N.L. HOOVER LUMBER COMPANY purchased Shay #1 (CN 574) on 5/20/1899 and used it in Glen Campbell, Pa. until 1906. The Shay then traveled to Cash, S.C., the location for this photograph. It remained there with Hoover until 1916, but remained with other companies in Cash, S.C. until 1916. This Shay was built to a standard gauge with narrow wheels for steel rails. The 36 ton locomotive had a 12" taper stack, with an 1800 gallon water tank. It had steam brakes, a #100 bell, a 5" heavy whistle, an 18" Dayton light and used coal for fuel. Its disposition is unknown.

Railroads in the Old South Aaron W. Marrs, 2009-03-10 Aaron W Marrs challenges the accepted understanding of economic and industrial growth in antebellum America with this original study of the history of the railroad in the Old South Drawing from both familiar and overlooked sources such as the personal diaries of Southern travelers papers and letters from civil engineers corporate records and contemporary newspaper accounts Marrs skillfully expands on the conventional business histories that have characterized scholarship in this field He situates railroads in the fullness of antebellum life examining how slavery technology labor social convention and the environment shaped their evolution Far from seeing the Old South as backward and premodern Marrs finds evidence of urban life industry and entrepreneurship throughout the region But these signs of progress existed alongside efforts to preserve traditional ways of life Railroads exemplified Southerners pursuit of progress on their own terms developing modern transportation while retaining a conservative social order Railroads in the Old South demonstrates that a simple approach to the Old South fails to do justice to its complexity and contradictions Dr Owen Brown and Dr Gale E Gibson Report of the South Carolina Canal and Railroad Company South Carolina Canal and Railroad Company, 1842 Logging Railroads of South Carolina Thomas T.
