Rethinking Objectivity Post Contemporary Interventions:

Rethinking Objectivity Allan Megill, 1994 Although objectivity is a term used widely in many areas of public discourse from discussions concerning the media and politics to debates over political correctness and cultural literacy the question What is objectivity is often ignored as if the answer were obvious In this volume Allan Megill has gathered essays from fourteen leading scholars in a variety of fields history anthropology philosophy psychology history of science sociology of science feminist studies literary studies and accounting to gain critical understanding of the idea of objectivity as it functions in today s world In diverse essays the authors provide fascinating studies of objectivity in such areas as anthropological research corporate and governmental bureaucracies legal discourse photography and the study and practice of the natural sciences Taken together Megill argues this volume calls for developing a notion of objectivities The absolute sense of objectivity that is objectivity as a God s eye view must be supplemented and in part supplanted by disciplinary procedural and dialectical senses of objectivity This book will be of great interest to a broad range of scholars as it presents current thinking on a topic of fundamental concern across the disciplines in the humanities and social sciences Contributors Barry Barnes Dagmar Barnouw Lorraine Code Lorraine Daston Johannes Fabian Kenneth J Gergen Mary E Hawkesworth Barbara Herrnstein Smith Evelyn Fox Keller George Levine Allan Megill Peter Miller Andy Pickering Theodore M Porter

Rethinking Securities in an Emergent Technoscientific New World Order Munyaradzi Mawere, Artwell

Nhemachena, 2018-03-13 The emergent technoscientific New World Order is being legitimised through discourses on openness and inclusivity The paradox is that openness implies vulnerability and insecurities particularly where closure would offer shelter While some actors including NGOs preach openness of African societies Africans clamour for protection restitution and restoration Africans struggle for ownership and access to housing for national cultural religious economic and social belonging that would offer them the necessary security and protection including protection from the global vicissitudes and matrices of power In the presence of these struggles to presuppose openness would be to celebrate vulnerability and insecurities This book examines ways in which emergent technologies expose Africans and more generally peoples of the global south to political economic social cultural and religious shocks occasioned by the coloniality of the global matrices of power It notes that there is the use by global elites of technologies to incite postmodern revolutions designed to compound the vicissitudes and imponderables in the already unsettled lives of people north and south Particularly targeted by these technologies are African and other governments that do not cooperate in the fulfilment of the interests of the hegemonic global elites The book is handy to students and practitioners in security studies African studies development studies global studies policy studies and political science Environment and Planning ,2001 Una política poscapitalista J.K.

Rethinking Journalism Again Chris Peters,Marcel Broersma,2016-09-13 It s easy to make a rhetorical case for the value of journalism Because it is a necessary precondition for democracy it speaks to the people and for the people it informs citizens and enables them to make rational decisions it functions as their watchdog on government and other powers that be But does rehashing such familiar rationales bring journalism studies forward Does it contribute to ongoing discussions surrounding journalism s viability going forth For all their seeming self evidence this book considers what bearing these old platitudes have in the new digital era It asks whether such hopeful talk really reflects the concrete roles journalism now performs for people in their everyday lives In essence it poses questions that strike at the core of the idea of journalism itself Is there a singular journalism that has one well defined role in society Is its public mandate as strong as we think The internationally renowned scholars comprising the collection address these recurring concerns that have long defined the profession and which journalism faces even more acutely today By discussing what journalism was is and possibly will be this book highlights key contemporary areas of debate and tackles on going anxieties about its future Novaïa sovetskaiâ

Design for Biocities Laia Pifarre, 2023-01-19 The Institute for Advanced Architecture of Catalonia IAAC calls its 9th Advanced Architecture Contest as a global reflection to rethink human settlements at a time when our natural environments and the human habitats are more clearly intertwined. We look to the model of Biocities cities that follow the principles of ecological principles in order to promote life and biodiversity to provide us with potential design solutions. How can we reimagine our cities as Biocities capable of creating an ecologically attuned and reciprocal relationship with nature? This year's competition challenges students and professionals from all over the world to propose how to design urban spaces, cities, buildings, objects or solutions of any scale directed towards the transition to Biocities. The contest encourages participants to propose a design at any scale anywhere in the world that reflects different cultural, environmental, economic or social conditions.

Reconsidering Drugs NA, NA, 2016-04-30 Lawrence Driscoll's fresh examination of the meaning of drugs from the Victorians to the present asks us to listen to historical and current voices whose positions on drugs are at variance with our truths. Driscoll draws on the work of figures as diverse as William Burroughs, Sigmund Freud, Conan Doyle and Anna Kavan to shed light on different or silenced ways of talking about drugs and to offer us a historical counter memory. The result of his work is to unsettle and disturb the familiar parameters that frame our discussion of drugs, revealing that others are available positions which expose our own constructions as surprisingly limited.

Putting Theory into Practice in the Contemporary Classroom

Becky McLaughlin, 2017-01-06 This collection of fourteen essays by scholars from Canada, Europe, the United Kingdom and the United States emerges from a growing interest in the ways postmodern theory can illuminate not just the products and ideas of high culture but also the ins and outs of everyday life. Taking the university classroom broadly construed as a site of theoretical investigation, this volume helps us to understand troublesome classroom dynamics as well as offering pedagogical strategies for dealing with them. It also illuminates current pressures on higher education that find expression in the classroom. As a forum for these issues, these essays draw upon Deleuzian feminist, Foucauldian and psychoanalytic approaches among others, recognizing not only that these approaches are often in conflict but also that collectively they enhance our understanding of the classroom. Important questions posed here include whether and if so how we can combine a Marxist or Foucauldian emphasis on the disciplinary and hegemonic practices of educational institutions with a Lacanian or Barthesian appreciation for the disruptive pleasures and drives that the unconscious produces within and through students, teachers and classrooms. Which theoretical and pedagogical innovations can help teachers and students to get the job done as well as to theorize the job to simultaneously practice education and imagine other forms and ends for education? How can theory help us to historicize, criticize and re-draw the productive but sometimes disabling lines that make the classroom and its subjects a site for lively theoretical debate about these and related pedagogical issues? This volume will prove useful for anyone wanting to reinterpret, reinvent and reinvigorate the classroom.
