as heating and cooling practices inside the buildings are affecting the urban climate outdoors urban heat islands are influencing the energy requirements and thermal conditions inside the buildings While the first part of the book focuses on the interwar period in Europe the publication's second part considers examples from all over the globe tracing the growing significance of ecological thinking for the design of urban environments Main outcome of a six years research project on architecture and urban climate funded by the Swiss National Science Foundation New and revised edition KLIMA POLIS a series highlighting design driven approaches to urban climates across the globe Climate and Architecture United States. phenomena like fire precipitation shade and wind have emerged as important contemporary protagonists for environmental design due to their dynamic impact on buildings and cities The importance of including these forces in architecture has gained rapid momentum in the global quest for sustainability This book investigates the history theory and applications of climatic design in the built environment examining architecture and landscapes from various time periods Based on a collaboration between the University of Sydney and the National University of Singapore the book brings together contributing authors from Australia Singapore and the United States Dry Wet Cool and Hot divide the book into categories through which a wide array of representational topics are covered from dust storms and clouds to ice and bushfires A concluding section presents project examples for exploratory application in the design of architecture Muqarnas, Volume 27 Gülru Necipoğlu, 2010-11-11 Muqarnas An Annual on the Visual Cultures of the Islamic World is sponsored by the Aga Khan Program for Islamic Architecture at Harvard University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Cambridge Massachusetts The articles in Muqarnas 27 address topics such as spolia in medieval Islamic architecture Islamic coinage in the seventh century the architecture of the Alhambra from an environmental perspective and Ottoman Mamluk gift exchange in the fifteenth century The volume also features a new section entitled Notes and Sources with pieces highlighting primary sources such as Akbar's Kath sarits gara Contributors include Ebba Koch Elizabeth Lambourn Elias Muhanna Rina Avner Kathryn Moore Alicia Walker Todd Willmert Julia Gonnella Zeynep Ertu Jere Bacharach Persis Berlekamp Heike Franke Vincenza Garofalo and Fabrizio Agnello Sustainable Vernacular Architecture Ali Sayigh, 2019-03-29 This book discusses applying vernacular strategies to modern architectural design to adhere to basic green principles of energy efficiency and materials utilization Written from an international perspective chapters present the perspectives and experiences of architects and engineers from across the globe Historically successful approaches are integrated with modern design concepts to create novel sustainable and resource conscious solutions The scope of topics covered include natural ventilation cooling and heating daylight and shading devices and green micro climate and functional facades making this a useful reference for a wide range of researchers and workers in the built environment Covers the most up to date research developments best practices and innovations from countries all over the globe Presents the latest research in vernacular architecture and sustainable building Contains case studies and examples to enhance practical application of the technologies presented

Historic Indoor Microclimate of the Heritage Buildings Marco Pretelli, Kristian Fabbri, 2017-10-24 Offering readers essential insights into the relationship between ancient buildings their original and current indoor microclimates this book details how the generally virtuous relationship between buildings and their typical microclimate changed due to the introduction of new heating ventilation and air conditioning HVAC systems in historic buildings The new approach to the study of their Historic Indoor Microclimate HIM put forward in this book is an essential component to monitoring and evaluating building and artefact conservation Highlighting the advantages of adopting an indoor microclimatic approach to the preservation of existing historic materials by studying the original conditions of the buildings the book proposes a new methodology linking the preservation restoration of the historic indoor microclimate with diachronic analysis for the optimal preservation of historic buildings Further it discusses a number of frequently overlooked topics such as the simple and well coordinated opening and closing of windows an example extracted from a real case study In turn the authors elaborate the concept of an Historic Indoor Microclimate HIM based on Original Indoor Microclimate OIM which proves useful in identifying the optimal conditions for preserving the materials that make up historic buildings The book s main goal is to draw attention to the advantages of an indoor microclimatic approach to the preservation of existing historic materials manufacture by studying the original conditions of the buildings The introduction of new systems in historic buildings not only has a direct traumatic effect on the actual building and its components but also radically changes one of its vital immaterial elements the Indoor Microclimate Architects restorers and engineers will find that the book addresses the monitoring of the indoor microclimate in selected historic buildings that have managed to retain their original state due to the absence of new HVAC systems and reflects on the advantages of a renewed attention to these aspects

Modern Architecture and Climate Daniel A. Barber, 2023-04-11 How climate influenced the design strategies of modernist architects Modern Architecture and Climate explores how leading architects of the twentieth century incorporated climate mediating strategies into their designs and shows how regional approaches to climate adaptability were essential to the development of modern architecture Focusing on the period surrounding World War II before fossil fuel powered air conditioning became widely available Daniel Barber brings to light a vibrant and dynamic architectural discussion involving design materials and shading systems as means of interior climate control He looks at projects by well known architects such as Richard Neutra Le Corbusier Lcio Costa Mies van der Rohe and Skidmore Owings and Merrill and the work of climate focused architects such as MMM Roberto Olgyay and Olgyay and Cliff May Drawing on the editorial projects of James

