Hidden Fields By Dr. Charles N. Ford, 2011-01-12 Author Charles Ford continues to examine the philosophy of choice in the spirit of poetry by existentialism Many themes are included such as alienation God death love and so on Here the list of themes is not exhausted The roots of these choices are grounded in the will of the individual rather than his her reason He she confronts problems that are seen in the world so by his her actions disclose human nature and reflect his her latent dispositions This is where inner choices must arise so external choices may be seen as actions per se When these state of affairs are closely examined they disclosed aspects of the human condition Experiences that revealed that we are human beings touching various realms of reality For our inner external choices say something about our makeup we are wonderfully composed and dynamically active from moment to moment of our existence In Hidden Fields Book 3 Charles has written lots of poems in a personal way He invites the readers to come along and experience reality both mentally and through their senses Every reader will soon discover something about him her with respect to choices that were made that he she is fleshly human and is real Charles wants to share and invite the reader into his home now MAN'S PLACE IN THE COSMOS

Luce,2001-10-03 The first book to examine McCarthy s three masterpiece novels as a cohesive whole Cormac McCarthy and the Writing of American Spaces Andrew Keller Estes,2013 In Cormac McCarthy and the Writing of American Spaces Andrew Estes examines ideas about the land as they emerge in the later fiction of this important contemporary author McCarthy's texts are shown to be part of larger narratives about American environments. Against the backdrop of the emerging discipline of environmental criticism, Estes investigates the way space has been constructed in U.S. American writing. Cormac McCarthy is found to be heir to diametrically opposed concepts of space as something Americans embraced as either overwhelmingly positive and reinvigorating or as rather negative and threatening. McCarthy's texts both replicate this binary thinking about American environments and challenge readers to reconceive traditional ways of seeing space. Breaking new ground as to how literary landscapes and spaces are critically assessed, this study seeks to examine the many detailed descriptions of the physical world in McCarthy on their own terms. Adding to so-called second-wave environmental criticism, it reaches beyond an earlier limited understanding of the environment as nature to consider both natural landscapes and built environments. Chapter one discusses the field of environmental criticism in reference to McCarthy, while chapter two offers a brief narrative of conceptions of space in the U.S. Chapter three highlights trends in McCarthy criticism. Chapters four through eight provide close readings of McCarthy's later novels from Blood Meridian to The Road. Missionary Review of the World, 1894
