A Rainbow of Hope Billy Hughey, 1994 The Oxford Handbook of Hope Matthew W. Gallagher, Shane J. Lopez, 2018 Hope has long been a topic of interest for psychologists philosophers educators and physicians In the past few decades researchers from various disciplines and from around the world have studied how hope relates to superior academic performance improved outcomes in the workplace and improved psychological and physical health in individuals of all ages Edited by Matthew W Gallagher and the late Shane J Lopez The Oxford Handbook of Hope provides readers with a thorough and comprehensive update on the past 25 years of hope research while simultaneously providing an outline of what leading hope researchers believe the future of this line of research to be In this extraordinary volume Gallagher Lopez and their expert team of contributors discuss such topics as how best to define hope how hope is distinguished from related philosophical and psychological constructs what the current best practices are for measuring and quantifying hope interventions and strategies for promoting hope across a variety of settings the impact it has on physical and mental health and the ways in which hope promotes positive functioning Throughout its pages these experts review what is currently known about hope and identify the topics and questions that will help guide the next decade of research ahead Hope at Sea Teresa Shewry, 2015-09-16 As far back as Thomas More's Utopia and Francis Bacon's New Atlantis the Pacific Ocean has inspired literary creations of promising worlds Hope at Sea asks how literary writers have more recently conceived the future of ocean living In doing so it provides a new perspective on art and imagination in the face of enormous environmental change Drawing together ecocriticism theories of hope and literary analysis this book explores how literary writers evoke hope in engaging with environmental upheavals that are reshaping life in the Pacific Ocean Teresa Shewry considers contemporary poetry short stories novels art and journalistic pieces from Australia New Zealand Hawai'i and other ocean sites examining their imaginative accounts of present life and future living in places where humans coexist with environmental loss rivers that no longer reach the sea dwindling populations of ocean life the effects of nuclear weapons testing and more These works are connected by their views of a future that includes hope Until now hope has never been theorized in a direct sustained way in ecocriticism Hope at Sea makes an argument for hope as a lens for creative and critical confrontation with environmental disruptions and the resulting sense of loss It also reflects on the critical approaches that hope as an analytic category opens up for the study of environmental literature With hope as a critical perspective Shewry develops a method for reading environmental literature literary writers create new ways to apprehend existing environmental realities and craft stories about seas forests cities and rivers that could be not as literal plans but as ways of imagining promising lives in the present world and in the world to come

The Rainbow of Hope Anita Eubank, 2002 A beloved soul comes to earth and finds itself in the dark Immediately it begins asking questions searching for what it can do and what its value is Ultimately the soul discovers that love and hope are part of a journey and with each step of understanding the light becomes brighter This is a parable of faith and discovery

Robert A. Giacalone,Carole L.