Marston Fitch Elizabeth Gordon and others he demonstrates how images and diagrams produced by architects helped conceptualize climate knowledge alongside the work of meteorologists physicists engineers and social scientists Barber describes how this novel type of environmental media catalyzed new ways of thinking about climate and architectural design Extensively illustrated with archival material Modern Architecture and Climate provides global perspectives on modern architecture and its evolving relationship with a changing climate showcasing designs from Latin America Europe the United States the Middle East and Africa This timely and important book reconciles the cultural dynamism of architecture with the material realities of ever increasing carbon emissions from the mechanical cooling systems of buildings and offers a historical foundation for today's zero carbon design

Carbon-Neutral Architectural Design Pablo M. La Roche, 2024-05-31 The energy used to build and operate buildings is a significant source of greenhouse gas emissions While it is possible to reduce emissions through low carbon design many architects are not trained to do this Filling an urgent need for a design reference in this emerging field this book describes how to reduce building related greenhouse gas emissions through appropriate design techniques It presents strategies to achieve CO₂ reductions with an emphasis on control of energy flows through the building envelope and passive cooling and heating strategies This new revised edition is updated throughout and includes a new section on embodied carbon and new chapters on daylighting and nature based cooling Features Adds new chapters on daylighting and nature based cooling with numerous updates throughout the rest of the chapters Presents strategies illustrated with examples for new construction and existing buildings to reduce energy consumption and reduce emissions Explains the origins of CO₂ emissions associated with the operation and fabrication of buildings supplying water disposing of waste from the building and proposes strategies to reduce them Covers carbon calculations thermal comfort indigenous technology climate responsive design passive cooling and heating solar design air flow analysis daylighting building simulation and microclimate design with abundant examples Examines siting location to design buildings that adapt and mitigate their effect on climate change

Understanding Sustainable Architecture Terry J. Williamson, Antony Radford, Helen Bennetts, 2003 This book is a concise review of the assumptions beliefs goals and bodies of knowledge that underlie the endeavour to design environmentally sustainable buildings and other built developments

An Urban Approach To Climate Sensitive Design Rohinton Emmanuel, 2012-08-06 The need to respond to the rapidly changing city climate is particularly urgent in the tropics where the urban transition is currently at its peak While the need is clearly felt by the tropical urban dwellers texts that provide an overview of the problem and indicate possible design solutions are rare This comprehensive reference will be welcomed by student and practising architects as well as other built environment professionals engaged with the environmental effects of building in worldwide warm and humid climates

Metric Handbook Pamela Buxton, 2021-11-25 The Metric Handbook is the major handbook of planning and design data for architects and architecture students with over 100 000 copies sold to successive generations of architects and designers It remains the

Architecture - Comfort and Energy M. Sala,C. Gallo,A. A. M. Sayigh,1999-02-22 In this book we seek to approach the architecture energy combination and its relationship to human comfort and the environment There are chapters on thermal comfort low energy architecture dealing with various criterion for comfort in different parts of the World The book also seeks to understand how previous generations lived in harsh climates and without abundant sources of energy yet managed to design and build appropriate dwellings providing both comfort and harmony with the environment Other chapters deal with the bioclimatic concept in Vernacular Architecture the major role which climate plays at different locations and how this can dictate the shape and form of the buildings and save energy the importance of micro climate and its various elements and usage ventilation and its importance in buildings and the technology for modern architecture Architecture and Energy William W. Braham,Daniel Willis,2013-07-18 Does energy consumption influence architectural style Should more energy efficient buildings look different Can that look be used to explain or enhance their performance Architecture and Energy provides architects and architectural theorists with more durable arguments for environmental design decisions arguments addressing three different scales or aspects of contemporary construction By drawing together essays from the leading experts in the field this book engages with crucial issues in sustainable design such as The larger role of energy in forming the cultural and economic systems in which architecture is conceived constructed and evaluated The different measures and meanings of energy performance and how those measures are realized in buildings The specific ways in which energy use translates into the visible aspects of architectural style Drawing on research from the UK US Europe and Asia the book outlines the problems surrounding energy and architecture and provides the reader with a considered overview of this important topic Vernacular Architecture: Towards a Sustainable Future C. Mileto,F. Vegas,L. García Soriano,V. Cristini,2014-08-28 Sustainability is a concept that has monopolised a large number of the scientific debates in a wide range of spheres connected not only with architecture urban planning and construction but also with the product market tourism culture etc However sustainability is indissolubly linked to vernacular architecture and the lessons this architectu
