Special Education for a New Century Lauren Katzman, Lauren I. Katzman, 2005 Special Education for a New Century pays particularly close attention to how inclusive education practices can best be promoted in the era of standards based accountability An updated version of the best selling Special Education at the Century's End this new volume combines cutting edge research and theory about students with disabilities with classic pieces that have influenced the special education field since the passage of the federal Education for All Handicapped Children Act in 1975 This new edition rediscovered those seminal articles and through a new wave of equally groundbreaking articles brings the issue up to the present day This book looks at special education among English language learners and in early childhood classrooms and offers new strategies for addressing the overrepresentation of African American and Latino students in special education The volume also includes trenchant contributions by Alfredo J Artiles Thomas Hehir and Christopher Kliewer et al that challenge existing assumptions about disabilities urging teachers and administrators to cast away tired notions that denigrate students with disabilities and stand in the way of equal education for all Just as Special Education at the Century's End profoundly influenced disability policy and practice when it was published over a decade ago Special Education for a New Century sets the agenda for scholarship and policies concerning students with disabilities and inclusive education today It offers rich resources for policymakers and practitioners alike as they face the challenge of guaranteeing inclusive education for all students in today's schools learning technology and community organizing District of Columbia Appropriations for Fiscal Year 2003 United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on District of Columbia,2003 The Resegregation of Schools Jamel K. Donnor,Adrienne Dixson,2013-06-07 Access to a quality education remains the primary mechanism for improving one's life chances in the United States and for children of color a good education is particularly linked to their individual and collective well being Despite the popular perception that America is in a post racial epoch opportunities to access quality learning environments and human development resources remain determined according to race class gender and ability Taking a more nuanced approach to race and the resegregation of the American school system this volume examines how and why the education quality for the majority of students of color in America remains fundamentally unequal Knowledge and Power in the Global Economy David Gabbard,2017-07-05 Advancing a three fold political agenda this volume illuminates how the meanings assigned to a whole vocabulary of words and phrases frequently used to discuss the role and reform of U.S. public schools reflect an essentially economic view of the world contends that education or educational reform conducted under an economized worldview will only intensify the effects of the colonial relations of political and economic domination that it breeds at home and abroad and offers a set of alternative concepts and meanings for reformulating the role of U.S. public schools and for considering the implications of such a reformulation more generally for the underlying premises of all human relationships and activities Toward these ends the authors in Part I critically examine many of the most commonly used terms within the rhetoric of educational reform since the early 1980s and before Part II links today's economized worldview to curricular and instructional issues These essays are especially important for comprehending how the organization of school curriculum privileges those disciplines deemed most central to market expansion math and science and how the political centrality of the economic sphere influences the nature of the knowledge presented in specific content areas Given that language constrains as well as advances human thought the twin tasks of de economizing education and decolonizing society will require a vocabulary that transcends the familiar terminologies addressed in Parts I and II The entries in Part III cultivate the beginnings of such a vocabulary as the authors elucidate innovative concepts which they view as central to the creation of truly alternative educational visions and practices
