Martin, 2006-01-01 Probing into numerous questions about gender and sexuality Dale Martin delves into the biblical texts anew and unearths surprising findings Avoiding preconceptions about ancient sexuality he explores the ethics of desire and marriage and pays careful attention to the original meanings of words especially those used as evidence of Paul's opposition to homosexuality. For example, after a remarkably faithful reading of the scriptural texts, Martin concludes that our contemporary obsession with marriage and the whole search for the right sexual relationships is antithetical to the message of the gospel. In all of these essays, however, Martin argues for engaging Scripture in a way that goes beyond the standard historical critical questions and the assumptions of textual agency in order to find a faith that has no foundations other than Jesus Christ. Towards an Understanding of the African Experience from Historical and Contemporary Perspectives Festus Ugboaja Ohaegbulam, 1990

This introductory survey provides a rich understanding of the African experience which until recently either had been omitted from the curriculum of institutions of higher learning or was distorted in written and oral literature. The book identifies the post World War II civil rights movement in America and the independence revolution in Africa as the most decisive forces that generated interest in the study of the African black experience. Includes four theoretical models for interpreting the black experience. The author discusses the place and role of Africa in the development of human civilization, focusing on Africa's Nile Valley civilizations and Western Sudanic empires. It probes aspects of traditional African culture, including the family, traditional political institutions, and religion, and analyzes the impact on Africa and its peoples of such historical traumas as slavery, colonialism, and decolonization. Africa in Contemporary Perspective Manuh, Takyiwa, Sutherland-Addy, Esi, 2014-05-08 An important feature of Ghanaian tertiary education is the foundational African Studies Programme, which was initiated in the early 1960s. Unfortunately, hardly any readers exist which bring together a body of knowledge on the themes, issues, and debates which inform and animate research and teaching in African Studies.

particularly on the African continent This becomes even more important when we consider the need for knowledge on Africa that is not Eurocentric or sensationalised but driven from internal understandings of life and prospects in Africa Dominant representations and perceptions of Africa usually depict a continent in crisis Rather than buying into external representations of Africa with its lacks and aspirations for Western modernities we insist that African scholars in particular should be in the forefront of promoting understanding of the pluri lingual overlapping and dense reality of life and developments on the continent to produce relevant and usable knowledge Continuing and renewed interest in Africa s resources including the land mass economy minerals visual arts and performance cultures as well as bio medical knowledge and products by old and new geopolitical players obliges African scholars to transcend disciplinary boundaries and to work with each other to advance knowledge and uses of those resources in the interests of Africa s people
