Winkiel, 2005 Modernism as a global phenomenon is the focus of the essays gathered in this book. The term geomodernisms indicates their subjects continuity with and divergence from commonly understood notions of modernism The contributors consider modernism as it was expressed in the non Western world the contradictions at the heart of modernization in revolutionary and nationalist settings and with respect to race and nativism and modernism s imagined geographies pyschogeographies of distance and desire as viewed by the subaltern the caste bound the racially mixed the gender determined The Modernist World Allana Lindgren, Stephen Ross, 2015-06-05 The Modernist World is an accessible yet cutting edge volume which redraws the boundaries and connections among interdisciplinary and transnational modernisms The 61 new essays address literature visual arts theatre dance architecture music film and intellectual currents The book also examines modernist histories and practices around the globe including East and Southeast Asia South Asia Sub Saharan Africa Australia and Oceania Europe Latin America the Middle East and the Arab World as well as the United States and Canada A detailed introduction provides an overview of the scholarly terrain and highlights different themes and concerns that emerge in the volume The Modernist World is essential reading for those new to the subject as well as more advanced scholars in the area offering clear introductions alongside new and refreshing insights Post-Western Histories of Architecture Pilar Maria Guerrieri, Marco Biraghi, 2023-06-23 This book seeks to provide an alternative post Western perspective to the history of contemporary architecture It puts forward detailed critical analyses of various areas of the world including Europe Latin America Africa China Australia India and Japan where particular movements of architecture have developed as active political acts The authors focus on a broad spectrum of countries architectures and architects that have developed a design approach closely linked to the building context. The concept of context is broad and includes various economic social cultural political and natural aspects In all cases the architects selected in this book have chosen to view context as an opportunity However each architect has considered certain specific aspects of context some have been very attentive to the social context others to material aspects or typological issues and still others to aspects related to political visions or economic factors. The analysis critically highlights interesting creative and respectful design approaches towards local conditions such as sustainability in Nordic Europe climate conscious design in Africa and the bottom up sensitivity of India The book s main aim is to retrace through both theoretical arguments and case studies the debate that focuses on politics and the environment Thanks to its valuable examples this book strives to make a conscious contribution to establishing a bulwark against the current flattening out processes that architecture is experiencing This book will be of relevance to researchers teachers and students interested in the history of architecture architecture and planning and postcolonial studies India Peter Scriver, Amit Srivastava, 2015-02-15 A place of astonishing contrasts India is home to some of the world's most ancient architectures as well as some of its most modern It was the focus of some of the most important works created by Le Corbusier and Louis Kahn among other lesser known masters and it is regarded by many as one of the key sites of mid twentieth century architectural design As Peter Scriver and Amit Srivastava show in this book however India's history of modern architecture began long before the nation's independence as a modern state in 1947 Going back to the nineteenth century Scriver and Srivastava look at the beginnings of modernism in colonial India and the ways that public works and patronage fostered new design practices that directly challenged the social order and values invested in the building traditions of the past They then trace how India's architecture embodies the dramatic shifts in Indian society and culture during the last century Making sense of a broad range of sources from private papers and photographic collections to the extensive records of the Indian Public Works Department they provide the most rounded account of modern architecture in India that has yet been available Gandhinagar Ravi Kalia, 2004 The culmination of Ravi Kalia's trilogy on the formation of capital cities in postcolonial India Gandhinagar joins the historian s other two volumes on Chandigarh and Bhubaneswar in tracing India's efforts to establish its twentieth century architectural identity In following the development of these cities Kalia recounts India s progression through precolonial British modern and postmodern theory and practice particularly the architectural ideology propagated by Western a rchitects Le Corbusier and Louis Kahn Kalia explains that Gandhinagar the capital of Gujarat in western India became a battleground for the competing ideals that had surfaced during the building of Chandigarh and Bhubaneswar The mill owners of the neighboring city of Ahmedabad backed by Indian architect and planner Balkrishna Doshi wanted the American Louis Kahn to build Gandhinagar as a worthy rival to Le Corbusier's Chandigarh There was however tremendous political pressure to make Gandhinagar a purely Indian enterprise partly because the state of Gujarat was the birthplace of Mahatma Gandhi Doshi and then by American trained H K Mewada who had apprenticed with Le Corbusier in Chandigarh Kalia shows that unlike the other two cities Gandhinagar would become emblematic of Gandhian ideals of swadeshi indigenous goods and swaraj self rule Exploring the impact of modernist architecture on India as a whole Kalia suggests that the style gained acceptance because its parsimonious designs and unadorned spaces never represented a threat to a religiously pluralist country anxious to create a secular identity He explains how two competing versions of Indian history and ideology Ganhdi s and Jawaharlal Nehru s employed modemism s ideals for their own separate ends Serving two masters as Kalia illustrates created constrictions and tensions evident in the building of Gandhinagar and in the careers of many Indian architects including Doshi Charles Correa and Achyut Kanvinde

The Bungalow in Twentieth-Century India Madhavi Desai, Miki Desai, 2016-12-05 The primary era of this study the twentieth century symbolizes the peak of the colonial rule and its total decline as well as the rise of the new nation state of India The processes that have been labeled westernization and modernization radically changed middle class Indian life during the century This book describes and explains the various technological political and social developments that shaped one building type the bungalow contemporaneous to the development of modern Indian history during the period of British rule and its subsequent aftermath Drawing on their own physical and photographic documentation and building on previous work by Anthony King and the Desais the authors show the evolution of the bungalow s architecture from a one storey building with a verandah to the assortment of house forms and their regional variants that are derived from the bungalow Moreover the study correlates changes in society with architectural consequences in the plans and aesthetics of the bungalow It also examines more generally what it meant to be modern in Indian society as the twentieth century evolved

This experience suggests however that when planning and design are not integral to alternative social formations the modern dream to engineer a new society cannot be realized The book is structured in four parts In part one literary and theoretical utopias from the early modern period to the nineteenth century are reconsidered Part two investigates twentieth century urban utopianism and contemporary alternative settlements focusing on social and environmental issues activism and eco village living Part three looks to wider horizons in recent practices in the non affluent world and Part four reviews a range of cases from the author's visits to specific sites This is followed by a short conclusion in which a discussion of key issues is resumed This book brings together insights from literary theoretical and practical utopias drawing out the characteristics of groups and places that are part of a new society It links today s utopian experiments to historical and literary utopias and to theoretical problems in utopian thought
